

PLANS FOR NAVAL RESERVE MATURED

League Assured Annual Duty at Sea Will Not Be Made Condition of Service.

EXPERIENCED MEN DESIRED

Purpose Is to Organize Force to Man Second Line Ships in Case of Trouble—Thousands Are Needed for Purpose.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The Navy League has launched a country-wide movement to organize a Navy reserve for instant mobilization to man the United States fleet.

It seeks to enlist every ex-officer and enlisted man of the Navy and every experienced American seaman and sailor, including the officers and crews of the larger sea-going motorboats and pleasure craft in American waters.

The center for organizing the reserve in the great inland cities of the Middle West will be established at St. Louis, where A. B. Lambert, head of the National Aerial Reserve Corps, will have charge. Annual drill and practice camps will be held at frequent intervals with a view of encouraging amateur aviators in the Middle West to form volunteer bodies of naval aviators.

Time at Sea Not Required.

In its campaign throughout the country to secure enrollment in the Naval Reserve the Navy League plans particularly to draw as much attention as possible to the fact that it is not necessary for the men enrolled to spend any time each year at sea. One of the great hindrances to enlistment in the reserve in the past has been the provision calling for two months' service at sea each year. As it is manifestly impossible for any man in regular employment to spend two months of the year from his position, few men entered the reserve. The Navy League has been assured that this ruling will be suspended, and that no further sea will be required from naval reserve men.

With this clause removed the Navy League believes that a large percentage of the men who have served in the Navy will be willing to register themselves. By this means the bill the pay for men on the reserve list is $20 a year after an enlistment, $60 after eight years' service and $100 a year after 12 years' service. Men who have served 16 or 20 years receive one-third and one-half pay respectively.

Other Nations Set Example.

Every other great nation has its former blue-jackets and the men of its merchant marine registered as a naval reserve in case of war, and the success of this class have proved of tremendous service in manning auxiliaries and trawlers for mines in the present war.

A splendid beginning toward making provision for an adequate naval reserve has been made by the enactment of the recent naval reserve bill, and I am confident that systematic, persevering work in this direction will do much toward putting at the service of the country a great body of trained men drawn on by the Navy in case of war.

Centers for getting in touch with former sailors will be established in every city in the United States, and the state committees of the Navy League will take charge of the work in every state. The principal centers of activity on the Atlantic Coast will be Norfolk, Va., New York and Boston. In Chicago and Cleveland centers will be established for the Great Lakes, and on the Pacific Coast there will be bases in Los Angeles, San Francisco and the Puget Sound cities.

Second-Line Ships Need Men. It is the idea of the Navy League that the sort of trained volunteer forces which this country needs more than any other is a naval reserve sufficient in numbers to man the second-line ships auxiliaries in case of trouble, and sufficiently skilled in their duties to be called upon to perform to be able to be of service.

In times of peace the United States has dozens of ships, battleships, monitors, cruisers and auxiliaries lying in reserve in various navy-yards with only a few caretakers aboard them. If war should break out these would be needed and would do yeoman service in supplementing shore defenses and carrying supplies, scouting, laying mines and trawling for the enemy's mines. Under present conditions no crews could be found to man them.

Probably 20,000 or 25,000 men would be required to man fully all of the reserve ships at present in the United States Navy and several times that number would be needed by crews for merchant ships, yachts, trawlers, motorboats and other auxiliaries which the Government would wish to have pressed into service from outside sources.

JAPAN BUILDING SHIPS

NEW DEMAND FOR OREGON LUMBER IS FOSTERED. Fine for Masts, Though More Costly Than Native Product, Preferred Because of Superiority.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 16.—Japanese shipbuilders, who are unusually busy, are utilizing large quantities of Oregon lumber, according to advices received by the Department of Commerce, and this lumber is being used in vessels being built for trade through the Panama Canal. A statement issued by the Department of Commerce says:

"Owing to the increase in Japanese shipping resulting from the opening of the Panama Canal and the withdrawal of many European vessels from active service, there has been an enormous increase in the building of Japanese ships for commercial purposes. A considerable amount of this work is being done in Nagasaki, which is becoming an important shipbuilding center. Recent contracts have been made with the Mitsubishi shipyard here for vessels aggregating 47,500 tons, which exceeds the total output of the Japanese shipyards of vessels of 100 tons or more for any year prior to 1914.

WIDOW OF CIVIL WAR CAPTAIN PASSES AWAY.

Mrs. L. A. McGregor, 233 East Thirty-ninth street, widow of the late Captain Robt. McGregor, died Friday night at her residence at the age of 80. The funeral will be Monday morning at 10 o'clock from Brezoo's undertaking establishment, Belmont and Twenty-fourth streets.

Mrs. McGregor was born in Ohio in 1835 and later, with her family, moved to LaCrosse, Wis., where, in 1873, she was wed to Captain McGregor, who was in the Twenty-fifth Wisconsin Volunteers. They started to Oregon that year, and Mrs. McGregor, a son, and Mrs. Joseph Smith, a sister, survive.

Permanent Organization Planned. The general public was no more surprised than the owners of the cattle themselves, and the show will result in the organization of a local Jersey association.

Jerseys Win Approval. "I have been at five county fairs in the state this fall," said Professor Fitts, "and I have seen no display of Jerseys that can beat that of the Hood River Valley. Not an animal shown here was unworthy of exhibit. Truly, we didn't come here expecting to see anything of this kind."

"We thought you would be a few animals. Your show would be a surprise to all the people of Oregon. It certainly demonstrates that you orchardists can be successful stock-raisers at the same time."

Permanent Organization Planned. The general public was no more surprised than the owners of the cattle themselves, and the show will result in the organization of a local Jersey association.

No circus or apple show ever drew a larger crowd than the stock show and the annual industrial school fair of today. Every school in the county was represented at the latter, and the County Library building was crowded with exhibits of canned fruit, fancy work, vegetables and cookery.

Electric Fans Cool Hogs. The Hood River Bank was stationed in the big exhibit tent of the stock show this afternoon, and a concert was provided for the visitors. Some of the swine suffered because of the heat yesterday. Electric fans were placed around the pens this afternoon, and outlookers and animals alike were comfortable.

The stock show has been a home event absolutely. There have been no outside exhibitors, and the show is a score or more of such propositions," said Secretary Scott. Booths of local churches, fraternal societies, clubs, convenient and shady places and the local women have dispensed home-made and cooling drinks at reasonable prices.

Premiums were awarded in the cattle exhibits as follows: Jerseys. Jersey bull, over 3 years—Gust Westberg, first.

Full Confidence Expressed. In his statement, the Foreign Minister went fully into the present status of the submarine problem and the adventitious circumstances which at a time threatened to revive the tension between Germany and America.

Warning Will Be Given. "There may be room for honest difference of opinion on this point, however, and we are perfectly willing thoroughly to examine the summary evidence which the American Government has put forward for a permanent organization and a fair for next year."

Neutral Merchantmen Exempt. "Neutral merchantmen, including Americans, are exempt from interference, as stated long ago, except when they are used for military purposes."

Whole Government Is Agreed. "I do not expect them, and I speak with full confidence," replied the Minister. The government, the whole of the nation, agreed upon the necessary instructions to submarine commanders.

Long Message Exchanged. A long report on the submarine situation was received here from Count von Bernstorff Thursday, and an equally long message of instructions was forwarded to the Ambassador today.

Washington Receives Statement of Von Jagow With Interest. WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The statement of Foreign Minister von Jagow in Berlin that the German government was willing to accept the terms of the Arabic case submitted by the American Government was received with interest tonight by officials here.

Assurances Are Confirmed. The American Government has made it clear that a complete disagreement in the Arabic case was desired and the apparent willingness of the German government to reconsider its position, as set forth in the last note, revived here the hope that the case might be settled.
