NORMAN MACK OUT FOR HIGHER TARIFF

Protection for New Industries, Brought Into Existence by War, Is Advocated.

DEMOCRATS ARE WON OVER

Senator Myers, of Montana, Does Not Shy at Proposal to Amend Underwood Law and Would Wipe Out Treasury Deficit.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Oct. 21.—"All over the land American manufacturers are increasing the sizes of their plants and the number of their employes to meet the the presidency of the Washington branch of the Navy League. the sizes of their plants and the num-ber of their employes to meet the changed conditions brought about by the war in Europe, and prosperity is showing its head everywhere. Busi-ness is growing everywhere. Whether this growth is to be permanent or not depends upon the jariff action taken depends upon the tariff action taken now."

This quotation is from the Democratic National Monthly, edited by Norman E. Mack, of Buffalo, a Democrat of National prominence. Mack was one of the first Democrats to declare openly that the Underwood tariff law was defective, and was one of the first to ansert that American industry needed greater protection than the Underwood law affords. He found few sympathizers at first, but now that he has reopened his campaign for a rehas reopened his campaign for a re-vision of the Underwood law upward, Democrats are coming to his support, and there is considerable taik about tariff modifications at the next session, other than the repeal of the free sugar clause.

War Stimulates Manufacturing. War Stimulates Manufacturing.
"American plants are being raised up." continues Mr. Mack in his magazine, "not only to manufacture for Europe the supplies needed to carry on the war, but, more than that, to supply to America and the rest of the world the products which Europe used to make.
Millions of dollars of American money are being expended to build additions are being expended to build additions are being expended to build additions to American plants to establish new industries, and hundreds of thousands of American workingmen are finding work in these wholly new or greatly enlarged plants, making in the good old U. S. A. the things which we used to have in foreign markets.

buy in foreign markets.
"What is going to happen to these in-dustries when the war is over?" asks Mr. Mack, and, answering his own question, he says:

Unless these industries are protected "Unless these industries are protected by an intelligent and a discriminating tariff, carefully formulated by a non-partisan commission which will grind no axes, but act solely for the good of the country and the people, America is in danger of experiencing a period of financial depression terrible to contem-plate."

This does not sound like sound Demo-cratic doctrine, but the quotation comes from one of the Democratic leaders in New York State, a man once chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and manager of a Democratic Presiden-tial campaign, and, therefore, a Demotial campaign, and, therefore, a Democratic Presidential campaign, and, therefore, a Democrat whose views carry some weight.

One of the first Democratic Senators to arrive in Washington was Senator Myers, of Montana. He is in accord with Mr. Mack, and he does not shy at the proposal to amend the Underwood law by imposing a "protective tartif" which will protect industries that have been built up and are being built up in the United States in the way described by Mr. Mack. Senator Myers goes further and believes it only right and proper that Congress, while affording proper protection to these industries, hight well impose duties which will help wipe out the deficit in the Federal treasury and provide ample revenue to run the Government as it should be done. He is heartily in favor of legislation which will adequately finance the Government, and not make necessary the curtailment of internal improvements in the United States.

POOL ROOM—Ten tables, in heart of city, reasonable, would take half cash and the rest on time. Owner has to leave city. A 183, Oregonian. SPRINGFIELD, Or., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—A plan for the settling of the Oregon & California land grant—at least so far as the land is suitable for agricultural purposes, was discussed at length at a banquet of the Business Men's Club here last night.

The suggestion that Congress require the Southern Pacific Commany to one the Southern Pacific Company to open a land office in Portland for the sale of the agricultural land, is embodied or the agricultural land, is embodied in resolutions that were adopted unanimously. The title of the railroad to the lands is recognized. Provision also is made that after a period of six years other lands may be offered in tracts not to exceed one section to a single purchaser.

rchaser. Judge William Colvig, tax and right-Judge William Colvig, tax and rightof-way agent of the Southern Pacific Company, was the principal speaker, tracing the history of the land grant and the succeeding litigation. He discussed also the decision of the Supreme Court in regard to the land grant lands and explained the interest of the railroad in getting the lands settled, Charles M. Robison, Deputy District Alorney of Multnomah County, was also a speaker. His theme was the approaching Manufacturers and Land Products Show, but he took occasion to make a plea for a greater unity of action in the various towns.

Albany Man Attacked Over Request for Change From Meal.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 23.—(Special.)— James Wilson was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Swann here to-day, charged with stabbing C. A. High-land last night, when the latter re-quested him to return the change remaining after Wilson had paid for a supper with a dollar lent by Highland. Highland says he met Wilson on the street and that Wilson asked for his supper, saying he had been without food for some time.

Following the meal Wilson requested that he be allowed to pay for the meal, saying that it would look more manly. Highland suggested that Wilson return the change. He refused, and an argument followed, ending by Wilson stabbing Highland in the stomach.

INDUSTRIAL CLUBS DRAW Wasco County Children Reported Enthusiastic Over Plan

SALEM, Or., Oct. 23.—(Special.)— Boys and girls of Wasco County are enrolling in the Industrial Club projects enrolling in the Industrial Club projects for next year with great rapidity, according to a report received today by J. A. Churchill, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, from L. P. Harrington, industrial field worker for the state department of education.

Wonderful interest in the school work at Dufur was found by Mr. Harrington, who said that the boys and girls in the grades and high schools are planning to give a big fair next year. Mossier school children also are reported active in taking up the Industrial Club work.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The nerthwestern disturbance is moving rapidly southeastward and is now over southern Alberta and Montana. Its movement has been attended with rains in Oregot, Washington, Idaho and British Columbia. Small craft warnings have been displayed during the day at Washington seaports, but all warnings were lowered at sandown tonight. The highest wind velocity reported was 40 miles, southwest, at North Head. Fair weather has prevailed from the California Coast and the northern Rockles castward to the Atlantic Coast. The weather is cooler on the North Pacific Slope, and in Northern Utah, interior British Columbia, Montana, North Dakota and southeastward to the North and Middle Atlantic Coast. It is warmer in Southwestern Utah Colorado, Wyoming and Iowa. A large high-pressure area is spreading inland over the Pacific Slope and under its influence clearing weather may be expected Sunday in Northwestern Washington and generally fair weather in the remainder of this district. It will be warmer Sunday in most interior portions except in Southeastern Idaho, where cooler weather will obtain. Winds will be monstly westerly. WEATHER CONDITIONS.
