tained the visitors with a dinner Monday evening and again on Friday evening were hosts for a similar affair honoring Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Shevin presided at one of the jolly parties at the Waverley Country Club in their honor last night and Thursday night Colonel and Mrs. Henry C. Cabell were hosts for a charming dinner also to honor the Montgomerys.

To assist in raising the $500 fund pledged by the local branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae at their last meeting, a skating party has been arranged by a number of its members, to be given at the Ice Hippodrome Friday night, November 26. It will be called College night at the rink, and it is expected that the 70 boxes will be reserved by society folk long before the appointed time.

Patronesses will include many prominent women of Portland society, and interest in the event is being manifested by the college organizations and women's clubs throughout the state, as well as the medical college, graduating students of the law college, members of the University Club and the leading men's clubs.

The fund will be used for the proposed women's building at the University of Oregon. Mrs. Alice Benson Beach is chairman of the committee appointed to obtain money for this fund.

Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo was the guest of honor for the charming luncheon presided over by Miss Ruth Teal, who entertained the attractive visitor in the absence of her mother, Mrs. J. N. Teal, who is in the South. Covers were placed for Mrs. McAdoo, Mrs. Solomon Hirsch, Mrs. Robert W. Lewis, Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett, Mrs. Thomas Carrick Burke, Mrs. A. M. Wilson and the hostess.

The morning hours and afternoon were devoted to motoring about Portland's scenic roads, also to listening to a speech of Mr. McAdoo's at the Commercial Club.

Dr. and Mrs. Holt C. Wilson, who are among the most delightful hosts in society, entertained a number of friends at a charming dinner Thursday night. Seated around the exquisitely appointed table were Mrs. McAdoo, Mrs. Wheelwright, Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Koehler, Mr. and Mrs. G. Edwards, and Dr. George F. Wilson.

Miss Katherine Hart is in the East attending a class reunion at Rosemary School in Connecticut. Miss Hart also will pass several weeks in New York, returning to Portland before the holidays.

Mrs. Robert W. Lewis and sons, Hunt and Bobbie, left last night with Mr. and Mrs. Wheelwright for the week's visit at the exposition in San Francisco.

Mrs. W. B. Ayer, who has been attending the fair in San Francisco for a few weeks, has returned to Portland.

Miss Sallie Hart accompanied Mrs. Landon R. Mason, Jr. and Miss Helen Platt to the exposition Thursday morning. Miss Hart will return to Portland in a fortnight, and the latter two will sail for Honolulu for several weeks.

One of the prettiest of the informal dinner parties of the week was that presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Wheelwright on Wednesday evening. Their guests included Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Morrison, Mrs. William Washburn, of Minneapolis, and August Berg.

Mrs. T. Harris Bartlett, of Lewiston, Idaho, who has a host of friends in this city, is the house guest of her mother, Mrs. W. K. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. John Couch Lewis are at the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, attending the Exposition.

Miss Marian Yocum was one of the hostesses for a jolly party at the Waverley Country Club last night. The young folk dined in the main dining-room and later joined the merry-makers in the men's quarters.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Edwards' dinner party Friday evening, complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Montgomery, was a delightful affair.

Seated around the table were Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Burrell, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. William MacMaster, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wheelwright and the hosts. Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery are planning to leave Tuesday for their home in Connecticut.

For Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Scott, of Wilmington, Del., who are touring the West with a party of friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Farrell entertained Thursday evening with a charming informal dinner party. The previous evening Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Shevin also honored the tourists with a dinner party of 12 covers.

The Portland branch of the Needlework Guild of America will hold its annual tea and exhibition of garments Wednesday, November 10, at the Unitarian chapel. The directors of the various districts ask the members to send their contributions of garments to those to whom they are responsible this week. Last reports from the heads of the different branches show that this year's exhibition will be much larger and better than ever before. The garments are all new and are sent in pairs, to be used not only for the new-born babe, but for all ages and both sexes.

Honoring Miss Antoinette Mears, one of the most attractive debutantes of the season, Mrs. Everett Ames was hostess for a charming informal dance Monday evening at her home on Wilamette Heights. About 40 of the younger set frolicked through the evening, their pretty, crisp frocks being enhanced by the simple Autumnal decorations of the rooms.

Portland society folk who are planning on trips to San Francisco will be interested in the news that the Palace Hotel is beginning a series of dinner dances every evening except Sunday from 7 until 1 o'clock in the dining-room adjoining the palm court. The first of these functions will be held Tuesday, November 1.

The premier party of the Portland Heights Club was held Friday night, and the pretty clubroom was gala with Halloween decorations. The committee for the evening was Mrs. J. E. Davidson, Mrs. A. D. Charlton and Mrs. Jay Smith. They attended to the refreshments, decorations, card tables and general entertainment. Patronesses for the event were Mrs. A. B. Slagson, Mrs. F. L. Fuller, Mrs. W. S. Dinwiddie and Mrs. R. L. Donald. These parties have become very popular in past seasons, and the members

Dressy Black and White Skirts Have Just Arrived

These are decidedly novel offerings. Some have wide black stripes with a sprinkling of narrow white stripes between; others are so designed in inverted pleats as to have only the black showing until the pleats fall away, showing the white stripes; there are still other pleasing patterns. These are of beautiful wool material—dressy enough for almost any occasion.

Something New!

Charmeuse and velvet fur-trimmed combination dresses—exactly as illustrated. We believe this is one of the most charming styles of the season. Note the flaring coat and smart fur-trimmed collar. This style may be had in blue, brown and black at $27.50.—Several large sizes.

The House of Feldenheimer Is Ready

In buying jewelry or silverware most people are entirely at the mercy of the jeweler.

Two articles of jewelry, one twice the value of the other, placed side by side, may, to the uninitiated, look identical. Take diamonds, for example, how many people in Portland know diamond values?

In considering the purchase of jewelry or silverware "confidence" in the man from whom you purchase should be your first consideration.

"The House of Feldenheimer" has been identified with dependable merchandise, and with Portland, for 47 years.

We wish to announce that our Fall stocks are now complete. Selections may be made any time for delivery later.

Before you buy elsewhere, remember it costs no more to buy at Feldenheimer's and here you have the satisfaction of security in your purchase.

The Feldenheimer Store will be here next year and the year after—if at any time goods are not as represented bring them in and get your money back.

IN SPITE of the holiday—Halloween—which is supposed to bring in its wake a merry medley of frivolity and gaiety for young and old, Portland society found it difficult to keep amused. Indirectly the San Francisco Exposition is responsible for the only bright spots in a dull week.

Visitors either going or returning from the interesting fair, have stopped off for a visit, sometimes brief and at other times long enough to be entertained by several leading matrons.

Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Montgomery were a true inspiration for society, and were the charming reason for a number of interesting affairs, principally dinner parties.

Mrs. Frisell, a former Portland matron, also claimed a large amount of social attention during her short visit in town. The first of the week was notable for the presence of Secretary and Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo, who, during the few hours they were in town, were showered with attentions.

Mrs. McAdoo was entertained by Miss Ruth Teal at luncheon and a motor trip about the country. Mrs. McAdoo's cousin, Mrs. A. M. Wilson, shared in the festivities planned for the visitors.

Last night's Halloween frolic at the Waverley Country Club was one of the gayest and merriest parties of the season. In the men's quarters, on the lower floor, the walls and corners were weirdly decked with goblins, witches, black cats and all the fantastic novelties of the season, together with warm-tinted foliage and blossoms. A buffet supper was served and the assemblage played games and danced during the meal, and afterwards in the ballroom, which was prettily adorned with seasonable novelties. About 150 members and their friends made merry during the evening.

The next dinner dance at the University Club is being eagerly anticipated by its long list of habitués.

The Multnomah Athletic Club held its annual dance Thursday night and the following night the initial dance and card party at the Portland Heights Club was one of the notable events of the week.

Mrs. Lewis Fox Frisell, of New York, who arrived Monday from San Francisco to pass a few days with her sister, Mrs. Walter F. Burrell, before returning to her home in the East, was delightfully entertained. This was her first visit here in six years, and she was charmed with the vast improvements in the city.

Miss Jean Spencer whose Engagement Was Recently Announced

also being honor guests at the affair. Tuesday from New York for a week's visit here. They were accompanied by their two children, Margery and Jack. At the Burrells' dinner covers were placed for 17 prominent folk who are old friends of the visitors. Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett entertained Mrs. Frisell with a motor trip on the Highway Tuesday, followed by luncheon at Crown Point. Mrs. Messler, of Pittsburg, was with Mrs. Frisell. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Edwards entertained the visitors with a dinner Monday evening and again on Friday evening were hosts for a similar affair honoring Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Shevin presided at one of the jolly parties at the Waverley Country Club in their honor last night and Thursday night Colonel and Mrs. Henry C. Cabell were hosts for a charming dinner also to honor the Montgomerys.
