NEW YORK'S SUFFRAGE PARADE IS BIG AND IMPOSING PAGEANT

All States Are Represented and Women of All Trades and Professions They Have Entered Appear in What Was Declared Most Enthusiastic Spectacle in New York's History.

Apils of Dancing School Carrying Flag.

Florence Fleming Noyes, of Columbia

Mrs. Herbert S. Carpenter, Marshall of New York Division

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Declared to be the most enthusiastic, most impressive and the biggest parade in the memory of old Metropolitans was the monster suffrage pageant that marched up Fifth avenue October 23 to impress upon the minds of all that women of the Nation want to vote. Every state in the Union, every Assembly district in New York, every art, trade, business or profession which women have entered, was represented in the parade. It included 30,000 women as well as 10,000 men who believe that women should vote. Suffrage states of the Union were represented by women carrying banners, and Oregon and the Western states that have granted suffrage to women were given conspicuous places. New York suffrage leaders admitted that the West is more progressive in many things than the East, which is a big admission for anyone living in the metropolis to make.

ESTACADA CLUB STOCKS ALL NEARBY STREAMS

Nearly Half Million Trout Fry Are Provided for Benefit of Anglers and Sportsmen of Oregon.

ESTACADA, Or., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Much good work has been accomplished by the Estacada Rod and Gun Club members in the liberation of trout fry and the stocking of the streams throughout the eastern part of Clackamas County, for the benefit of sportsmen of Oregon.

Members Volunteer Services. About 50 of the Estacada sportsmen and their neighbors from the outlying sections volunteered their services in this work. The work comprised about two weeks labor in all, with automobiles, wagons and pack-horses being used to convey the cans to the streams. Liberation along parts of the Clackamas was handled from one of the Portland Railway, Light and Power Company's cars, which was placed at the disposal of the workers.

Many thousands of steelhead and rainbow fry were hatched and raised at the River Mill hatchery, in charge of Superintendent Benson. The majority of these fish were freed in the upper waters of the Clackamas.

The value of this work of restocking the streams is appreciated by all anglers, especially as the promise of a fall creel is assured the Portland fisherman, who has to limit his trips to a day or two in and near Portland. As an asset to the state and an attraction to the tourist, the surety of good trout fishing within 50 miles of Portland cannot be overestimated.

Protection Given Fry. Nearly half a million trout fry were liberated locally in the past three months of which more than 10 per cent were Eastern brook trout and the balance the ordinary salmon rainbow or mountain trout.

In order that the fishermen who visit eastern Clackamas streams and lakes next season, may know whom to thank for the good sport furnished and as an appreciation from the sporting clubs of the state, the following named men should receive credit, all of whom are from Estacada and adjacent country:

A. Benson, C. Schock, A. G. Ames, F. Bartholomew, Thomas Carter, C. M. Polson, G. Hathaway, W. Kitzmiller, George Kitzmiller, Clyde Schock, W. M. Yonce, N. McMillan, P. Kitzmiller, B. S. Patton, P. M. Wagner, J. Jorg, Edward Clonner, H. C. Inman, Paul Sauer, Lee Cooper, R. C. Fren, H. G. Trowbridge, M. Reed, M. Evans, William Underwood, R. Palmateer, J. E. Shibley, A. D. Millard, H. R. Fanton, W. M. Jones, E. Bates, Charles Sparks, F. Ewing, W. Barr, T. H. Dodge, J. W. Reed, C. Bittner, R. E. Ewalt, W. W. Tucker, W. Douglas, W. Palmer, J. B. Abbott, A. E. Sparks, H. Mendenhall and the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company.

The following streams were restocked: Clackamas River, 50,000 steelhead; Eagle Creek, 15,300 steelhead, 184,000 rainbow trout, 17,750 Eastern brook trout; Clear and Little Clear Creeks, 35,000 steelhead, 12,500 rainbow trout, 1900 Eastern brook trout; North Fork Eagle Creek, 2250 Eastern brook trout, 5000 rainbow trout; Bear Creek, 3000 rainbow trout; North Fork Clackamas, 5000 rainbow trout, 1750 Eastern brook trout; Bee Creek, 200 Eastern brook trout; Fall Creek, 2000 rainbow trout, 25 Eastern brook; Delf Creek, 10,000 steelhead; South Fork Eagle Creek, 5000 rainbow trout, 3500 Eastern brook; Wade Creek, 4500 rainbow, 800 Eastern brook; Dubois Creek, 1000 Eastern brook, 2800 rainbow trout; Deep Creek, 1800 Eastern brook, 2500 rainbow trout; Carr Creek, 2500 rainbow, 300 Eastern brook. Many thousand fry of all kinds were taken into mountains for liberation in the lakes.

PRESIDENT TO HELP JEWS

No Treaty With Russia Unless Full Rights Are Granted, It Is Said.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 27.—In an address at a public meeting held to celebrate the founding of the Order of B'nai B'rith, Simon Wolf, of Washington, the Jewish leader and publicist, stated that, before leaving for California to attend the peace conference, President Wilson entrusted to him a letter in which he wrote that when the hour of peace shall arrive he, as the representative of a people who were firm in their advocacy of civil and political rights, would use his best efforts to secure the rights of the Jews in Russia and Roumania.

Mr. Wolf then said he had still another letter in which the President says that when the time shall come for the making of another treaty with Russia, "none shall be granted by the Government of which I am President unless the Jews are given full rights."

BEETS TURN CHICKS RED

Brood Hatched Under Leaves of Plant Is Marked.

LEAD HILL, Ark., Oct. 22.—L. B. Bell, cashier of the bank of Lead Hill, raised beets in his garden this year, and one beet in particular grew to be very large. As it grew the leaves of one side curled over and downward in such a way that a hollow was formed just above the center of the beet. The leaves on the other side grew upward and curled over the hollow, forming a canopy. An old hen found this sheltered nest and laid and hatched therein 14 eggs. The chickens are now "up and around" and each of them is of flaming red color, according to report.

CHILDREN'S QUESTIONS NEED PATIENT ANSWERS

Trying Period Begins at Age of Four—Mothers Are Advised to Speak With Care and Not to Put Little Ones Off.

ABOUT the age of four begins the trying period to mothers and nurses, a time when a child's conversation is made up almost entirely of questions. Nearly every sentence is commenced with "What," "How," or "Why," until sometimes one is driven nearly distracted. But, mothers, the only possible solution is to have patience and to remember that the persistence of questions shows your child is bright and intelligent, and that his brain is expanding in a healthy manner.

It is not always easy to answer some of the questions, but, whatever you do, don't put the child off with something that is not true, or is only half a truth. If you do not know the answer, say so. A child will respect you far more for doing this than for saying something which, later on, he finds to be incorrect, or perhaps quite wrong.

Never say to a child "Don't ask questions." How is a child to learn all it has to learn unless it is questioning those who have already gained their Chicagoan Arrested While Discussing War Order in New York.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—"I wouldn't have had this happen for the world; you've just lost me an $8,000,000 contract," said E. H. Peters, of Chicago, the other day when a detective arrested him in front of the Vanderbilt Hotel in New York City.

The detective was acting on a warrant from Chicago. News that the Chicagoan was wanted here leaked out after Peters had been at the Vanderbilt Hotel for about ten days.

According to the detective, Peters said he was just about to close an order for 20,000,000 pounds of barbed wire and several carloads of acid, but declined to identify the purchasers. The

BIG FEE THOUGHT TOO LOW

Former Justice Would Give $30,000 to Lawyer Asking Less.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—As an expert in lawyers' fees, ex-Justice Augustus Van Wyck testified in the Supreme Court the other day before Justice Cohan. He was called by Stephen M. Hove, an attorney, who is trying to collect $25,000 for services to Duncan D. McBean, tunnel contractor.

Justice Van Wyck thought the fee reasonable, though some of the litigation had not been ended.

"How much would you have charged?" asked McBean's counsel.

"Well, replied the jurist, 'my clients think I'm rather expensive, but they seem satisfied.'" Then he said he thought the bill should have been $30,000.
