

THE SUNDAY BLUE LAW

Judge Gantenbein Uncerthly Decision of Several Years Ago and Uses It Again.

FEDERAL CASE COMING UP

W. T. Hume, on Behalf of Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, Objects to Ruling Permitting Appeal to Supreme Court.

The Sunday blue law is knocked out for the time being, at least. With the same punch which proved so effective in his last battle with the 50-year-old statute seven years ago, Circuit Judge Calvin U. Gantenbein yesterday thrust it into oblivion and released Dan Kellaher from its clutches. The blue law was declared unconstitutional because it refers to Sunday as "the Lord's day." This is the decision of Judge Gantenbein, the evident purpose of the statute was to prevent the desecration or profanation of the Sabbath and to insure rest and recreation. Therefore it is a violation of the constitutional guaranty of religious freedom, to obtain which our forefathers came to this country.

Of course, Judge Gantenbein's decision isn't final. The Supreme Court may have something to say. Besides declaring Dan Kellaher not guilty and giving him back his can of salmon, Judge Gantenbein did some other things to the blue law. He took up the temporary restraining order which Judge Gatenbein had issued and extended it until November 18, before which time nobody but Dan Kellaher can be prosecuted under the blue law.

He amended the restraining order to include the Chief of Police.

Permanent Order Promised. He indicated privately that on November 18, when the restraining order comes before him, he will transform it into a permanent injunction.

He refused a request of District Attorney Evans to make an alteration in his decision in the Kellaher case so that the state may appeal to the Supreme Court.

The reason for setting November 18 for the hearing of the application for a permanent injunction against the enforcement of the law is to enable the United States District Court to pass upon its constitutionality. William T. Hume, the same attorney who appeared for Mr. Kellaher yesterday, has filed a suit in the Federal Court on behalf of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, asking an injunction against the officers of 25 counties, preventing them from enforcing the law.

If the Kellaher case should be appealed to the Supreme Court, argued Mr. Hume, the Federal Court would refuse to pass on the law until the state Supreme Court had rendered its decision. On the other hand, if the Federal Court case is to come to an issue, District Attorney Evans can still appeal to the Supreme Court from the decision of the judge in granting the restraining order.

Can of Salmon Center of Interest. Probably never before has so much honor been bestowed upon a poor, insignificant can of Columbia River salmon as in the Kellaher case. The salmon was purchased several Sundays ago by a man who admittedly did it for the purpose of swearing to a complaint against the blue law. Mr. Kellaher was convicted and, at his own request, was fined $25. He appealed to the Circuit Court.

Again marked exhibit A, the can of salmon occupied a prominent place in the courtroom of Judge Gantenbein. The evidence, forms the major part of the trial. Both sides waived the right of a trial by jury. W. T. Hume, for Mr. Kellaher, argued loud and long, citing the best cases he found in the stacks of legal tomes which piled the table before him.

In their turn Deputy District Attorney Murray and Hume argued, also citing the many decisions with regard to the blue law of 1884.

Decision No Surprise. During the whole proceeding, though, there was a feeling that Judge Gantenbein would do just as he did seven years ago when M. A. Gunat & Co. applied for an injunction against George J. Cannon, the defendant attorney, restraining him from enforcing the old law. At that time Judge Gantenbein had granted the injunction, ruling that the use of the words "Lord's day" classed it as sectarian legislation.

Beforehand the judge had investigated and had procured a copy of his previous decision. When all the arguments were finished the judge produced a copy of his decision of seven years ago and read it.

This old decision, with a few verbal interjections by the judge by way of explanation, forms the major part of the trial which the Sunday-closing law is temporarily knocked galley-west.

In five or six cases Circuit Judges have followed the Gantenbein decision since it was made. But never has the Supreme Court been called upon to pass on that point.

On other points raised in the law the Supreme Court judges have said they believed such legislation was within the police power of the state. But Judge Gantenbein's point is a new one, to them, for declaring it outside the police power.

Change in Form Decried. Yesterday's hearing was as friendly as a quilting party until late in the last act, at about 12:30 P. M. Then District Attorney Evans wanted the decision changed or a demurrer or motion so he could legally appeal to the Supreme Court. It was then that Mr. Hume rose and disturbed the serenity of the occasion.

"My client in Federal Court has $200,000 worth of property in these 25 counties," he declared, "and, if the case can't come on today, there, his investment will be jeopardized just because of half a dozen cranics here in Portland."

The purpose of the District Attorney, and apparently of all the others, is to get some sort of a case under the old law before a high court immediately so a "once-for-all" decision may be rendered. The next point of interest, therefore, is the Federal Court. In declaring the law unconstitutional, Judge Gantenbein said, in part:

Text of Decision Given. "The original act of 1884 was entitled: 'An act to prevent Sabbath breaking.' The section in the criminal code of 1884 is designated as 'Profanation of Sunday, in Deady's compilation of the general laws of Oregon of 1884,' and also in Judge Deady's later compilation of 1872, and in Hild's Annotated Laws of Oregon in 1887.

NOTED ACTRESS PROUD OF FARMING ABILITY

Dorothy Quintette, at Hellig. This Week, Has 47 Acres Under Cultivation and Boasts of Raising 27 Toy Spaniels.

Dorothy Quintette

DOROTHY QUINTETTE, who appears here the last three days of the week at the Hellig, in the fascinating musical comedy of youth "When Dreams Come True," actually takes more pride in being a successful farmer than she does in being a successful actress—but, after all, there are fewer of the former than the latter, so her pride is excusable. Miss Quintette has a beautiful place at Northport, L. L., where she supervises 47 acres, all under cultivation. It is one of the few "paying" farms of that section, and last year the peach crop alone brought in $800, while other fruit, vegetables, stock and poultry produced equally good results. And another thing of which this farmer-actress is proud is her record in raising toy spaniels. She has raised 27 Prince Charles and Blenheim spaniels, nearly all of which have at various times and exhibitions taken ribbons and cups.

will preside and Senator Lane will give an address. On Wednesday St. Mary's Academy students will serve tea. The Divine, and last year the peach crop alone brought in $800, while other fruit, vegetables, stock and poultry produced equally good results. And another thing of which this farmer-actress is proud is her record in raising toy spaniels. She has raised 27 Prince Charles and Blenheim spaniels, nearly all of which have at various times and exhibitions taken ribbons and cups.

prevent the profanation of Sunday. Profanation is defined as: First, the act of profaning; the abuse or dishonoring treatment of things sacred or religious; desecration. Second, abuse or improper treatment of anything that should be held in respect; also misuse, misappropriation.

"The object of the law in question is primarily a law to prevent the desecration or profanation of the Sabbath, rather than a law to secure rest and recreation for the purpose of promoting health, and, therefore, enacted under the police powers of the state. The enactment would clearly be in violation of the constitutional guaranty of religious freedom, and, therefore, void."

CLOSING SUMMONS ISSUED

Federal Court Cites Officials of 25 Counties to Injunction Hearing.

District Attorneys and Sheriffs of 25 Oregon counties are being served by United States Marshal Montag's office with copies of Federal Court orders to appear in Portland November 18 and show cause why an injunction against Oregon's Sunday-closing law should not be granted to the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, of Chicago.

District Attorney Evans and Sheriff Harburt were served yesterday, and deputy United States marshals have been sent out as process servers to the other counties of the state. Copies of the complaint accompany the court orders. The pleadings show that the plaintiff company may suffer heavy loss in case the lately revived statute is enforced. Suit was brought on the ground that the Sunday law conflicts with both state and Federal constitutions.

PARISH BAZAAR PLANNED

Special Features Arranged for Each of Five Nights.

The Cathedral parish is planning a bazaar in aid of the parish funds, which will be held in the new Cathedral Hall at Seventeenth and Couch streets from November 15 until November 19 inclusive.

The bazaar will open with an address by Governor Withycombe. Tuesday there will be a pioneer tea, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. From 5:30 to 7:30 P. M. a chicken dinner will be served. This will be Knights of Columbus night. Frank J. Loneragan

MONTESANO CHURCH IS ALSO COMMUNITY HALL

New Presbyterian Edifice, Which Cost $12,000, Is Dedicated, Many Ministers Being Present.

MONTESANO, Wash., Nov. 6. (Special.)—The dedication services of the First Presbyterian Church of Montesano were held Wednesday night, Dr. Mark A. Matthews, of Seattle, giving the dedicatory address. Other visiting ministers present were Rev. J. R. Simpson, of Aberdeen; Rev. E. W. Beard, of Houghton; Rev. E. H. Bromley, of Cosmopolis; and Rev. James W. Irvine, of East Houghton. Rev. J. Rodney Russell, the newly-ordained minister, by whose efforts this $12,000 church and community hall has been made possible, took part in the programme. Music was furnished by Harriman's orchestra. Mrs. N. L. Little, of Aberdeen, sang a solo and there was other vocal music by the choir. Aside from Dr. Matthews' address the feature of the programme was the official transfer of the church property from the hands of the building committee, George E. Hubble and J. E. Calder, to the chairman of the board of trustees, Judge Mason Irwin.

Besides the big church auditorium, which will seat about 300 people, there are Sunday school rooms, women's clubrooms and men's clubrooms. The women's rooms include a kitchen and dining-room, all furnished in the men's department there is a bowling alley and a game room, where all games are

$1050 for The New KISSELKAR 32-Four

Here's value for you—a five-passenger Touring model, 115-inch wheelbase, roomy, graceful, chock-full of style and utility, and back of it the well-known Kissel reputation for finish and thoroughness, selling for $1050! An entirely new Kissel achievement that's a revelation in superior power and endurance, good looks and good service.

This new 32-Four chassis comes also with a four-passenger Roadster body, especially built to receive the new Detachable Coupe Top. This model is listed at $1150.

Coupe, a Detachable Coupe Top mounted on the Roadster model of the new 32-Four. It is listed at $1450.

The ALL-YEAR Car—an exclusive Kissel feature whose detachable top arrangement gives you a closed coach when it's chilly or dusty, an open car when it's warm and pleasant—has been improved and perfected in design. Two inept men can readily attach or detach the top in less than half an hour. The latest development of the ALL-YEAR CAR is the Roadster Coupe, a Detachable Coupe Top mounted on the Roadster model of the new 32-Four. It is listed at $1450.

All KisselKars are Kissel-built in every sense of the phrase; that is, every part, body and chassis, of every Kissel model, is built-in at the Kissel factory at Hartford, Wisconsin, and nowhere else.

The complete KisselKar line—including the new 32-Four models, the Coupe and Sedan Tops for the ALL-YEAR cars, a 36-Four Roadster at $1250, a 42-Six, Five-Passenger Touring at $1485, and all the standard Kissel models—is now ready for your inspection. Also the line of Kissel Trucks, ranging from the 1000-lb. capacity model at $950 to the 6-ton, capacity at $4350.

All Prices F. O. B. Factory
The Pacific KisselKar Branch
58-60 Twenty-third Street, Portland, Or.
Phone Main 6214.
San Francisco Los Angeles Oakland

$1050

THE SUNDAY BLUE LAW

Judge Gantenbein Uncerthly Decision of Several Years Ago and Uses It Again.

FEDERAL CASE COMING UP

W. T. Hume, on Behalf of Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, Objects to Ruling Permitting Appeal to Supreme Court.

The Sunday blue law is knocked out for the time being, at least. With the same punch which proved so effective in his last battle with the 50-year-old statute seven years ago, Circuit Judge Calvin U. Gantenbein yesterday thrust it into oblivion and released Dan Kellaher from its clutches. The blue law was declared unconstitutional because it refers to Sunday as "the Lord's day." This is the decision of Judge Gantenbein, the evident purpose of the statute was to prevent the desecration or profanation of the Sabbath and to insure rest and recreation. Therefore it is a violation of the constitutional guaranty of religious freedom, to obtain which our forefathers came to this country.

Of course, Judge Gantenbein's decision isn't final. The Supreme Court may have something to say. Besides declaring Dan Kellaher not guilty and giving him back his can of salmon, Judge Gantenbein did some other things to the blue law.

He took up the temporary restraining order which Judge Gatenbein had issued and extended it until November 18, before which time nobody but Dan Kellaher can be prosecuted under the blue law.

He amended the restraining order to include the Chief of Police.

Permanent Order Promised. He indicated privately that on November 18, when the restraining order comes before him, he will transform it into a permanent injunction.

He refused a request of District Attorney Evans to make an alteration in his decision in the Kellaher case so that the state may appeal to the Supreme Court.

The reason for setting November 18 for the hearing of the application for a permanent injunction against the enforcement of the law is to enable the United States District Court to pass upon its constitutionality. William T. Hume, the same attorney who appeared for Mr. Kellaher yesterday, has filed a suit in the Federal Court on behalf of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, asking an injunction against the officers of 25 counties, preventing them from enforcing the law.

If the Kellaher case should be appealed to the Supreme Court, argued Mr. Hume, the Federal Court would refuse to pass on the law until the state Supreme Court had rendered its decision. On the other hand, if the Federal Court case is to come to an issue, District Attorney Evans can still appeal to the Supreme Court from the decision of the judge in granting the restraining order.

Can of Salmon Center of Interest. Probably never before has so much honor been bestowed upon a poor, insignificant can of Columbia River salmon as in the Kellaher case. The salmon was purchased several Sundays ago by a man who admittedly did it for the purpose of swearing to a complaint against the blue law. Mr. Kellaher was convicted and, at his own request, was fined $25. He appealed to the Circuit Court.

Again marked exhibit A, the can of salmon occupied a prominent place in the courtroom of Judge Gantenbein. The evidence, forms the major part of the trial. Both sides waived the right of a trial by jury. W. T. Hume, for Mr. Kellaher, argued loud and long, citing the best cases he found in the stacks of legal tomes which piled the table before him.

In their turn Deputy District Attorney Murray and Hume argued, also citing the many decisions with regard to the blue law of 1884.

Decision No Surprise. During the whole proceeding, though, there was a feeling that Judge Gantenbein would do just as he did seven years ago when M. A. Gunat & Co. applied for an injunction against George J. Cannon, the defendant attorney, restraining him from enforcing the old law. At that time Judge Gantenbein had granted the injunction, ruling that the use of the words "Lord's day" classed it as sectarian legislation.

Beforehand the judge had investigated and had procured a copy of his previous decision. When all the arguments were finished the judge produced a copy of his decision of seven years ago and read it.

This old decision, with a few verbal interjections by the judge by way of explanation, forms the major part of the trial which the Sunday-closing law is temporarily knocked galley-west.

In five or six cases Circuit Judges have followed the Gantenbein decision since it was made. But never has the Supreme Court been called upon to pass on that point.

On other points raised in the law the Supreme Court judges have said they believed such legislation was within the police power of the state. But Judge Gantenbein's point is a new one, to them, for declaring it outside the police power.

Change in Form Decried. Yesterday's hearing was as friendly as a quilting party until late in the last act, at about 12:30 P. M. Then District Attorney Evans wanted the decision changed or a demurrer or motion so he could legally appeal to the Supreme Court. It was then that Mr. Hume rose and disturbed the serenity of the occasion.

"My client in Federal Court has $200,000 worth of property in these 25 counties," he declared, "and, if the case can't come on today, there, his investment will be jeopardized just because of half a dozen cranics here in Portland."

The purpose of the District Attorney, and apparently of all the others, is to get some sort of a case under the old law before a high court immediately so a "once-for-all" decision may be rendered. The next point of interest, therefore, is the Federal Court. In declaring the law unconstitutional, Judge Gantenbein said, in part:

Text of Decision Given. "The original act of 1884 was entitled: 'An act to prevent Sabbath breaking.' The section in the criminal code of 1884 is designated as 'Profanation of Sunday, in Deady's compilation of the general laws of Oregon of 1884,' and also in Judge Deady's later compilation of 1872, and in Hild's Annotated Laws of Oregon in 1887.

The object of the Legislative Assembly in passing these acts and the amendments thereto was, therefore, clearly to prevent Sabbath breaking; to

FIRE DRILL RULES GIVEN

SAFETY COMMISSION OFFERS STANDARD FOR SCHOOLS.

Judge Stevenson Announces Owners Are to Be Fined If Cars Are Found Blocking Fire Plugs.

Recommendation that fire drills in the Portland public schools be conducted according to rules that shall be uniform throughout the city was made by the Public Safety Commission in a report adopted at a dinner at the Chamber of Commerce Friday night. The report, which was formulated as a result of the recent city-wide inspection of fire drills, made by the commission, will be submitted to the Board of Education.

Although not included in the report, the commission informally approved of suggestion that its activities be extended to parochial and other private schools, if the directors of such schools care to accept the commission's services.

The consideration of fire drills was only one phase of the meeting, which was called in part to hear a report from H. P. Coffin, chairman of the commission, who recently made a study of safety first methods that have been adopted in Eastern cities. Mr. Coffin said that everywhere it was recognized that Portland is setting the pace in this field.

City Superintendent of Schools Alderman thanked the commission for its work in safety-first education among school children.

Some of the recommendations for fire drills made by the commission follow: That all schools except where specially arranged stairs are installed, as in the Jefferson High, hand bells be used for giving fire signals.

That all doors be kept unlocked in the school buildings at all times. That panic bolts be installed on all doors, which may be swung open on the inside, but may be opened by pulling from the outside.

That the drill be arranged that pupils shall not march out in interesting lines. That all exits be used for fire drills, although it is considered advisable at times to close curtain exits in drills and divert pupils to other exits.

That all pupils march out on one signal and not wait for a second signal. That janitors in all the schools be required to become absolutely familiar with all the rules governing fire drills and to participate in each.

That the monitors be required to pay particular attention to cripples, as it was noticed in a number of schools that cripples were required to wait for themselves.

That the pupils be permitted to lay in lines of hose to the roof of buildings as was noticed in one school and that no pupil be permitted to go to the attic.

Utah Sends for Jack Graham. Detective Thomas Burke, of Ogden, Utah, will be in Portland today with extradition papers for Jack Graham.

confessed forger, who is wanted in Ogden for bad-check operations. Graham was arrested in Portland in company with a woman five weeks ago as he was about to make a "filling" with bogus pay checks, Francis S. Alkhus, manager of the Burns Detective Agency, and Detectives Royle and Maloney making the capture.

RATE EQUALITY DEMANDED

Portland Millman States Case in Valley Controversy.

"Portland sawmill men do not want a lower rate than the Willamette Valley mills, they want the same rate so that they can continue shipping lumber to Northern California markets, which they have been supplying for the past 15 years," said F. H. Ransom, manager of the Eastern & Western Lumber Company, in his address before the Civic League at the Multnomah Hotel yesterday, in which he outlined the viewpoint of the Portland millmen on the new Northern California rates.

Mr. Ransom complained against the Chamber of Commerce, asserting that it had not put up as strong a fight for the Portland mills as it should and that its attorney had too many interests elsewhere to be a very active worker in behalf of Portland.

Mr. Hutchins tendered his resignation at the request of the Treasury Department, which has just made a ruling that no custodian employes can serve on civil service boards.

Mr. Hutchins was assistant custodian of the Postoffice building and of the Custom-House, positions which he retains. The change in civil service secretary became effective yesterday.

CIVIL SERVICE JOB SHIFTS

M. K. Wigton Succeeds T. V. Hutchins as Commission Secretary.

Martin K. Wigton, a clerk in the Portland Postoffice, was appointed yesterday to the position of local secretary of the Civil Service Commission, vice T. V. Hutchins, resigned.

Professor Norman F. Coleman will speak the vesper service this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Reed College Chapel. The music will consist entirely of compositions of Tchaikovsky, including "Romance" and three movements from the Sixth Symphony (Pathétique). Dr. William Conger Morgan will give the eighteenth lecture in the Reed College extension course XII, Natural Science, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the biological lecture

N. F. COLEMAN TO SPEAK

Reed College Announces Vesper Service and Lectures.

Enjoy life—feel bully! Don't stay sick, bilious, headachy, constipated. Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, your breath offensive, stomach sour and your body full of cold. Why don't you get a 10 or 25-cent box of Cascarets at the drug store and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced? Cascarets work while you sleep. You wake up feeling fit and fine. Children need this sandy cathartic, too.—Adv.

GRANDPA DIDN'T NEED CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

Two Hours a Day Sawing Wood Will Keep Liver and Bowels Right.

APPLY SAGE TEA IF HAIR IS GRAY

Grandma Used Sage Tea and Sulphur to Darken Her Hair and Nobody Knew.

Whenever a shell comes screaming in the direction of Polly, a pony now in the transport service at Gallup, she stretches out her forelegs, lets her head drop to the earth, closes her eyes, and is instantly "dead." Then when the shell has passed she rises again.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair—and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.—Adv.

GRANDPA DIDN'T NEED CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

You Who Take Exercise in an Easy Chair Must Take "Cascarets."

Enjoy life—feel bully! Don't stay sick, bilious, headachy, constipated. Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, your breath offensive, stomach sour and your body full of cold. Why don't you get a 10 or 25-cent box of Cascarets at the drug store and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced? Cascarets work while you sleep. You wake up feeling fit and fine. Children need this sandy cathartic, too.—Adv.

GRANDPA DIDN'T NEED CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

Two Hours a Day Sawing Wood Will Keep Liver and Bowels Right.

GRANDPA DIDN'T NEED CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

You Who Take Exercise in an Easy Chair Must Take "Cascarets."

Enjoy life—feel bully! Don't stay sick, bilious, headachy, constipated. Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, your breath offensive, stomach sour and your body full of cold. Why don't you get a 10 or 25-cent box of Cascarets at the drug store and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced? Cascarets work while you sleep. You wake up feeling fit and fine. Children need this sandy cathartic, too.—Adv.

GRANDPA DIDN'T NEED CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

Two Hours a Day Sawing Wood Will Keep Liver and Bowels Right.

GRANDPA DIDN'T NEED CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

You Who Take Exercise in an Easy Chair Must Take "Cascarets."

Enjoy life—feel bully! Don't stay sick, bilious, headachy, constipated. Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, your breath offensive, stomach sour and your body full of cold. Why don't you get a 10 or 25-cent box of Cascarets at the drug store and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced? Cascarets work while you sleep. You wake up feeling fit and fine. Children need this sandy cathartic, too.—Adv.

GRANDPA DIDN'T NEED CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

Two Hours a Day Sawing Wood Will Keep Liver and Bowels Right.

GRANDPA DIDN'T NEED CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

You Who Take Exercise in an Easy Chair Must Take "Cascarets."

Enjoy life—feel bully! Don't stay sick, bilious, headachy, constipated. Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, your breath offensive, stomach sour and your body full of cold. Why don't you get a 10 or 25-cent box of Cascarets at the drug store and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced? Cascarets work while you sleep. You wake up feeling fit and fine. Children need this sandy cathartic, too.—Adv.

GRANDPA DIDN'T NEED CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

Two Hours a Day Sawing Wood Will Keep Liver and Bowels Right.

GRANDPA DIDN'T NEED CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

You Who Take Exercise in an Easy Chair Must Take "Cascarets."

Enjoy life—feel bully! Don't stay sick, bilious, headachy, constipated. Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, your breath offensive, stomach sour and your body full of cold. Why don't you get a 10 or 25-cent box of Cascarets at the drug store and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced? Cascarets work while you sleep. You wake up feeling fit and fine. Children need this sandy cathartic, too.—Adv.

GRANDPA DIDN'T NEED CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

Two Hours a Day Sawing Wood Will Keep Liver and Bowels Right.