

REPORT ON BUDGET IS DUE TOMORROW

Rumors of Further Proposed Reductions Keep City Employees on Anxious Seat.

SESSIONS HELD IN PRIVATE

Restoration of Grant for Medical Inspection in Schools to Be Advocated and Other Changes May Be Suggested.

Not until tomorrow afternoon will the City Council's budget advisory committee make public its conclusions on the budget questions submitted to it by the Council for recommendations.

Reports are rife at the City Hall about proposed budget slashings by the committee. It is said that in addition to the seven specific questions of proposed appropriations put up to the committee by the Council, the committee will have some recommendations of its own on questions outside those asked specifically by the Council.

Employees on Anxious Seat. City employees are afraid of some more recommendations for blanket or lump sum slashes of departmental estimates.

Restorations May Be Advocated. It is said the committee is virtually unanimously in favor of the Council reconsidering its recent action in trimming out of the budget the appropriations for school medical inspection.

Further Cuts to Be Opposed. It is said, however, the committee will have some recommendations to make more than a few departmental cuts might be called for.

Whether or not the City Council will follow the recommendations of the committee is a serious question which depends largely upon what the committee recommends.

SALOON MEN TELL NEXT YEAR'S PLANS

Big North End Establishment May Become Men's Clubhouse—Heavy Losers Express No Antipathy Towards Prohibitionists.

After prohibition, what of the 300-odd saloons in Portland? What will their proprietors do? Close up for good, or remove to states where a drink is still a thirsty citizen's privilege?

Some frankly did not know what they will do. Others were thinking of turning their places into soft-drink establishments, but had not decided.

EUROPEAN ART DISCUSSED

Miss Mary Edith Gregory Heard by Oregon Society of Artists.

Oregon artists are striving to establish in Oregon a keener interest in art and its pursuit. Monday night the Oregon Society of Artists met at the Central Library to hear Miss Mary Edith Gregory's discussion on "European Art and Its Relation to American Artists."

Miss Gregory has brought back with her from Europe, where she studied, an interesting knowledge of the devotion of students abroad.

George Schultz, proprietor of the saloon at Fifth and Washington streets, does not know yet what he will do.

John E. Kelly, of the John E. Kelly Family liquor store at West Park and Morrison, has practically completed arrangements with a select clientele.

OREGON PIONEER CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY WITH RECEPTION

The 80th anniversary of the birth of Mrs. Sophia T. Scherer was celebrated on Monday at her residence in Walnut Park.

Mrs. Scherer came to Portland with her husband, the late C. L. Scherer, 28 years ago. She has made several visits in the East and South, and two years ago made an extended tour through Europe, but Portland has remained her choice of locations for residence.

Flowers and messages of congratulation were showered on her.

Mrs. Scherer is the mother of Mrs. Hiram Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Alfred T. Warren and Miss Caroline M. Scherer.
