Oregon to down the squeichers of the East and the squeichers to uphold their already enviable reputation is the big object of both elevens. In the punting department, both squads are about on par. Laythe and Smyth. of the Aggies, average about the same total as Beckett, and Mon-teith, of Oregon. Beckett has the hon-ors over Monteith by virtue of his ex-perience in big games, and in all prob-abilities will start the duel. One advantage which Coach Stewart has over Bezdek lies in the fact that his backfield is composed of at least one vietran-Abrahams. Bezdek hasn't a single real veteran. the punting department. both Pacific Northwest Football T CORVALLIS, OR .- Oregon Aggies At Pullman, Wash .-- University of Montana 7. Signals Bother Harvard.

Signals Bother Harvard. Harvard appeared to have difficulty in absorbing the signals, said to be due to an eleventh-hour shift in the code. Toward the end of the game, the Princeton cheering squads lost patience and the old baseball slogan, "play ball," was heard.

ball, was heard. Not in several years has poorer tackling been witnessed in a big East-ern football same. The players of both elevens frequently missed their oppoment completely, and at other times tried to bring him to the ground with neck holds. The puzzling line shift adopted by Harvard also threw the Tiger wing tip players out of position at times, and sometimes put them com-pletely out of the play.
