Competitive Dressing Not in Favor at Jefferson.

Student Live Wires Plan Party and Plain Fashions to Be in Vogue. Seniors Are Proud of Pins—Girls' Candy Sales Popular.

THERE is a decided atmosphere of l elation and individual esteem extant among the members of the June, '16, class since the arrival of the new pins. The class has complied with the customary Jefferson democratic principle and chosen a plain pin, well within the means of every member. The pin is a plain gold block "J," half an inch in height, with "June" and "'16" lettered in the shank and hook of the "J," respectively.

The ticket sale for the February, '16, interpretation of "Why Smith Left Home," scheduled for next Friday and Saturday evening, bids fair to exceed even the wildest expectations. Victor Hesse, business manager, created a sensation, and incidentally displayed a sensation, and incidentally displayed a keen insight into the psychology of impression in last Monday morning's assembly by having a stepladder set up on the stage when he was ammounced. He stood near the top and unfurled a 10-foot Jefferson pennant, and said that it was to be presented to the "live wire" turning in the greatest amount of money on the seat sale. Already the greater part of the reservations for both nights are taken.

This new system of offering some special inducement of this sort is proving a greater impetus than the Lincoln Students Prepare to Stage Shakespeare Play.

BY DOROTHY DUNIWAY. THE students of Lincoln High School will present Shakespeare's "Comdy of Errors" in the school auditorium Friday afternoon and evening, Novemer 19. Lincoln undertakes to give Shakespearean plays, not with the idea that her students are particularly fitted to act Shakespeare, but with the idea that it is well worth the time spent because it will enter into the students' education in a way that the modern play fails to do. This is the fourth Shakespearean play Lincoln students have given, the others being "Twelfth Night," "Midsummer Night's Bream" and "As You Like It," all of which were immensely successful. the initiation committee.

The girls' various organizations have frequently of late been drawing on the boys' pocketbooks by a series of candy sales. On these occasions the girls of each organization are required to prepare a quantity of home-made candies and bring them to the schoot. There the donations are assembled in a pile and assorted into bags and sold in the main hall.

These affairs would be excellent for both parties concerned were the girls all successful at every attempt. The Home Economics Club, composed of girls of the domestic science classes, bring the materials to school and make their candy under the supervision of Miss Flavis. Accordingly, these sales are welcomed and etxensively patronized.
