

SALT LAKE READY TO MEET I. W. W.

Dire Vengeance Threatened if State Executes Hillstrom for Murder.

OTHERS QUESTION TRIAL

'Friends' of Doomed Man Would Shoot Him, as They Need Money Which State Pays—Many Agitators Are in City.

BY WILL G. MAC RAE SALT LAKE, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—A great deal depends on environmental and mental suggestion. Here in Salt Lake the mental suggestion comes from the I. W. W. and what they are going to do now that the State of Utah has decided to shoot Joseph Hillstrom, convicted murderer of J. G. Morrison and his son, November 18. It is a momentous question. It has robbed every state official of his peaceful slumbers, ever since President Wilson intervened and asked for a respite for Hillstrom on behalf of W. A. F. Ekenson, Swedish minister.

The Salt Lake officials are single-minded. When it comes to Hillstrom's guilt. To the I. W. W., both in Salt Lake and from Los Angeles, Hillstrom is innocent, a martyr. Even the $250 the state pays for shooting a condemned man the I. W. W.'s want, and there are six men on their way here from Toledo, O., to shoot Hillstrom, saying they need the money and, inasmuch as Hillstrom has to die, it is best that he die at the hands of his friends.

They will have the trip for their pains. The execution of Hillstrom is in the hands of Sheriff Corless. He has picked his firing squad.

Idaho Attorney Accused. On October 31 an Idaho attorney, whose name is being withheld until further investigation, is said to have offered an alibi for $25,000. He is said to have declared he could "frame" a man and woman who would swear that it was through them Hillstrom received the wound in his arm which Hillstrom says he received in a fight over a woman.

The police say Hillstrom was shot by the Wilson boy during the fight at the grocery store on the night of the murder.

Up to the time of Hillstrom's arrest the police had no clue to the murder and robbery. The I. W. W. have maintained that because Hillstrom was an I. W. W. and because the police had to make a showing, he has been made the "fall guy."

Whether the police have the guilty man in Hillstrom or not, whether the Mormon Church, with its vast influence here in Salt Lake, or whether he is a victim of a police plot may never be brought to light. After a close study of three weeks it is believed that there are no church influences at work.

The Hillstrom trial was held before Judge Ritchie, who is not a Mormon. I can tell the jury that the defendant had some Gentiles on the panel. This, I take it, absolves the church.

Fairness of Trial Questioned. "Within my mind, and I find that opinion shared by many others, such as Mrs. Virginia Snow Stephens, an instructor at the University of Utah; Stephen X. Christensen, F. B. Scott, attorney for the condemned man, and many others, do not believe Hillstrom had a fair and impartial trial. An evidence of this is the way the members of the Pardoning Board have handled the matter. At a recent meeting of the board, when President Wilson asked for a respite of the Swedish minister, they acted like men who were willing to take the law's word, yet listening at the same time to the public clamor.

The Hillstrom case has stirred up Salt Lake and the state officials especially Governor Spry, has received several hundred letters threatening him and city institutions if he allows Hillstrom to be shot. Other officials have received the same kind of letters.

Jack of Clubs in Doom. Governor Spry received notice that when he receives a jack of clubs his death will follow soon. The letters are signed "K. O. D." meaning the Knights of Death, composed of I. W. W. members who have banded themselves together to avenge any death or wrong done an I. W. W.

Every precaution that can be taken to prevent an outbreak of the organized I. W. W. here in the city is being taken.

The town is full of idle men. On Monday there was an I. W. W. riot. While the Tribune "Car Column" was standing in the street an I. W. W., carrying a soapbox, worked his way to the center of the crowd and began to speak on the killing of Hillstrom, named Roy J. Horton.

Horton was doing the same thing on Saturday night, abusing the flag and calling the United States "Car Column" names, when Major H. P. Myton happened along. Words followed and Major Myton shot Horton dead.

The agitator Monday wanted to lead the crowd to "get" Myton and tear down the City Jail.

In many quarters there are those who believe the city is harboring a band that will do lots of damage following the execution of Hillstrom.

NEW RECTOR IN PULPIT

REV. T. J. WILLIAMS TAKES CHARGE OF OREGON CITY CHURCH. Much of Service in Episcopal Church Has Been in Missions Among American Chinese.

OREGON, CITY, Or., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Rev. Thomas J. Williams, the new rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, has arrived in Oregon City and will appear at the pulpit of the new church for the first time tomorrow. He succeeds Rev. C. W. Robinson, who went to New York City last January to take post-graduate work in Columbia University.

The Rev. Mr. Williams was born June 25, 1887, Nashville, Tenn. When 14 years old, he went with his parents to Texas, where his father became rector of the University of Texas.

In this institution, Mr. Williams received his education, graduating with a bachelor's degree of arts in 1908. It was while attending college that Mr. Williams was confirmed and received into the communion of the Episcopal Church.

OREGON GRANT PLAN MEETS OPPOSITION

Interior Department Does Not Favor Sale of Land at Flat Rate of $2.50 Acre.

POLICY NOT YET DECIDED. Immediate Settlement of Essentially Farm Tracts and Disposal of Timber to Aid Homesteaders Are Considered.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Nov. 6.—Land grant legislation in line with the resolutions adopted at the Salem conference on September 17 will be bitterly opposed by the Administration and a substitute plan will likely be submitted to Congress early in December. Exactly what plan the Administration will agree on has not yet been determined.

There will be no opposition by the Interior Department to converting the unsold portion of the grant into a forest reserve. The Interior Department, however, probably will not object to the reservation of a small percentage of the land in the mountains.

Secretary Lane has studied the decision of the Supreme Court and the Salem conference, and has had some correspondence from Oregon and has talked with Land Commissioner Tallman, who attended the conference at Salem. Further data will be received from the field agents of the department in Oregon and also the Secretary was first to receive the recommendation of the Attorney-General. In turn the Attorney-General will await the report of his special representative and the plan, who is now going over the grant.

Speculation Is Feared. Forester Graves is awaiting information from his representatives in Oregon before submitting his ideas. It is expected he will favor the reservation of a much larger area than the Interior Department will approve.

The attitude of the Interior Department is antagonistic to the opening of the lands at the flat price of $2.50 per acre. Such a plan, the department believes, would lead only to speculation; would quickly enrich the relatively few individuals and would result in the transfer of all valuable timber lands to lumber companies. Once the lands go into the hands of lumber companies the timber will be removed and the cut-over lands will become a drug on the market.

The Interior Department is fully aware of the desire of the people of Oregon to have these lands developed and held them subject to taxation. But the department disapproves the Oregon idea, as expressed at Salem, as too best encourage development so that the state will reap the largest benefit.

Classification Is Feared. There is every indication that the Interior Department will recommend the grant be taken over by the Government. The department will favor classification of the lands, which will open up to immediate agricultural and grazing in character, and will favor the development of the mineral lands.

It is likewise stated that the Interior Department will urge that the interior of commercial value be sold separate from the land, and that the lands be opened to homesteaders. The department likewise will recommend the funds derived from the sale of this timber be utilized in aiding the settlers.

WIRE CUTTER IS "TREED" DARK FIGURE HANGS FROM HIGH-VOLTAGE POLE FEARING SHOT. Watchman Camps at Foot of Tower Keeping Rifle Pointed at Shivering Man Outlined in Sky.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 6.—Bearing to be allowed to come down and warm himself, John Burns, age 30, was coiled to cling to the top of an electric cable pole in the fair grounds for more than half an hour during the coldest part of this morning between 3 and 4 o'clock. A night watchman for the fair association sat at the foot of the pole and emphasized his stand in the matter by keeping a rifle pointed continuously in the sky toward the shivering figure.

The watchman, making his rounds, heard the rasp of copper wires being cut, and slipped up to the place. He beheld a dark figure at the top of a pole carrying a high voltage of electricity.

"Don't move or I'll bore you with this rifle," the watchman called up the pole.

The wirecutter started to slide down, but the click of the rifle hammer stopped him. For a time he clung to the pole in silence, then he began to beg to be allowed to descend and get warm. At intervals the watchman shouted for another watchman on the grounds.

The man was arrested, and booked on a larceny charge, admitted that he was stealing the wire to sell it.

WHITMAN PLANNING OPERA

Roles Chosen for "Merry Wives of Windsor" in Spring.

WHITMAN COLLEGE, Walla Walla, Wash., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Since Professor Blum, of the Whitman Conservatory of Music, saw the production of the "Merry Wives of Windsor" in Seattle last week, he has been enthusiastic about the success of the same opera to be staged by the conservatory in the Spring. The principals of the cast have been chosen and are holding rehearsals three times a week.

The principal roles are: Basses, John Falstaff, carried by Harold Edmonds, Mr. Ford, by Newton Barrett, Doctor Caius, by Carey Briggs, and Mr. Page, by Sigurd Nelson; tenors, by Linden Barnett, contralto, by Miss Page, by Bernice Richmond; sopranos, by Miss Ford, by Anna Compton, and Annie Page, by Mildred Smith.

HOQUAM FACTORY CITY

MORE THAN $4,000,000 IS INVESTED IN PLANTS. Products Turned Out in Year Valued at More Than $5,000,000 by Census Bureau.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Nov. 6.—More than $4,000,000 is invested in factories in Hoquiam, Wash., according to a bulletin just issued by the Census Bureau, and these factories during the last calendar year, turned out products valued at $5,000,000. The report does not take into account hand trades, the building trades or neighborhood industries, but only establishments conducted under factory system. Nor are statistics included covering plants whose product is worth less than $100 per annum, save where the production has been reduced by reason of the factories being closed for a period of time.

The report shows there were 22 factories operating in Hoquiam last year, with total capital invested being $4,087,000.

The cost of materials used was $2,041,000.

A summary for the city follows: Number of establishments... 22 Persons engaged in manufacture... 1,988 Proprietors and firm members... 18 Salaried employees... 822

Primary horsepower... 1,850 Capital... $4,087,000 Salaries... 154,000 Materials... 1,237,000 Value of products... $5,007,000 Value of products less cost of materials... 1,966,000 in high schools in the Northwest. The investigation is the outgrowth of the High School English essay contest held by the English department at Whitman last year and it is hoped that it will result in a more uniform system of teaching oral English in secondary schools.

CANDIDATES ARE AT ODDS

Dayton Likely to Have Another Ticket on Economy Platform.

DAYTON, Wash., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—There has been a disagreement among the candidates on the Citizens' ticket to be voted on next Tuesday, and it is probable that another ticket, to be known as the Convention ticket, will be put in the field at the last minute.

There has been much wrangling lately over economy in city government, and the Council has been divided on the matter of cutting down salaries, combining the duties of several minor offices under one head, and other matters that would effectually reduce taxation.

A. P. Cahill, candidate for Councilman from the First Ward, has resigned from the Citizens' ticket, but will have a prominent place on the new ticket, which is to be nonpartisan.

NEW TEACHING PLAN PROPOSED

WHITMAN COLLEGE, Walla Walla, Wash., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Interest aroused by Professor W. R. Davis, head of the English department of Whitman College, in the paper read before the language department of the Washington Teachers' Association convention in Seattle last week, led the session to appoint a committee of three to assist Professor Davis and Professor Boas to continue their investigation of the methods of teaching oral expression.

but and James Stuart, ex-County Commissioners, who were recalled from office on October 6, today by their attorneys entered pleas of guilty in Superior Court to an indictment for nonfeasance. They will make a further statement of facts to the court before sentence is pronounced with a plea for leniency. Nominal fines are expected.

The case was the last of several against the Commissioners, growing out of the grand jury investigation last Spring. They had been cleared of all other charges. This indictment accused them of doing road work by force account instead of by contract as required by statute. They say they took advice of County Engineer Marble, expecting to get better results for less money than would be likely under contract. The nonfeasance charge was adopted by the promoters of the recall against the Commissioners, as one of the charges on which the recall was based.
