Distinguished Couple Greet Friends nd Pose for Photograph--Great Interest Is Manifested in Children's Playgrounds.

BY EDITH KNIGHT HOLMES. Their Excellencies the Marquis and

Meanwhile, Lord Aberdeen, John M. Scott, V. R. Manning, Charles Skinner and some others were having a wonderful time discussing the war, travel in America, railroads, the fair and other topics. "Just see those men!" exclaimed Lady Aberdeen. "And they say women talk too much. No woman could begin to talk as much as a man when he gets fairly started."

Several trips to America and the friendship of a large number of Americans makes the couple feel absolutely at home in whatever part of the country they may be. They are continually meeting persons whom they knew in other lands.

Lady Aberdeen is kindly and motherlands.
Lady Aberdeen is kindly and motherly in her manner. Her luxuriant hair is tinged with gray, but it is beautiful. "Too bad we women have to get gray," she said. But she should not complain, for hers is becoming. Her eyes are hazel and have in them a merry twinkle. When she speaks of children, and playgrounds, and the advantages that the little people of the world should have she grows eloquent. Her love for children and her sincerity in all she does and says are her outstanding qualities.

Jewels Are Heirlooms.

Jeweis Are Heirlooms.

Although Lady Aberdeen's suit was of a modest black tailored type, her jewels would attract attention anywhere. She wore resterday an immense cat's-eye brooch bordered in pearls. It was fastened round her neck by a heavy gold chain, Earrings of intricate workmanship and an exquisite pin were also worn. Needless to say, they were heirlooms. But not very valuable, she said.

Playgrounds Are Noted.

"We have found many valuable suggestions in the playgrounds of this country," said Lord Aberdeen, when the stroil siongside the train took us up to the group of talkative men. "We are always keeping our eyes open for new ideas. The dear little children must have playgrounds, but without supervision you might as well turn your hoys and girls out into the Streets."

A record-breaking crop has been harvested, money is plentiful and easy, and the country optimistic and looking forward pleasurably to a long period of prosperity.

"The alarmists say they fear that some time in the future unless "the wicked Democrats are turned out," there is going to be a 'panic,' and they appear to get much pleasure out, of their doleful forebodings, but a busy and prosperous people heeds them not. "The President has kept us at peace with the world while preserving National honor. We are a peace-loving people and are not going to repudiate the instrumentality that produced this result.

"The Republicans of Ohio have been threatened with a lively fight among themselves over the choice of a favor-ite son for the Presidency, but the withdrawal of Governor Willis, which withdrawal of Governor Willis, which was announced, gives a clear field to former Senator Burton. In my judgment, the Republican delegates would have lined up solidly for Burton, in any event. It would have made little difference whether Governor Willis had run or not. Burton, in my opinion, would have had a solid Ohio delegation at the National Convention."

Petition From Portland Presented to Department of Justice.

MORRIS, Ill., Nov. 13.—The plea that C. B. Munday was trapped at the start of bis banking cureer, which resulted in his indictment on a charge of conspiracy to wreck the La Sale-Street Triest & Savings Bank, was the argument to the jury for the defense Friday by Attorney H. E. Kelly, ex-United States Attorney in Colorado.

Kelly blamed William Lorimer for bringing Munday to Chicago and said that "Munday today is worse off by $1,000,000 than nothing."

H. B. Smith, for the state, followed Kelly and went over the history of the bank, asserting that with its capital, surplus and deposits aggregating more than $7,000,000 it could easily have conducted a legitimate business and accumulated fortunes for all its officers.

"It would have paid from 18 to 20 per cent profit instead of the $4000 a day average loss for the entire period of its existence." he said.

Dr. Jordan did not reveal what President Several times has taken the position that he will be glad to do anything of a practical nature to end the war. Dr. Jordan told the President peace advocates constantly were in touch with people in the warring countries, and that there were organizations actively at work in all parts of the civilized world bringing pressure to bear to end the war. Ultimately, he said, these efforts were certain to be successful.

W. B. Rainey, who gave a number of good song impersonations, made a decided hit with the crowd. He opened with a comic song, "Fido," following immediately with one in a serious vein, "I'll Leave the Sunshine to the Flowers."

A clever impersonation of an Italian was given by L. R. Turner.

Bliss Jackson appeared in several good piano selections, among which was a representation of mission chimes.

C. I. Howell, tenor, sang "A Perfect Day" and an encore.

E. Warren Raeder's plano šelection, which was to have formed a part of the programme, was substituted with some song specialties given by Dick Maddox, accompanied on the piano by Bliss Jackson. Coon songs and ragtime featured their act.

A party of University of California graduates and former students attended the evening with a number of college yells.

Mr. Merrick in the early nineties was a member of the Citizens' Council in the municipal government established after the merger of Portland and East Portland, and he is remembered for his vigorous work in the consolidation of the two municipalities. He was active in the political campaigns about that time, when the Gold Democrats were much in prominence.

Mr. Merrick was born in Canaan, Me. but when quite young was taken to Milwaukle, Wis., where he was reared. He was admitted to the bar in Wisconsin, but engaged in the grain business as a young man. Later he moved to Austin, Minn., where he engaged in the practice of law, devoting much of his time, however, to the study of real estate title law.

The statement of Adjutant-General White, contained in the foregoing dispatch from San Francisco, refers to a story, purported to have come from Woodburn, Or., published in Portland yesterday afternoon, and which said the officers of Company I. Oregon National Guard, stationed at Woodburn, were indignant over charges that attendance at drills had fallen to a low mark, attributed to General White. The story said further that dissatisfaction had been caused "by what the officers charge is the evident purpose of General White to 'put the company on the bum' and then order its disorganization."
