

SIXTEEN BARRELS OF LIQUOR SEIZED

Empty House Is Raided Under Dry Act.

JOHN VAILE, RENTER, ARRESTED

Warrant Also Issued for Executor of Owner's Estate.

POLICE LEARN OF SALES

Trustees Assist in Moving Booze After Confiscation and One Is Caught Drinking and All Are Sent Back to Jail.

Probably the biggest prohibition raid ever made in Oregon last night resulted in the seizure of 16 barrels of liquor by the police in an empty house at 143 Beech street.

Joe Valle, renter of the house, was arrested last night and charged with violating the prohibition law. A warrant has likewise been issued for Donald G. Woodward, executor for the J. H. Lambert heirs' estate, which owns the building. Valle was released on $200 bail.

Reports of Sales Heard.

The raid followed an investigation by Patrolmen Miller and Weilbrooke. The officers received reports that liquor was being sold in that vicinity. The confiscated liquor was taken to the Courthouse in a truck specially hired for the purpose. The moving of the "wet goods" incidentally proved a sad affair for four "trustees," who had been impressed to help lift the barrels.

Tommy Smith, serving a sentence in the City Jail, stole a bottle of beer and drank it on route from the raided house. He threw the bottle from the patrol wagon, intending to have the bottle strike on the parking along the sidewalk.

Trustees Sent Back to Jail.

Smith's intentions were bad, but his aim was worse. The bottle hit "Kerplump" on the pavement. Deputy District Attorney Ryan, who was in charge of the transfer of the liquor, ordered the trustees sent back to jail. Others were suspected of helping to drink the confiscated liquor. Smith confessed to Captain Circle.

The liquor consisted of eight barrels of wine, seven barrels of beer and a barrel of whiskey, besides bottled goods.

RETICENT CITY IS FINED

Brussels Must Pay 500,000 Marks for Shielding Assassin.

AMSTERDAM, via London, Jan. 22.—General von Bissing, Governor-General of Belgium, has fined the city of Brussels 500,000 marks, says the Echo Belge, because the inhabitants of the city failed to reveal the name of the assassin of Oels Deroode, the informer whose testimony convicted Miss Edith Cavell, the English nurse who was executed at Brussels some time ago.

The town of Schaerbeek, near Brussels, where the body of Deroode was found, was fined 50,000 marks, according to the newspaper.

Craiser Sunk was Heligoland.

ROME, via Paris, Jan. 22.—The Italian navy department has received information that the Austrian scout cruiser of the Novara type which was sunk a week ago was the cruiser Heligoland, which had been attached to the Cattaro base since the outbreak of the war.

WAR QUEENS HAVE TEARFUL MEETING

HELENE OF ITALY GREETED HER MOTHER FROM MONTENEGRO.

Rome Construes Incident as Evidence That Alliance Will Be Continued Until End.

ROME, Jan. 21.—There was an affecting scene last night at the Central station between Queen Helene of Italy and her mother, Queen Mitena of Montenegro, who, accompanied by her daughters, Princess Xenia and Princess Vera, reached Rome on her way to Lyons, France, where the Montenegro court is to take up its residence.

King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helene, with the Prince Royal Humbert and Princesses Inolanda and Mafalda, were at the train to meet the refugees, and, under the painful circumstances, the King discreetly left the mother and daughter together, both weeping, to console each other.

The Italian royal children embraced their grandmother fervently. The party remained together for several hours. After spending the night in Rome, the members of the Montenegro royal family continued on a special train to Lyons.

The fact that the King and Queen met the Montenegro Queen is taken as evidence of the good faith that Montenegro will cling to the alliance with Italy and the other entente powers to the end. The Messagero says:

"At the last moment, Montenegro preferred National honor and accepted the guarantee of Italy and her allies for National restoration, as in the case of Serbia and Belgium."

GOLD BEACH, Or., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—Miss Kate Lehnher, of Langlois, Curry County, has announced herself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Treasurer of Curry County. Miss Lehnher is the first woman to seek political office in Curry County.

Incumbents of county offices who have announced themselves as candidates for re-election are Frank Caughell, Treasurer, and J. R. Stannard, Clerk. Assessor William Tolman is a candidate for the office of Sheriff to succeed Charles Beatty, incumbent, who has announced that he will not run again.

LINN LAUGHS AT LEAP YEAR

Young Women Not Rushing to Marriage License Market.

ALBANY, Or., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—Just what is the matter with the marriage market in Linn County has not been determined, but some people are charging the situation up to the fact that this is leap year. Only three marriage licenses have been issued so far this month, the smallest number for the same period in a great many years.

Some of the Courthouse employees have figured out that most of the prospective brides are afraid that if they are married too soon in 1916 everyone will think that they lost no time in proposing, and for that reason marriages are being postponed.

OLD AGE PENSIONS ASKED

The executive board of the international organization was instructed to determine the best method of having such legislation enacted and to draw up a Federal bill for submission to Congress or a uniform measure for presentation to the Legislatures of all the states in the Union.

POWER WIRES ARE BROKEN

La Grande Reports Rains at Points West. Presaging Floods—Union County Has Thaw—Wind Violent East and North.

WEATHER CONDITIONS IN EASTERN OREGON.

La Grande—Rain following snow; passenger train delayed; freight stuck in drift. North Powder—Gale with heavy snow fall. Union—Gale with snow. Baker—Heavy snow fall; trains delayed. Condon—Train snowbound.

LA GRANDE, Or., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—Transcontinental train service is blocked in the Blue Mountains tonight, as a result of a wind and snow storm raging in parts of Eastern Oregon with a severity not equaled in many years. A freight train is stalled fore and aft in drifts on Telocask Hill. Train No. 17, the westbound passenger, due in Portland at 8 o'clock tonight, has been held behind the freight all day at Baker, and will be obliged to remain until the line is opened. Train No. 6, eastbound, is unable to move until No. 17 clears the line, and has been held here all day.

The morning train on the Joseph branch ran into a snowdrift near Egan. Without dining-car service the passengers spent a dreary day outside the city, minus comforts, and were brought in here tonight at 6 o'clock by a special train.

Near North Powder, where the storm blocked the railroad lines, two rotary snowplows, augmented by all the obtainable, and directed by the entire official staff at this point, have been battling with drifts and obstacles thrown across the rails by the wind.

The terrific wind that raked all Eastern Oregon crippled the high line that conveys electric power from the big Eastern Oregon Light Company's power plants in Baker County. As the emergency station here had recently been burned, all electrically driven plants in this country were at a standstill.

Sufficient repairs were made to enable lights to be turned on tonight, but the line is in constant danger while the storm prevails.

It is raining here and at points west tonight, presaging floods. East and north the snow storm is a menace. In Union County the high wind subsided at noon, and the weather moderated until a break thaw prevailed.

BERLIN SOLEMNLY RESIGNED TO WAR

Many Fear Nerves Cannot Bear Strain.

INDUSTRY BOUND TO SUFFER

"Where Will We Get Men Afterward?" Is Asked.

PEOPLE ARE EATING LESS

Nation Settles Down to Economy in Its Everyday Life—Iron Money Used to Conserve Needed Supplies of Metal.

BY GUSTAV C. ROEDER. (Staff correspondent of the New York World, who recently returned from a second extended tour of observation in Germany.) A great change has come over Berlin. Eight months ago you could scarcely notice while on a visit to the capital that Germany was engaged in war and that she and her people were fighting for their existence. True I noticed a lot of soldiers, many wounded and some crippled for life, but the city itself, and the people, appeared to all outward indications as if nothing unusual was transpiring. The citizens looked indifferent.

What a difference today! The Berlin people seem to have changed completely. Last Spring they appeared a happy lot, with no cares to worry them, certainly not so far as outer appearances were concerned. Today you find only a solemn people—a people who appear to and who do realize what this war means to Germany and her millions. They are no longer the happy-go-lucky and carefree crowd. They are stern, severely so. They are no longer a smiling crowd. They are very, very solemn indeed.

Early Peace No Longer Expected.

It is not that they fear for the outcome of the war. On the contrary, they appear to be more convinced than ever that Germany cannot lose this war. They believe that she will win in the end, and that to accomplish this they must be ready to sacrifice all—every life, if necessary. They say they will gladly do it.

People Are More Solemn.

"Yes, we notice that, too," always came the answer. You don't notice this state of affairs as much in public as you do when you visit the inhabitants of the largest city in Germany in their own homes. It is there, among themselves, in the private family circle, that you

Responsibility for Statement That Ambassador Knew About Murder Plot Is Denied.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 22.—In a reply to a letter from Henry Lane Wilson, former Ambassador to Mexico, calling on him to disclaim alleged statements made at a church meeting here that Mr. Wilson knew of the plot to murder Francisco I. Madero, John Lind, former personal representative of President Wilson in Mexico, sent to Mr. Wilson the following letter, made public tonight by Charles B. Elliott, Mr. Wilson's local attorney:

"Henry Lane Wilson, Indianapolis—Dear Sir: In the course of the address to which you refer, I commented on the events which led up to and culminated in the death of President Madero. What I said was stated in good faith in the course of that discussion and in the full belief of the accuracy of my information.

"The press reports of my utterances detached from the other language of my remarks are misleading and susceptible of misinterpretation. I was not responsible for their publication, assume no such responsibility and disavow them."

ALL-DAY SEARCH FUTILE

Lumber-Laden Steam Schooner May Be Lost Off Yaquina Bay—Eight Passengers From Grays Harbor Bound for San Francisco.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—A wireless was received from the Governor at noon today that she was standing by the wreck of the Centralia.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—A call of "S. O. S." from the steam schooner Centralia this morning, sent from somewhere off the Oregon coast in the vicinity of Yaquina Bay, brought a rush of vessels to aid the distressed vessel, but a search of all day brought no reward. The Centralia, with crew of 20 and four passengers, was apparently dropped from sight, although shortly after the wireless message at 6 o'clock this morning the Eurena, close by, heard four short blasts of the Centralia's whistle, headed for her and then lost the ship in the darkness.

Fears were entertained tonight that the Centralia, foundered in the gale which has been blowing off the Oregon coast. The tanker Buck, the Admiral Schley, the Governor, the Eurena and the Yosemite cruised all day and on into the night in the hope of finding something of the missing vessel, but without avail.

There has not been a trace of the Centralia nor any further call for aid since the Eurena picked up the "S. O. S." call and then lost sight of the vessel this morning. All up and down the Oregon coast from Yaquina Bay there has been a watch for the vessel, which, it was feared, might have been beached.

Late tonight the vessels continued the search, with the exception of the Eurena, which proceeded north just before dark.

The Yosemite reported this morning, while searching for the Centralia, that she was leaking, but she did not ask any aid, and it was not believed the trouble was serious.

SCHOONER HAS 4 PASSENGERS

On Vessel's Departure Belief Was Storm Would Be Missed.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—The Centralia left here at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning with four passengers from Grays Harbor. It was expected she would be in San Francisco about the time the storm struck. There was nothing unusual about the circumstances of the departure on the regular trip with a full cargo of lumber from the Bay City Mill.

CENTRALIA IS LUMBER LADEN
