

VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR AND THEIR WIVES CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING OF COMRADES WITH BANQUET.

8 REVIEW WEDDING
VETS OF WAR DAYS

4 Couples, Married 50 Years or More, Entertained by Veterans and Wives.

ROMANCES ARE RECALLED

Gold Pieces Are Presented to Elderly Participants in Service at Improvised Altar—Stories of Old Times Recalled.

Four couples, married 50 years or more, all members of Summer Post, No. 12, Grand Army of the Republic, and Summer Relief Corps, No. 21, Women's Relief Corps, celebrated their golden wedding last night in the hall at 538 Courthouse. A dinner was spread, attended by Summer Post and Corps members, and felicitations and best wishes were showered upon the elderly brides and bridegrooms.

Half a century was rolled backward last night as congratulations were received by the four couples: Mr. and Mrs. Isaac A. Brown, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. McMahon, Mr. and Mrs. George Older and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Henderson. Under a golden bell at an improvised altar, Mr. and Mrs. Brown were married all over again. Rev. W. T. Kerr, toastmaster of the evening, performing the service. The six other men and women acted as best men and bridesmaids as these two renewed their vows, made so long ago. Each couple received a goldpiece, presented by Mrs. Mildred Newell, department president, Women's Relief Corps.

Function Given by Summer Corps.
The delightful function was given by Summer Corps, Women's Relief Corps, and Mrs. Harriet Hendee, senior vice-president, presided.

Guests of honor in addition to the four couples were Minnie Horseman, department president; Nellie Fleck, department secretary; Hilda Slater, department inspector; Mrs. Leticia Capell, member of the executive board; Mrs. Mary Warden, department treasurer; Mary Chamberlain, department counselor, and Mrs. Cora McBride, department installing officer. About 130 veterans and their wives, members of Summer Post and Corps, attended. The hall was tastefully decorated with flowers and streamers of a golden hue.

Following the dinner, toastmaster Kerr proposed the health of the elderly couples and congratulations and best wishes were extended. H. S. Fargo, department commander, Grand Army of the Republic, J. G. Chambers, commander of General Company Post No. 23, St. Johns, and others made brief talks.

Six Married More Than 50 Years.
Strictly speaking, Mr. and Mrs. Brown were the only ones who celebrated their golden wedding, for the other three couples had been married longer than 50 years. Mr. and Mrs. McMahon and Mr. and Mrs. Henderson have been married 52 years and it is 56 years since Mr. and Mrs. McMahon renewed their vows that made them man and wife.

Isaac A. Brown carried the picture of his sweetheart, then Susan Tyndal, through 23 battles in which he participated during the Civil War. He was a member of Company A, Eightieth Illinois, and served three years. "I used to take a picture and try to whistle 'The Girl I Left Behind Me,' but there were times when I couldn't whistle," said Mr. Brown.

Sweetheart Reclaimed After War.
After the war was over Mr. Brown returned to St. Louis, where he was enlisted, and married Miss Tyndal on January 17, 1868. Mr. Brown is 72 and Mrs. Brown is 71. They have four children and one grandchild. They met in Portland in 1855, since which time they have lived here.

Mr. Brown is one of the early members of the Grand Army of the Republic and he has been post commander, as well as filled all other offices of Summer Post. Mrs. Brown has been a member of the Women's Relief Corps, holding numerous offices, for 23 years.

Rev. N. H. McMahon enlisted in the Fifth New York Infantry, better known as the New York Zouaves, in 1860. He was wounded in a sharp engagement and was sent to a Northern hospital to recover.

It was there that he fell captive to the charms of his nurse and the two were married. The pretty wartime nurse was Miss Hannah Crum, of Brooklyn.

W. C. Henderson in Service Four Years.
W. C. Henderson, a member of Company M, Fourth Iowa, was a soldier for four years. In 1864 he came home on veteran furlough, prior to re-enlisting, and between enlistments he was married on March 23, 1864. Mr. Henderson went back to fight then, and he gave a good account of himself. He was in Winslow's Brigade, and he saw heavy service not only in the Vicksburg campaign and fighting Price in Missouri, but in other sharp conflicts of the war. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson have lived in Portland for the past 23 years.

George Older enlisted in Company K, One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Illinois Infantry. He has been a member of Summer Post for many years, and is a past post commander. Mr. Older is past president of the Department of Oregon, Women's Relief Corps, and also has been president of Summer Corps.

PEOPLE ASK CHANGE

Oregon Is Canvassed on Merchant Marine Needs.

REPORT IS SENT EAST

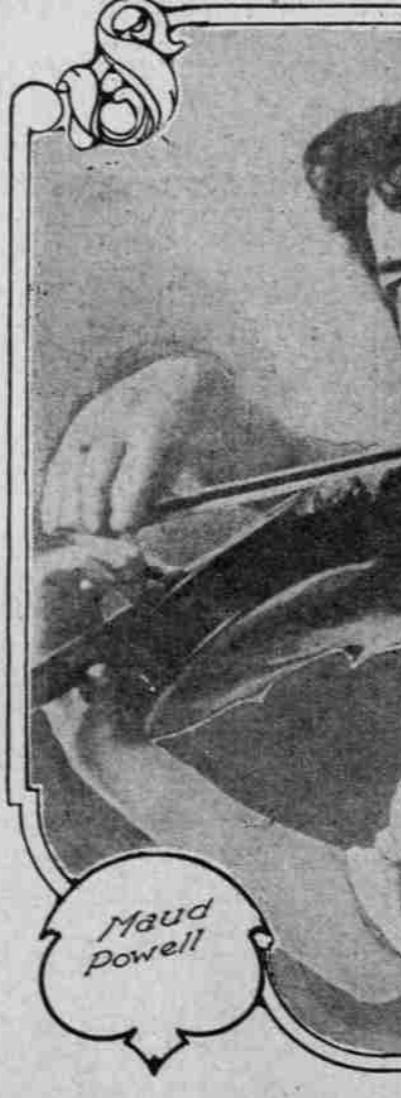

Government Ownership Is Opposed and Prompt Relief by Statute Amendment or Federal Commission Is Advocated.

A complete investigation of the shipping industry of the United States by a nonpartisan commission, with a view of reviving merchant marine under private ownership, is the desire of the people of Oregon on the subject of Federal legislation aimed to facilitate and extend the American merchant marine.

Mr. Bates' canvass revealed that the people of Oregon are not favorable to the plan proposed by President Wilson for Government ownership and operation of merchant vessels. Inquiries are sent out to obtain an accurate idea of how the people of the state feel on this subject. Mr. Bates sent out inquiries to 75 different individuals in the state, representing almost every avenue of thought and activity. He canvassed the president of every bank in the state, every county newspaper, leading representatives of the export and shipping trade, officials of transportation and steamship lines, lumber manufacturers, flour mill operators, wholesale grocers and merchants engaged in various lines of business, as well as state and county officials, lawyers and professional men.

which is a species of small Hawaiian dog. He was given to her by an admirer while she was studying the part of Luana, in Los Angeles last summer, and when she was called to Chicago to join the company the dog had to go too. Much to her surprise and consternation, the story-hearted Pullman conductor said that the dog would have to ride in the baggage car ahead. Although she plead and begged in vain, his dogship had to remain there for the entire trip. When she arrived in Chicago she immediately began to cudgel her brain to try and fool both the Pullman conductor and also the hotel clerk, and she finally hit upon this plan: She had a muff made with a pocket in it and a flap attached, and now, when she travels, she wears the muff, by the way, is one of the smallest in existence, weighing only three pounds and a half, is stuck in the pocket, the flap is buttoned over and, lo and behold, no one is the wiser. Since doing this, Miss Monterey has been fairly deluged with letters from well-known society women, also owners of toy dogs, who have asked her for a design of what she terms her "dog muff."
