Unusual interest is being centered by Portland society and their participation in the Vista House movement. A memorial is being erected on Crown Point in honor of the pioneers who endured the hardships in coming down the narrow trail of the Columbia River gorge.

Through the courtesy of the Automobile Dealers' Association a booth will be erected containing typical scenes of the highway and the proposed pioneer memorial monument at the Automobile Show to be held in the Armory next week.

Among the society matrons who will be in charge of this booth and explain the features of the Vista House on the proposed memorial are Mrs. F. B. Norman and Mrs. Bruce Stewart.

It is planned to have the dedication of the Vista House, that will serve as a three-fold purpose—the monument to remember the pioneers by, an observation tower and a comfort station for automobilists—at the time of the National dedication of the Columbia River Highway.
