Refusal of Trawler to Rescue Crew Contrasted With "Heroes of Moewe."

ACT DECLARED 'INFAMOUS'

Bishop of London Says Skipper Must Be One of Saddest Men in England, but That Germans Themselves Killed Chivalry.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—According to Berlin telegrams, transmitted by Reuters' correspondent at Amsterdam, the attitude of the crew of the trawler King Stephen toward the crew of the Zeppelin L-19 has raised a storm of indignation in the Berlin press, which described the case as a worthy counterpart of the Harlingen incident.

"This fresh infamous action," says the London Standard, "discloses the brutality of the British character, which we 'barbarians' did not know."

"Everyone who has still preserved an impartial judgment will agree that the King Stephen affair is a stain on the shield of Britain."

The Overseas News Agency quotes the Frankfurter Zeitung as commenting on the fact that the British trawler did not save the wrecked and half-starved crew of the German airship, under the pretext that the Germans outnumbered them, while at the same time a few German mariners with one Lieutenant escorted across the ocean the vigorous, normal men.

"We are at a loss what to say about them," adds the newspaper. "It is said that England highly appreciates the heroes of the Moewe. If the rejecting over good sportsmanship is genuine, then the people across the channel must soon these fishermen."

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The Bishop of London, the Right Reverend Arthur Winningham Ingram, speaking at St. Mark's church last night said:

"One of the saddest men in England must be the skipper of the trawler which came upon the sinking Zeppelin in the North Sea. The skipper would have liked to rescue the men, though they were enemies, but he was unable to trust the German's word. Had he taken the Germans on his ship they might have attacked the crew and the whole German press would have applauded the action as a clever piece of strategy. Therefore, we ought to stand by the skipper. The Germans have killed chivalry in warfare."

JURORS NETTLE JUDGE

SHOOTING SUGGESTED AFTER ACQUITTAL OF WOMAN.

Verdict Freeing Wife Who Assailed Husband Agreed to by Men Who Let Slay of Peddler Go.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—Shooting of "some of our feeble-minded jurymen," was suggested today as a remedy for too frequent acquittals of women charged with shooting men, by Judge Frank P. Dunne, when a jury in the Superior Court freed Mrs. Malcom Dwyer, tried for the second time for an assault on her husband, Samuel Dwyer, an angel-faced real estate dealer.

Judge Dunne was aroused from sleep to receive the verdict in Judge Griffin's court because of Judge Griffin's absence. He recoiled among other feeble-minded jurymen, the world would be better off," Judge Dunne said, when he received the verdict. Then he went back to bed.

CONSULS NOT DISTURBED

Austrian Occupation Not to Affect Americans in Serbia.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Occupation of Serbia by Austrian military forces will not affect the official status of American Consuls in that country, under assurances that have just reached the State Department from Vienna. Owing to the decrease in consular business, however, John R. Young, American Consul at Belgrade, has been transferred to Vienna.

News dispatches had indicated that Austria might refuse to recognize consular agents assigned to Serbia on the ground that the Serbian government no longer existed.

Cocoon Oil Makes a Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain modified cocoon oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get modified cocoon oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Adv.

Mrs. Mohr, in Formal Statement, Says She Hopes to Be Allowed to Devote Rest of Life in Peace to Her Children.

about August 31, 1915, as he was sitting in his stalled automobile in Barrington. George W. Healy, the negro chauffeur, made a confession in which he alleged Mrs. Mohr had agreed to pay him $500 to murder her husband.

Other Confessions Repudiated. The police also asserted that the other two negroes made confessions which were subsequently repudiated.

Healy pleaded guilty to manslaughter and became a witness for the state.

Dr. and Mrs. Mohr had been living apart for two years as a result of quarrels growing out of his alleged attentions to Miss Burger and other women. Separation suits were pending and the state contended that Mrs. Mohr was the father of the child.

The defense maintained that Mrs. Mohr loved her husband and that she was involved in the case by the actual murder, who hoped thus to mitigate his own punishment.

Mrs. Mohr made a brief statement after returning to her home tonight. She said she had been confident from the beginning that no jury would ever convict her, adding that the charge of being about the death of the man to whom she had always hoped to become reconciled was the culmination of a series of misfortunes which had clouded her life.

She expressed her appreciation of the "consideration shown her by the judge, the fairness of the jury, the kindness of the state department and the sympathy of the public at large."

TARIFF BILLS IMMINENT

Democrats Expect to Press Measures for Early Passage.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Democratic leaders expect to have the Administration bills for creation of a tariff commission and repeal of the free sugar clause of the Underwood tariff before the House before the end of next week, and to press them for early passage.

Chairman Kilgus announced today that the ways and means committee would meet Wednesday or Thursday to draft reports on the two measures.

Some Democrats on the committee are to favor deferring action on the tariff commission and sugar bill until party leaders have worked out a definite revenue programme. As sugar would go on the free list May 1 unless the repeal is passed, however, separate action on that bill at least probably will be recommended. About $10,000,000 is derived from the sugar tariff annually.

All Belligerents Increase Restrictions on Foreigners.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Richard W. Flournoy, chief of the State Department's citizenship bureau, who has just returned from a trip through England, France, Italy, Germany and Switzerland for investigation of the treatment and welfare of American citizens, reported today that nowhere did he find any general complaints, although in a few individual cases dissatisfaction existed because of the stringent regulations enforced against foreign travelers.

All the belligerents, he said, had tightened restrictions regarding the admission of foreigners and were doing everything to discourage travel.

ARSON ARREST IS MADE

MAN ACCUSED BY BURRIGHT TAKEN AT SILVERTON, OR.

George H. Town Said to Be Tenth in Custody as Result of Confession.

Only One Still Free.

OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 5.—George H. Town, said by the police to be the tenth member of the so-called Burright arson ring to be arrested, was taken into custody today at Silverton, Or., according to a telegram received tonight by Oakland police.

The technical charge against Town is arson in connection with the burning of a cottage in Oakland last August. For this offense Lester Burright, who said he was leader of the ring, now is serving a five-year sentence at the San Quentin Penitentiary and his wife, Jennie, is on probation.

The Burrights, the police said, made wholesale confessions of many cases of arson, of which they and their associates were guilty.

Of the 11 members of the ring named by Burright, all but one have been arrested at various Pacific Coast cities.

The alleged ring, it is said, made a practice of insuring furnished houses in Silverton. He denies he was setting fire to them. By this procedure insurance companies are said to have been mulcted of large sums of money.

KALEM, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—George Town was arrested at his home in Silverton today by Chief of Police Tates on request of the Chief of Police of Oakland, Cal., on a charge of arson.

Town was taken into custody while living with his wife at his parents' home in Silverton. He denies he was involved in the case by the actual murder, who hoped thus to mitigate his own punishment.

He said she had been confident from the beginning that no jury would ever convict her, adding that the charge of being about the death of the man to whom she had always hoped to become reconciled was the culmination of a series of misfortunes which had clouded her life.

GLADSTONE WATER FAILS

SUPERINTENDENT CAN'T START PUMP, AND PREDECESSOR WONT.

Former Head of Plant Says Enough "Reef" to Turn Heavy Flywheel Is All That Is Necessary.

OREGON CITY, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—Gladstone tonight is without water because the new superintendent, Will Johnson, has been unable to start the municipal pumping plant, after two days and one night of almost steady work.

Early this week the reservoir, owned by Victor Gaul, water superintendent, making him chief of police. Will Johnson was named in his place, taking charge of the water system, today morning. Johnson worked all day yesterday, last night and today, and despite his efforts the plant refused to start.

The trouble is traced to the batteries. "It is asserted that the plant will be running before morning," said C. W. Parrish, a member of the Gladstone Water Board, tonight. Gladstone, which contains several hundred homes, is dependent entirely upon rain water and melted snow tonight.

Gaul has refused to straighten out the trouble, declaring that the Council should take the responsibility. He has nothing more to do with the plant. He left tonight for Portland.

The former superintendent, who weighs more than 200 pounds, said that there was nothing the matter with the machinery; that all that was needed was "enough beef to turn over the flywheel," which weighs several hundred pounds. Johnson is a slender man.

JOE HOWARD SUE B. PRETTY WIDOW

Mrs. Edah Witherspoon Asks $50,000 for Heartaches Due to Refusal to Wed.

SONG WRITER IS MARRIED

Maybe He Kissed Her, He Says, but He Doesn't Remember, and, Anyway, It Was All a Joke. Delay Is to Be Asked.

A rapid-fire courtship begun while Joe Howard, musical comedy star, composer, singer and Orpheum headliner was appearing in Portland in March, 1915, led to a promise of marriage, the repudiation of which is alleged as the grounds for a $50,000 suit for breach of promise begun in the Circuit Court yesterday by Mrs. Edah Witherspoon, a pretty widow of Portland.

Mr. Howard is married. For two years Mabel McCane has been his wife. Burning letters of love followed the departure of Mr. Howard for San Francisco with the Orpheum Company. It is asserted, with the promise of marriage upon his return, he returned to this city with the Orpheum show this week. Mr. Howard flatly refuses. It is alleged, to carry out the contract made on his previous visit. Mr. Howard says the "proposal" was a jesting answer to a remark made by the father.

In addition to the claim of $50,000 for the breach of the bride-who-would-be, $300 is asked as reimbursement for the expense of preparing her bridal trousseau.

No formal announcement of the marriage had been made, admitted Mrs. Witherspoon, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Reimann, of 7422 Fifty-sixth avenue Southeast, but "another" has been approached and his consent secured, she said.

The promise was made on March 2, 1915, it is alleged in the complaint, and the marriage was to have taken place in May, when he was to return to Portland. He returned a week ago.

Mrs. Witherspoon is still unmarried, but willing and anxious to marry the defendant in the case, cites the complaint.

His Embarrasses, Says Complaint. She had told all her friends she was engaged, and is reported to have been embarrassed by being kissed by the defendant when on the street. The complaint drawn up and filed by Attorney W. A. Burke, recites damages asked for the mortification, humiliation and disappointment of a woman who hoped to marry and build up a home.

He thought her name was Edith and said she was a nice girl and that he had promised to marry her on one occasion when he met her in Portland. But Mr. Howard declared last night that it was rather foolish to think he was in earnest at all. He said he was already married to Mabel McCane, his vaudeville partner for many years.

"I told her I'd marry her, but I'd had a few drinks and wasn't particular what I said," he admitted. His story of the affair—in which he insisted upon calling the girl Edith, though he had never met her—was told by her father, Reimann, although his name is Reimann—follows:

"I never met the girl until I came to Portland last year. I had met her father in Philadelphia years ago, for he owned a farm adjoining property of my own, and used to borrow from my house. He had a farm and a field in Oregon, and I had heard of him. Then I met him in Portland when I was here on my tour last Spring. After a matinee one afternoon he called on me at my home and I met his daughter. I had not seen her before, although I had met the mother."

"It's too bad Edah can't marry a man like me," he said. "I told him, 'Why, I'll marry her,' I told him. 'Do you mean it?' he said to me. 'Sure,' I replied. 'When the season is over I'll come back and marry you.' 'Of course, I didn't mean it. Why, she has a boy as big as I, and I'm married already. I don't even remember her name now. I never went to her house nor saw her again. 'Did I kiss her?' I don't remember. I might have that afternoon."

Family Invited to Show. Mr. Howard contended that he did not think of the matter, again. He said he met her father once more before he left, until he received a letter in San Francisco from Reimann.

"I could tell he thought it was on the square. I wrote back to him, not to say that it was impossible, but promised to call on them when I was back in Oregon. I enclosed a note to her in his letter. There was any man in it, just a nice little note."

"He answered my letter and said he understood how it was and that Edah could wait. I saw he still thought I had been serious, or pretended he did, but I never answered the letter."

"I didn't see or hear from him or Edah until last Monday. He came here and had a chat with me. I asked him how everything was and he told me he had been losing money, but that he thought he'd be able to get on his feet this year. I asked him if he'd like to come and see the show. He said he would and I invited him to bring the family and I left five seats in the show for him for Thursday matinee. They never came."

"The next thing I knew I was served with the summons this afternoon. Of course, I have no chance to stay and fight it now for I have my booking to finish. If I can have it postponed, I'll fight it when I come back here in May."

Mr. Howard is famous as a composer and playwright, having produced 15 musical shows to which he wrote lyrics. He has written several successful songs, "The Time, the Place and the Girl," "The Land of Nod," "The Flower of the Ranch," "The Suburban Cinderella" and "The Prince and the Pauper." He is planning to open the American Theater in San Francisco with a musical stock company on May 12, according to an announcement made last week.

Mr. Blount was born in Hillsboro, Hillsboro County, Iowa, February 18, 1829. He married Miss Carrie Ellis at Mount Carmel, Ill., and early in 1852 set out with his bride to cross the plains of Oregon, and in spite of the hardships, both are to be considered on the same basis, excepting insofar as Indians have exclusive rights on their reservations.

COURT CITED TO EXPLAIN

CIRCUIT JUDGE CAMPBELL ASKS WHY TRIAL IS DELAYED.

Mandamus Is Issued When Justice Refuses to Try Stanley McKay Unless He Appears in Court.

OREGON CITY, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—A writ of mandamus was signed by Circuit Judge Campbell today to compel Justice Campbell today to show cause why Stanley McKay, charged with failing to give half the road to passing vehicle, has not been tried. Justice Campbell is asked to appear before the Circuit Court before February 16.

Justice Campbell has demanded that McKay appear in person at the trial, and McKay has been successfully dodging Constable Frost and Sheriff Wilson since last October, when the warrant was issued. The defendant is a former resident of Marion County, and is a member of a well-to-do and prominent family.

Walter A. Dimick, of Oregon City, said today that he did not know where his client is, but that he intended to force the case, even though McKay cannot be located.

McKay is alleged to have hit a buggy with his automobile on a road near Oregon City last October and to have injured Miss Marie Harvey and B. L. Harvey, who were in the buggy. The heaviest fine is $50. No jail sentence is provided. The costs of the case have amounted to much more than the fine.

INDIAN RIGHTS DEFINED

Olympia Supreme Court Passes Upon Fishing Cases.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 5.—The Supreme Court has handed down two important decisions affecting the rights of Indians under treaties made in 1855, which the Indians asserted gave them the right to "fish in their accustomed places."

The Supreme Court, affirming the Whatcom County Superior Court in the case of the state against John Alexis, a Lummi Indian, and reversing the Benton County Superior Court in the case of the state against Alec Towensnute, a Yakima Indian, said the state has no power to grant or deny the enabling act to restrict fishing rights of both whites and Indians, and in spite of the treaty, both are to be considered on the same basis, excepting insofar as Indians have exclusive rights on their reservations.

Alexis and Towensnute were charged with failing to comply with state regulations without complying with state regulations.
