SEARCH PARTY ORGANIZED,
Arthur A. Jones, top-priced Portland radio school instructor, who was radioing the latest developments, was reported to have organized a search party which will begin at the scene of the tragedy and look for the bodies of C. L. Kirkpatrick and H. W. Gammie.

Two men drowned and six others seriously injured in the Willamette River at the Rock Island about 20 miles from Portland, when the paddle craft in which they were sailing, was caught between the two rapids of the Willamette River.

Two other men were thrown overboard when the seine boat carrying them into the rapids, was caught by the same rapids. The body of one of these men was found in the fisheries later in the day.

Two men rescued and sent to the hospital, and the other victims are expected to recover.
