Mrs. Joseph Franklin Beach, One of the Patronesses for the Portland Art Club Ball.

ment and pleasure as its predecessor. One of the latest benefits is that to be given on the opening night of the farce "Plays to Advertise," at the Heilig Theater, for the benefit of the Florence Crittenton Home. This affair has the patronage of many prominent Portland folk and from present indications will be one of the notable events in Portland's social history.

Many box and line parties are planned for that night, among those already making reservations being Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. J. P. Jaeger, Mrs. Elliott Corbett, W. O. Whitcomb, Mrs. W. E. Ayer, Ad Club, Mrs. Frank Case, Mrs. Thomas Burke, Mrs. Horace Ramsdell, Mrs. I. Lang, Mrs. R. E. Bristol and Mrs. Oscar E. Menefee.

Patrons and patronesses are: Mesdames and Messdames W. B. Ayer, L. N. Felschner, Walter Cook, H. C. Wortman, Julius Meier, J. C. Oids, Horace Ramsdell, John G. Clemson, Frank M. Case, W. D. Whitcomb, J. P. Jaeger, W. K. Smith, Jr., A. E. Doyle, Louis Tarpley, A. L. Lucas, Oscar E. Menefee, Hamilton Corbett, Frank Dooley, Charles F. Berge, Edward Khrman, I. N. Lipman, John McCourt, William Gasens, D. Cohen, Max H. Kousner, H. C. Ewing, D. C. Burns, Dr. J. N. Coghlan, F. S. Doernbecher, Fred Stanley, Dr. S. Whiting, Oscar Helms, J. K. Gill, Dr. Arthur Chanen, L. W. Wheeler, F. Lowengart, Frank Zimmerman, E. H. Schmeer, Frank Brown, R. M. Emerson, Nat. McDougal, Ralph Wilbur, Fred Page, Ned Ayer, Frank T. Griffith, J. E. Werlein, W. Strauborg, W. S. Dinwiddie, Ralph Hahn, Lloyd Frank, E. C. Neary, L. E. Bradley, Miss Frances Isom, Frank Ransome, Wilbur Reed, Henry Wagner, Paul Wessinger, John Forbit, Ben Blumauer, A. B. Steinbach, John Cronan, H. Johnston, James Two-hy, L. Block, Ashley Vanline, H. G. Beckwith, Fred Jacobs, R. R. Giltner, Drake O'Reilly, Oliver Jeffrey, Julius Louison, John Burgess, Max Fitchner, Henry Metzger, Ludwig Hirsch, Solomon Hirsch, the Misses Hirsch, Charles Dyette, R. E. Brewster, Fred Strong, John A. Bell, R. W. Mitchell, Wesley Ladd, P. P. Kendall, W. D. McWaters, John Kierman, W. J. Makellin, Fred Holman, Phillip Buehner, George Simmonds, Roy Edwards, George M. Vinton, Jesse Stearns, Frank Spencer, A. J. Bale, A. L. Fish, W. J. Hofmann, M. E. Meade, E. D. Timms, Miss Carrie O'Dell, W. E. Heinzer, J. Williams, Bernard Albers, R. E. Blodgett and Harrison Allen.

This worthy institution has found it necessary to make an appeal to the public, so the board has taken the opening night of this comedy, and feel that with the assistance of the large committee who are selling the tickets in advance, success is assured. The charities committee of the Chamber of Commerce gave its hearty indorsement to the work of the home and reported the economical method of handling the institution. Mrs. Ward and a trained nurse, Mrs. McCloughlin, direct all the work of the home, which is done by the girls themselves as a practical training in domestic science, sewing and nursing.

The home accommodates 40 people. At present there are 20 girls and 19 babies.

The following committee is in charge. Mesdames Horace D. Ramsdell, A. L. Lucas, R. E. Heston, E. E. Jones, Carrie Odell, J. C. Oids, L. H. Tarpley and W. H. Doane.

The patronesses who are helping in every way they can to make the event a social as well as financial success embrace a long list of prominent women, both maids and matrons, who are planning box and line parties on this particular occasion.

The Women's Auxiliary of the German Red Cross is planning a masquerade ball for the benefit of that organization, to be given in the Deutsches Haus on February 19. The committee for the event includes Mrs. T. Absendroth, Mrs. P. Wessinger, Mrs. S. Ruester, Mrs. C. Hegele, Mrs. J. Schwandt, Mrs. A. Heisler, Mrs. T. Mueller, Mrs. C. Mayer, Mrs. J. Romelt, Mrs. H. M. Meyer, Mrs. A. Schafer, Mrs. A. J. Wolf, Mrs. J. Mardorf, Mrs. M. Fromme, Mrs. S. C. Kramer, Miss Raymond, Miss A. Mueller, Mrs. A. Halling, Mrs. A. Koch and Mrs. Elsa.

Troop A, Cavalry, Oregon National Guard, is now preparing for a dance to be given Friday, February 18, at the Armory Hall. Troop A's social affairs are always popular and notable and this one is being anticipated with a great deal of pleasure.

The supper-dance of the Portland O. A. C. Club last night at Marlock Hall was one of the most enjoyable ever given by the organization. The affair was well attended by Portland Alumni, out-of-town guests and many present Oregon Agricultural College students who were passing through the city.

The hall was decorated with numerous college and university pennants. Eighteen numbers were on the programme and an excellent supper was served.

The patronesses were Mrs. Sarah Moore, Mrs. C. M. McKilp, Mrs. F. P. Irvine, Mrs. Dow Walker, Mrs. J. H. Miller and Mrs. A. C. McIntyre.

All of the credit for the success of the dance is given to Alison Stokes, chairman of the social committee, and Roy Groves, president of the organization.

President Groves said after the function last night that owing to the many demands for more social gatherings a number of parties and dances would take place.

NEWS FROM THE ARMY POST

The recent storm in the post prevented much in the way of social events, the lights being out part of the time. Many of the beautiful trees in the post were badly broken by the silver thaw. However, the engineers have replaced the wires and everything is again about normal.

Lieutenant-Colonel David J. Baker, Jr., of the Twenty-first Infantry, delivered a lecture on "Preparedness" in the Franklin School in Vancouver Friday evening. The Twenty-first Infantry band gave a concert preceding the lecture. This is one of a series of lectures to be given by officers of the post during the spring, leading up to the establishment of an encampment for citizens of this section of the United States, to be held in the post during the summer. These lectures explain the fundamental principles of military tactics, preparedness and similar topics.

Lieutenant Torrey B. Mazbee and Mrs. Mazbee on Wednesday evening entertained a number of guests at dinner. Covers were placed for 12. The centerpiece was a basket of yellow tulips. Those present were Captain Murray Baldwin and Mrs. Baldwin, Mrs. McDonald, Captain James P. Harbeson, Lieutenant Paul J. Mueller, Lieutenant Harold W. James, Captain E. D. Wardfield and Mrs. Wardfield, and Captain Herbert C. Gibner and Mrs. Gibner.

Captain Robert S. Knox and Mrs. Knox on Tuesday evening entertained at dinner, covers being laid for 12. The dining table was centered with a bouquet of yellow tulips. Those present were Lieutenant Rutherford S. Hartz and Mrs. Hartz, Lieutenant Torrey B. Mazbee and Mrs. Mazbee, Lieutenant Ralph R. Glass and Mrs. Glass, Captain Edmund J. Sayer, Jr., and Captain James P. Harbeson.

An informal hop was given Friday evening in the quarters of the commanding general. Music was furnished by an orchestra from the Twenty-first Infantry band.

The Twenty-first Infantry band gave another of its popular concerts in the post assembly hall at 7:30 P. M. Thursday. These concerts are given free.
