GOLF TOURNAMENT TO BE NEXT SUNDAY

Criterion Meet for Men and Women of Portland Club Novel Curtain-Raiser.

TROPHY CUP IS DONATED

Handleap Matches Give Poor Players Chance to Win Cup and Committee Is Eager to Have Its Score Cards Filled.

The Criterion fournament for men and women announced for next Sunday, should prove a novel curtain-raiser for the season's play at the Portland Golf Club. The handicap and tournament committee has donated a cup, known as the "Criterion Trophy," to be the property of the winner of this con-

sam B, Archer, chairman of the handleap committee of the Portland Golf Club, said yesterday:
"Our handleap committee, wishing to give a prize for some event, decided to stimulate the interest of the members on the occasion of the opening of our gress greens for play.
"We are easer to obtain a large O'Connell Expects to Make "We are eager to obtain a large number of score cards to assist us in giving every member a proper handicap. With this co-operation from the members we will be able to hold some enjoyable tournaments this year. We wish to warn players now that if their name does not appear on the handicap list they will not be able to participate in the tournaments planned for May, June and July and for which handsome prizes will be given."

Ability Will Be Judged. This Criterion contest will be the judge of the ability of many of the players and will also indicate the interest the members take in the work of this committee. Someone will take home a handsome souvenir of the Portland Golf Clubs first event in 1916 and land Golf Club's first event in 1916 and from the following rules one can see that everyone has a chance. In this competition the winner will be the player whose net score is nearest the average of the three low gross scores. Each player places the handicap he wishes against his name when entering the contest. All cards must show 18 holes played and the three lowest scores at the end of each day's play are averaged and the players whose gross score, less the handicap taken, is nearest to the average of the three low het scores takes possession of the cup.

This gives the poorest player a chance, if he chooses a handicap that will make his score equal to the average before would agree to be the player whose net score is near-three low net scores tandor of the cup.

This gives the poorest player a three low net score a handicap that will make his score equal to the average of the three lowest scores played. A second prize will be offered to the three of the opposite sex from the cup. The prize entry of the opposite sex from the player winning the cup. The prize will be a club, to be selected by the player, or to be made up by the Portland Golf Club's popular professional. Local Ground Rules, that play should be resumed on another day.

Class-Rating Competition.

Class C. consisting of 16 men, will be added to the perpetual rating fournament of match play from scratch and will be made up of men who have lost their place in class A or B.

If a player, not classified, challenges an A or B class man and wins his place, the former place-holder from Class A or B, drops to the position open in class C until 18 places have been filled. For instance, the first unclassified player who challenges, say No. 6 in Class B, and defeats him takes this place and No. 6, class C, will become No. 1, class C. The reafter place-holder fooling to an unclassified player would take No. 2 in Class C. Thereafter place-holder collings to an unclassified player would take No. 2 in Class C. Thereafter place-holder challenged by unclassified player would disper would take No. 2 in Class C. Thereafter place-holder challenged by unclassified player would losing this match would drop below Class C.

The same rules apply to Class C as to A and B classes. A man holding place in class C can challenge any man above him is his class or higher classes. To challenge he must put up one bronze rating coin for each numbered place above him up to and foclusive of number challenged. O'Connell wanted to continue, but we insisted that he stop.
