

IMMEDIATE SALE OF LAND FAVORED

Receiver at Roseburg Says Oregon & California Grant Logically Is First.

SUGGESTIONS ARE MADE

Entry Under Timber and Stone Act Regarded as Most Feasible—Control by Forest Service Is Viewed as Calamity.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, April 1.—Representative Sinton... Mr. Turner's letter, in the main, criticized recommendations made to Congress by the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of the Interior...

Market Would Be Stimulated. Replying to the statement of Secretary Houston that the lumber industry of Oregon is at a standstill, Mr. Turner says conditions in Washington, California and Idaho are the same as those in Oregon...

Timber and Stone Act Favored. "The simplest way of securing the timber lands of the grant would be to open them to entry under the timber and stone law," in the opinion of Mr. Turner...

It is admitted that in this way the lands would gradually get into the hands of large timber operators, but Mr. Turner argues that this must necessarily be, as only large operators can handle the timber profitably.

Mr. Turner says the payment of 40 per cent of the net receipts to the counties and 40 per cent to the state is little enough.

"It would be giving to the state and counties only what they have lost through lack of development," he says. Joint jurisdiction, by the Interior and Agricultural Departments, in his opinion, would mean complete control of timber sales by the Forest Service, and this, he insists, would mean keeping the timber lands off the tax rolls for a great many years to come.

Early sale held essential. Concluding, Mr. Turner said: "It would be in defiance of the Supreme Court decision allowing any of this land to be held indefinitely. The land and timber should be sold as soon as practicable. It would seem a mockery for the Government to take the land away from the railroad company because they refused to sell it, and then the Government itself hold the land for speculation. The Government should sell at once, as was intended by the granting act."

WAITER TO BE ARRAIGNED

Prisoner Apparently Gives Up Hope of Successful Defense—"I Am Guilty and Ready for Electric Chair," He Says.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Dr. Arthur Warren Waitte will be placed on trial for the murder of his wealthy father-in-law, John E. Peck, the District Attorney expects within a month, if his condition permits, Waitte will be arraigned next Monday on the two indictments found against him yesterday.

A private detective employed by the Peck family delivered to the District Attorney today 150 slides and 100 test tubes which are believed to contain disease germs. They are labeled tetanus, Asiatic cholera, pneumonia, tuberculosis, typhoid, typhus, anthrax and influenza. The detective found them in Waitte's apartment.

The discrepancy between the $9000 which Waitte declares he gave Kane, the embalmers and the $7800 which Kane dug up from his hiding place yesterday was made the subject of an investigation by District Attorney Edward Swann today.

According to Kane, the large roll of bills was forced into his hands by Waitte and he never counted the money while it was in his possession. Therefore, he said, he did not know its value when he buried it.

Waitte apparently has given up hope and said today: "I am guilty and am ready for the electric chair."

PORTLAND PLAN PRAISED

Attention Called to Fact That Community Increases Happiness and Decreases Crime by Promoting Recreation.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, April 1.—Portland's roses and the proposal of the city of Portland to establish a municipal rose garden have come to the attention of officials of the American Civic Association, and in order that they may be fully advised of the latest project of the Rose City, J. Horace McFarland, president of the association, has written to Commissioner Baker for full information.

"It is coming to be realized that the provision of wholesome and uplifting recreation is one of the most important functions of government. Governor Brumbaugh, of Pennsylvania, has recently put the necessity for this work upon an economic basis, by calling attention to the fact that the crimes against society are committed by our people not in their hours of work but in their hours of leisure. "Inasmuch as we are constantly tending toward a reduction of the working hours and a corresponding increase in the recreation hours, it would seem to be, and indeed, has proved to be, sheer good sense for the community to provide in every possible way for so directing and guiding the expenditure of recreation time as not only to prevent disorder and crime, but actually to promote order, happiness, health and therefore efficiency.

"Now it has been found that a well-conducted rose garden is one of the most effective means of promoting municipal efficiency. The able superintendent of parks in Hartford, Conn., advises me that the completely successful municipal rose garden in that city has accomplished an efficiency of 2000 people per acre, which is at the ratio of two persons per square foot of area. This is an intensity of park usage probably unequalled anywhere else. It is accompanied by the most wholesome and desirable results.

"In addition to the sheer and definite efficiency which is almost certain to result from a properly conducted municipal rose garden, there may be well considered the great advertising effect for a city. Portland is already known to the United States as the City of Roses, and its fame in this respect is surely commendable. To have a great rose garden, in which there is a broad and sufficient planting of rose, is likely to increase the value of this feature of the city's life.

"In Minneapolis, under conditions difficult as compared with those obtaining in Portland, there has been great success in the municipal garden. I believe that, taking into account its extraordinary favorable climate, Portland can do better than any other city in the country, and I shall note with interest the outcome of the present effort.

"I am writing to you thus because of the observation which, as president of the American Civic Association, I constantly make of events and proposed work relating to recreational conditions all over the United States."

The Doctor's Advice

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

"Sickly" writes: "What may I use to relieve a chronic cough and a bad cold?" Answer: I always prescribe for coughs and colds a very effective cough syrup which you may easily prepare with 2 1/2 oz. concentrated essence mentho-laxone and one pint of simple sugar syrup. This, taken regularly, should overcome very severe coughs and colds. It is laxative in its action, and cleanses the system by driving out the cold inflammation.

"Busy" writes: "I have had a very bad case of kidney trouble for four months. I feel so bad I can hardly work." Answer:—You did not state your symptoms, but if they are headache, chills and fever, sallow complexion, puffiness under the eyes, scant, bad-smelling urine, then I suggest that you start at once using balmwort tablets. They cleanse your blood and relieve kidney trouble. They come in sealed tubes with directions.

"John" writes: "I have had bad colds. Now I am over the colds, but my system seems run down. I get tired after the least exertion and I'm losing weight rapidly. I have to take laxative regularly, but was never before bothered with constipation. What will I do?" Answer:—Get a tube of three-grain sulphur tablets (not sulphur) and take regularly. Your blood is in bad condition and much of the cold inflammation remains in your system. These tablets should relieve constipation, clean your blood and build up your health.

"Actress" writes: "I have a very bad case of dandruff and itching scalp. I cannot use liquid tonics containing alcohol, as they dry my hair." Answer:—Tonics for the hair containing alcohol are not good for the scalp.

"Patron" writes: "Please tell me what to do for rheumatism. The mentho-laxone syrup you prescribed for cold and cough did me a world of good and relieved a cough I had two years!" Answer: I am glad you found so much relief in the mentho-laxone. You should obtain just as good results in the following prescription for rheumatism: 2 grams of iodide of potassium, 4 grams sodium salicylate, 15 oz. wine of colchicum, 1 oz. comp. essence cardoli, 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort and 2 oz. syrup saturated comp. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal times and again before going to bed.—Adv.

"Fred" asks: "How may I increase my weight and improve my color? I am anemic, weak and tired all the time." Answer:—Begin at once taking three grain hypo-nuclease tablets. Continued use of these tablets, taken with your meals, should increase your weight, overcome anemic condition and improve your general health and color.
