

FRANCIS ASBURY CENTENARY TO BE CELEBRATED HERE TODAY

Methodists of Portland Will Hold Mass Meeting in Honor of Churchworker, Who Came to America in 1771 and Who Did Vast Amount of Work.

THE Francis Asbury centenary will be celebrated today by all the Methodists of Portland at a mass meeting to be held at 3 o'clock in the Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church. This service will be in keeping with the observation of the day that will be noted today in all parts of the United States.

Francis Asbury came to America in 1771. He died in 1816 after accomplishing a vast amount of work for Methodism. What Wesley as a leader and organizer was to the British Methodism, Asbury was to American Methodism. Tribute to his memory will be given today at the joint meeting of all churches of the denomination.

Another important event of tonight will be Dr. Frank L. Loveland's lecture in the First Methodist Church.

The subject will be "John Wesley." The relation to Asbury's work will be shown.

When appointed by Wesley to America, Asbury was a young man, about 26 years of age. He had been in the traveling ministry only about five years, and but four years on the catalogue of regular appointments, but had seen hard service on Bedfordshire, Colchester, and Wiltshire circuits. He was studious, somewhat introspective, with thoughtfulfulness which was tinged at times with melancholy. His was one of those minds which can find rest only in labor designed for work, and therefore endowed with a restless instinct for it.

He was an incessant preacher, of singular practical directness, was ever in motion, on foot or on horseback over his long circuits; a rigorous disciplinarian, disposed to do everything by method; a man of few words, and those always to the point; of quick and marvelous insight into character; of a society, not a severity of temperament, which might have been repulsive had it not been softened by a profound religious humility, for his soul, ever aspiring to heights, was ever complaining within itself over its shortcomings. His mind had eminently a military cast. He never lost his self-possession, and could therefore seldom be surprised.

At the White Temple this morning Rev. J. W. Williamson will preach and the Temple Quartet will render the anthem "The Lord Is My Rock," by Woodman, and for the offertory "Even Me," by Warren.

In the evening Mr. Williamson will preach again and the quartet will sing "The Radiant Morning" by Woodward, and "Recessional," by DeKoven. Mr. Williamson has been the International Sunday school for British Columbia and he is now on his way to Nova Scotia to do work along the same line.

Next Sunday Chaplain Stevenson of the ship Colorado will speak morning and evening and the Naval Reserve will attend in the afternoon. It is expected to be a meeting of unusual interest.

First Congregational Church to Entertain Next Sunday.

Plantation Melodies, Negro Folk Songs and Dialect Readings Will Be Given.

PLANTATION melodies, negro folk songs and dialect readings will feature the entertainment given at the First Congregational Church Sunday night, April 9, when a group of students and teachers of Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute will present the work of that school. The students, who are in charge of the program, which they will give will be of an entertaining character.

Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Ala., was named after its founder, Booker T. Washington.

While the subject of Dr. Frank L. Loveland's sermon-lecture at the First Methodist Episcopal Church tonight will be "Wesley and the Revival of Protestantism," the discourse will deal mainly, Dr. Loveland says, with the statement of "what it means really to be a Methodist."

This will be next to the last in the series and judging from the preceding ones will be the fifth of the most interesting. The greatest crowds in the history of First Church have been attending these Sunday night addresses.

This morning the Rev. K. Richardson will preach upon the painting, which represents various classes of people rejecting the crucified Lord.

The choir of St. James' Lutheran Church will render "The Seven Last Words," by Dr. Bois, Sunday night, April 16.

Sunday morning will be men's and boys' day at St. James' Lutheran Church. The sermon will be especially adapted to the occasion.

On Sunday night, April 9, the Luther League will have charge of the services of St. James' Lutheran Church, and they are arranging for a concert by a number of well-known musicians.

An entertaining programme was given Wednesday night before a large audience at the First Presbyterian Church, Eleventh and Clay streets, by the two classes which have recently finished studying the book, "The King's Highway," by Mrs. Helen Montgomery. Scenes depicted in the book were shown and the characters impersonated by members of the classes.

Songs were sung by Miss Meta Brown, Miss Agnew and W. Grier. A social hour and refreshments followed.
