Chi Omega is one of the strongest National college fraternities, having 22 active and 23 alumnae chapters, all of which are engaged in some definite social service work. Six years ago the Portland Alumnae was organized, being the first woman's fraternity to install a chapter in this city. During the Spring vacation they will entertain for the Oregon and Washington University chapters with a dance at the Thanehurst clubhouse and an Orpheum party.

The second annual "cotton ball" will be a gala event of Easter week, being scheduled for Monday, April 24, at Cottillon Hall, and following the custom established last year, also carrying out the idea of the function, the matrons and maids will appear in cotton gowns and the men will don either white suits or informal attire. They will take advantage of the rare opportunity of making themselves thoroughly comfortable in their garb and at the same time be "correct."

This will be strictly a ball, minus entertainment features, such as characterized the previous ball, and everyone is secretly rejoicing over the fact, as they prefer to dance and sit around and watch others perform.

Mrs. Wheelwright is chairman of the affair and is looking forward continuously to make it a stupendous success, financially and socially. She is being assisted by Mrs. Everett Ames, Mrs. Daniel A. Shindler, Mrs. Arnold Rothwell, Mrs. Holt C. Wilson, Mrs. James B. Kerr and Mrs. Howard Mathar.

An imposing list of prominent women from the various parts of the city make up the list of patronesses, a partial list of which follows:

- Mrs. Warren Keeler
- Mrs. Thomas Kerr
- Mrs. Alma Kats
- Mrs. Lucia Allen Lewis
- Mrs. Walter J. Russell
- Mrs. J. H. Boise
- Mrs. Frank Burke
- Mrs. Margaret B. Burdick

- Mrs. Stanley Jewett
- Mrs. C. B. Jackson
- Mrs. C. A. Jacobs
- Mrs. Henry Jewett

One of the most delightful features, sure to meet with the approval of all who attend, is the fact that all who care to dance continuously may do so, as two orchestras have been provided for the evening, following the customs of large affairs in the East.

One of the most interesting events of today will be the tea to be held this afternoon by the members of the Little Club at their attractive studio, Sixth and Salmon streets, from 4 to 7 o'clock. The club membership consists of prominent artists, musicians, writers and men and women interested in art and educational work. They hold these delightful informal little teas every other

Miss Sadie Bonfield, whose engagement is just announced

Sunday, and also have monthly meetings on the last Friday of each month. A feature of each tea is an exhibition of some interesting work of one of the members, this afternoon's "piece de resistance" to be a display of John Burkhardt's pictures, which are notable in artistic circles. The tea table will be presided over by Mrs. H. C. Wortman and Mrs. Charles E. Sears.

Rather a coincidence is the announcement in today's issue copied from The Oregonian of 25 years ago, Society News, that "The Ladies of Trinity Woman's Guild will hold their annual fair, and rose exhibit in the month of May," and the announcement made for the first time this season that the annual silver tea will be given Easter Tuesday, April 24, by Mrs. A. A. Morrison and the Women's Guild of Trinity at the rectory of Trinity parish.

The tea will be given from 3 to 5 o'clock, and all friends of the church are cordially invited. This affair always creates a great deal of interest among Trinity's congregation and friends, and a notable event in the social history of the church.

All of which proves that the Women's Guild of Trinity always has been actively interested in its duties regarding the church for many years at the same season.

Friends of Mrs. S. Frauenthal, a prominent and charming matron of Seattle, are rejoicing over the fact that she will be here for several days en route to pass the Summer in the East. She arrived the latter part of last week and is domiciled at Hotel Bonson. Mrs. Frauenthal is a former Portlander and is very popular in Portland society. She is being delightfully entertained by well-known matrons and old friends.

E. Conan will be chairman of the committee in charge of the dining-room, and will be assisted by Mrs. Andrew Smith and Miss Blanche Burke. Mrs. Frank Dooley is chairman of the refreshment committee, assisted by Mrs. P. J. Flynn, Mrs. J. P. Cooke and Miss Clarissa Wiley. Other committee members are: Mrs. J. D. Farrell, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Charles E. Cheney, Mrs. Frank Burke; punch table, Mrs. E. D. Leonard, assisted by Mrs. William Miller and Mrs. Dan J. Markey; entertainment, Mrs. J. R. Wiley, Mrs. William O'Donnell, Mrs. Edward Boyce, Mrs. Katherine Daly, Mrs. M. Daly, Mrs. Joseph McCusker.

Whitney, William Healy, John MacKinnon, Walter Gerin, James Flynn, William Miller and Victor Cullen will take tickets at the door.

Abell, of Bolivia, South America, have taken up their residence at the Mallory. Recent arrivals at the Mallory are George Rebeco, Eugene, A. C. Frank, Jean Duggs, and Dr. W. A. Brown, Seattle, Wash. Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Pendleton and daughters and Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. Pendleton's mother, have taken apartments at the Mallory.

Major H. L. Bowly has been joined by Mrs. Bowly and their two children, the Winter in California. They are at the Mallory now. Irvington Club members are looking forward eagerly to the grander time Tuesday night, when the annual election of officers and banquet will be given in the club. The business meeting and election will be held during the dinner, after which social gaieties will prevail. The floor will be cleared for dancing and musical programs will be given. Mrs. Albert Howard Cousins is in charge of the evening, and has worked faithfully for the past week to make the affair a musical and a show. Cousins will be assisted by the following "matron waiters": Mrs. H. P. Dutton, Mrs. J. W. Crouch, Mrs. H. Durand, Mrs. W. Green Koeler, Mrs. Ella F. Lawrence, Mrs. Charles Maginnis, Mrs. Marion Versteeg, Mrs. Richard Hart, Mrs. W. H. Woodard, Mrs. J. H. Bowman, Mrs. M. C. Woodard, Mrs. O. Lockwood, Mrs. H. N. Randall, Mrs. E. Fields, Mrs. K. H. Monger, Mrs. George Cecil, Mrs. W. J. Hofmann, Mrs. W. L. North, Mrs. J. H. Milder, Mrs. William McVay, Mrs. B. F. Irvine, Mrs. B. E. Haney, Mrs. H. M. Haller.

On Tuesday night, April 25, the Art Museum will be the scene of a large and brilliant gathering of representative society and business folk to attend the lecture by Edouard Manet, recently returned from the hospitals of France, where she was in close touch with the conditions prevailing.

The lecture is for the benefit of the Portland War Relief Society, of which Mrs. Walter J. Burns is president.

Miss Camille Doach has asked a number of friends informally to tea this afternoon. Miss Germaine Baruh will become the bride of Merwyn Wangelheim, of San Francisco, on April 20. Miss Benson. The bride-elect has been extensively feted during her engagement, the past week being markedly so. Luncheon for which Miss Flora Rosenblatt was hostess Thursday at Hotel Bonson, the tea given Friday by Miss Sadie Delovance and the luncheon presided over Wednesday by the bride-elect's sister, Miss Frieda Baruh, in which Miss Elsa Feigenbaum also shared honors.

Mrs. Russell B. Caswell has returned from a visit with Mrs. Thomas Carstens in Tacoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Burke have returned from their winter's stay in Southern California, and are at the Mallory Hotel.

Complicating Miss Crystal Hyland, attractive and popular bride-elect, Miss Margaret Raeder, entertaining Friday afternoon with a delightful bridge tea at her home in Irvington. Guests were asked to make up four tables of the game, and a few additional male and female matrons joined the party at the tea hour. Airy and artistic Spring flowers and fruit blossoms in shades of pink and white adorned the room. Miss Raeder's guests for bridge were Miss Hyland, Miss Constance Hyland, Miss Clara Marsch, Mrs. Bruce Stewart, Mrs. Wilbur Pelton, Mrs. J. H. Cudlipp, Mrs. Irving Potter, Misses Marie and Helen Haller, Edna and LaVelle Floren, Mary and Harriet Madeline Groh, Marcia Parker, Kathleen Sealy, Dorothy Moulton and Hildreth Humason.

Mrs. Wilbur Pelton Reid is planning to entertain this week in honor of Miss Hyland and Mr. Abell, and the Ira Powers also will be hosts in their home.

Interest grows apace with the approach of the evening devoted to the college tea, which will be held Friday night at Cottillon Hall. College women and men from all over Oregon are actively interested in this function. The present indications are that it will excel previous affairs of a similar nature. The proceeds will be used for a scholarship fund for the U. of O. and fraternities and sorority members are working hard for the success of the venture.

Booths will be established for the sale of candies and novelties, such as punch, candy, ices, coffee and sandwiches. Programs will be sold by Chi Omega and Delta Delta Delta will entertain.

Exhibition dances will be given by Mr. and Mrs. A. van Rossum, recently from Belgium, who are making their home in this city. They will give a Dutch dance and a tarot in costume. Many of the college girls will come to Portland from surrounding towns for the occasion, and patrons and patronesses will be President and Mrs. P. H. Campbell, University of Oregon, Eugene; Superintendent and Mrs. L. R. Alderman, Mr. and Mrs. George Gerling, Mrs. R. Leach, Miss Agnes Beach, Alice Benson-Beach, Miss Ruth Guppy, dean of women, University of Oregon. Tickets are on sale at the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club, also at the door on the night of the fête.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Banfield announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sadie Banfield, to Sidney Smith Lasswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lasswell, of this city. The wedding will not be solemnized in this city, much to the regret of the young people's friends and relatives, but will take place at the old home of the Lasswells in Holton, Kan., at the residence of the prospective bridegroom's grandparents, Thursday, April 13, at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Lasswell has been in the East for the past year, where he now is associated with the Hoyt State Bank, in Hoyt, Kan., which will be the future home of Mr. Lasswell and his bride. Mr. Lasswell attended the University of Oregon and is a popular Kappa Sigma man.

Miss Banfield was graduated from Lincoln High School, since which time she has traveled extensively, passing several winters abroad with her parents. She is planning to leave for the East early in May, the wedding to be an event of June.

Mrs. Banfield and daughters have cards out for a tea in honor of Miss Sadie Banfield, to be given April 15 at the Banfield home, 393 Vista avenue. Miss Banfield will become the bride of Leon Fabre, Jr., about the middle of June.

Mrs. Edwin D. Jorgensen, of Parkside Drive, Arlington Heights, announced the engagement of her cousin, Miss Helen Krauss, to Glenn Sigel, at a prettily appointed luncheon yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Krauss. Covers were placed for ten, the place cards being dainty baskets in which were concealed the cards of the young couple. The guests were: Miss Krauss, Miss Gladys Sigel, sister of the bridegroom-to-be; Mrs. Chester A. Moore, Mrs. Earl C. Latour, Mrs. Grace Tucker, Miss Florence Kendall, Miss Grace Mackenzie, Miss Genevieve Butterfield and Miss Lucille Bronaugh.

Miss Krauss is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto E. Krauss. After graduating from Portland Academy, she attended the University of Oregon, and is now a member of several fraternities and also popular socially and in clubdom.

The wedding probably will take place early in the Fall, previous to which the exceptionally pretty young bride-elect will be much feted. She is a former Salem girl and has a host of friends in that little city.

Interest centers in the concert to be given by the University of Michigan Glee and Mandolin Clubs, Tuesday night at 8:15 in the Eleventh-street playhouse. Many parties are being arranged for the evening, including dinner parties to precede the festivity, followed by box and line parties, with merry little suppers to follow in the leading grill.

The patronesses are: Mesdames Maurice E. Crumacker, Ralph Jay Hurburt, Donald W. Green, Palmer L. Fales, William D. Clark, D. C. Karkett, Lawrence T. Harris, Frederick H. Green, William B. Layton, Fred B. Newton, Thomas M. Joyce, William S. Knox, M. Gerard Effinger, Fenton E. Grigsby, George Arthur Brown, William B. Robinson, Lloyd J. Wentworth, John B. Cleland, Julius V. Ohmart.
