

WEST SIDE TO CARE FOR TOTS IN PARADE

Entertainment of Participants in Big Rose Festival Event Is Being Prepared.

SHELTER TO BE PROVIDED

Use of Three Schools, Refreshments and Opportunity to Visit Center During Show Proposed; Many Never Have Seen Spectacle.

The children's parade in the Rose Festival this year will be held on the West Side, as the opening-day feature of the festival, on June 7, instead of on the East Side, where it has been the special festival feature for many seasons.

The change from the East to the West Side of the Willamette River was announced in the tentative program of the festival, and a special meeting held to consider requests to keep this pageant on the East Side the festival board voted to present the spectacle in the business district of the West Side.

One of the main reasons for the change has been the publicity to be derived for Portland as a result of the photographs, both in motion pictures and newspaper and magazine advertising. With the parade on the West Side, Portland's business district will be shown to fine advantage in the exploitation of the June Show following the close of the enterprise.

Name Distance to Be Traversed.
In a statement issued yesterday from festival headquarters it was announced that the parade will be featured on the West Side the morning of June 7 at 9:45 o'clock. The line of march will cover the same distance as on the East Side, and the parade will pass the Courthouse, City Hall, theaters, hotels and many stores and office buildings.

It is the belief of the festival management that, inasmuch as thousands of people on the West Side have never seen this feature of the festival, the change should be made. After investigation it was found there were fully 50,000 people in Portland, many residents of the East Side working in the business district, had never seen this parade.

Many business men have children in this parade and have never seen the wonderful procession. If the morning is warm, say festival directors, the tall buildings will offer shade as a protection to the youngsters.

Entertainment to Be Considered.
The festival governors also believed that the children should be taken into consideration and have some pleasure out of the festival after the conclusion of the parade. It would present a beautiful sight, say festival governors, to have thousands of children in costume on the streets after the conclusion of the event.

It will give many children an opportunity to view the festival center, the downtown decorations, and, in many cases, be the only opportunity many children will have to view the West Side decorations during the festival period.

Arrangements also have been made for the housing of the children before and after the parade in the Lincoln High, the two Shattuck schools and the Ladd School. Parents will know just in what room their children may be found and they will be in telephone communication before and after the parade.

Shelter Provided in Case of Rain.
Should it rain the children with their beautiful costumes will not be exposed to the elements and could remain in comfort for an hour or more if necessary.

It has been learned definitely that the children can be handled by the street car company on the West Side as easily as on the East Side. Furthermore, the children all will have restroom privileges, both before and after the parade, and on returning to the schools will have their lunches. It has been suggested that each child bring lunch the same as a school day. Refreshments also will be provided by the festival workers.

Already indications are that the pageant this year will be one of the greatest in the history of the festival, and many new and spectacular features are being provided. The hearty co-operation of more than 50 principals of public schools has been obtained, and all arrangements are being perfected for the parade on the west side of the river.

RECLUSE FOUND DEAD

JOSEPH STRICKLER, 70, THOUGHT VICTIM OF HEART ATTACK.

Suspicion of Foul Play Is Investigated as Bruise Is Discovered on Head Lying Near Fire.

ALBANY, Or., April 15.—(Special.)—Joseph Strickler, aged about 70 years, was found dead in his home near Sweet Home, today, his body lying in the fireplace and badly burned.

It is presumed he had an attack of heart trouble, to which he was subject, and fell in the fire. A bruise on the head is the only indication of foul play but it may have been caused by the fall on the hearth. Mr. Strickler lived alone.

The body was found by his daughter, who lived nearby. No one had been seen about the house. The fact that he was subject to fainting spells convinces officials that he was overcome while sitting the fire and fell forward into it.

According to the report he received of the circumstances Coroner Fortmiller believes death due to natural causes, but he has directed Justice of the Peace Roloff and Dr. Bollinger, of Sweet Home, to make a full investigation.

CAMP FOR BOYS PROPOSED

Plans Being Developed for Y. M. C. A. Outing Near Cascadia.

ALBANY, Or., April 15.—(Special.)—Plans are being developed by the Young Men's Christian Association of Albany whereby a boys' summer camp will be established near Cascadia, in which the associations of Linn, Marion, Benton and Lane counties will participate. It is proposed to conduct the camp during two weeks in the month of July.

The plans contemplate that all boys between 13 and 16 years of age of the associations of Albany, Salem, Eugene and Corvallis and any boys from any other places in the four counties who so desire, will enjoy the privileges of the camp.

TWO OF THE LATEST CANDIDATES ENTERED IN THE CONTEST FOR ROSE FESTIVAL QUEEN.

Miss Lillian Cornelia Hendrickson, Forester of America, Corvallis, Ore.

MISS TAYLOR LEADS

Western Union Queen Entry Advances From Sixth.

3 LEADERS DROP IN LIST

Miss Carroll, of Knights and Ladies of Security, Is Second, With Miss Marian Anderson, of Albany, in Third.

Louise Taylor, Western Union candidate for queen of the Rose Festival, jumped from third place to first yesterday afternoon, in the count of ballots at 4 o'clock.

The three leading candidates, still in the same relative order, dropped down three points on the list. Miss Jewell Carroll, Knights and Ladies of Security candidate, rose from fourth to second place and Marian Anderson, of Albany, rose from fifth to third.

Miss Jacobs Drops to Fourth.
Waive Jacobs, of Klamath Falls, first on the list Friday, is now fourth, Anna Allen, of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, falls from second to fifth and George White, of Corvallis, formerly first, is now sixth.

The other candidates in the race added few new votes to their lists yesterday.

Lillian Cornelia Hendrickson, candidate of the Foresters of America, made her first appearance in the field yesterday with an initial vote of 2526, which put her eighth in the running right at her start in the race.

Interest is so deeply centered on the queen contest that the fact is almost overlooked that there is also to be a king of the Rose Festival named.

King to Be Chosen by Winning City.
The king will be elected by the city which succeeds in electing the queen for the festival and he will be known as King Joy and will appear at all of the festival functions with the queen.

Voting has been in a large degree by coupons cut from the newspapers thus far, as the competition warms up, however, it is expected that votes will be purchased in larger and larger quantities to supplement the votes contained in the newspaper coupons.

Votes may be purchased at the Rose Festival headquarters at the rate of ten for 1 cent.

EDUCATORS VISIT REED

Representatives From Sister Colleges Entertained During Week.

Reed College was visited by a large number of representatives from sister colleges during the week. Three college presidents were among the visitors.

On Thursday morning Dr. E. O. Holland, president of Washington State College, and Dr. J. K. Hart, recently of the University of Washington faculty, addressed the students in assembly. Dr. F. F. Westcott, president of the University of British Columbia, spoke at the college chapel Friday and today Dr. W. H. Lee, president of Albany College, will address vespers services.

Dr. Sweetser, professor of botany at the University of Oregon, visited the college Wednesday and conducted the biology class about the campus on a botanical survey. In the evening he delivered an illustrated lecture before a meeting of the Biology Club on the pollenization of flowers.
