TODAY, BEING PALM SUNDAY, IS BEGINNING OF HOLY WEEK

Roman Catholic and Episcopal Churches Are to Have Special Observance and Services Will Be Held at Baker Theater.

THIS is Palm Sunday—the last Sunday before Easter, the beginning of Holy week. In all the Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches the week will be observed with strict solemplty. In many other churches there will be special services.

The blessing of the palms will be an important ceremony today. These are distributed to the faithful,

Following is part of the official mes-gage of Bishop Sumner to the clergy and laity of the Episcopal diocese of Oregon as announced in the Oregon

Churchman:

Lent has been marked with growing interest and attendance at divine services throughout the diocese. On the whole, I think that most of the communicants of the church have given up pronounced social functions to mark the Lenten season. It must be a source of regret to many that all have not done so. Perhaps another Lent will bring a still greater number who respect the tracking and practice of the church and order their life for these 40 clays accordingly.

There have been few requests that the church indicates that must people understand indicates that must people understand this Lent is a penifertial season and not a season for weddings.

I connot begin to express my personal greatingle to Dishop Howe for his hard work in the dideces 1; the interest of missions lie was kept constantly in action and was stept constantly in action and was selected to the possible, but it was difficult. For every parish and mission in the diocese was granted at the union to the order of the was granted to the hear him.

I am much as possible, but it was difficult for every parish and mission in the diocese was granted at the late that.

I am much encouraged by the outlook for students at St. Helen's Hall next year, I am noticing the co-operation of the ciergy is resurring larger numbers, and already we are getting results.

The transaction of the ciergy will already will already will the Sister Superior, looked over the buildings of Fortland Academy, which is to be closed this year, with a view to a possible use by St. Helen's Hall. It was consummed to the hulldings would not lend themselves to our purpose. The matter has been dropped, therefore.

I do not know when I have heard more scholarly and intensely interesting addresses this those given by the dean at the Fro-Cathedral on Friday and Sunday nights during Lent. I doubt if a rarer treat could be found in any metropolities church. Those who are missing them are undergoing a distinct less.

Unleavened bread is characterized as the "bread of affliction," and is also referred to in the Bible as the bread that was unleavened because of the enforced hasty departure from Egypt. In post-biblical times the earnest desire to keep the injunctions most scrupulously led the teachers of Israel to enact laws, such as the use of special dishes that had been guarded from contact with leaven and reserved only for the Passover seaand reserved only for the Passover season.

A charming and effective feature in the celebration of the feast is the special Seder service around the festive family board on the first evening of the feast, to which the orthodox add a second evening. At this family service a special ritual known as the "Hagga-dah" is read. This ritual contains the story of the redemption from servitude, certain reflections inspired by the memories of old and certain psalms. This is ories of old and certain palms. This is followed by the festal meal, after which grace is recited. The service concludes with the reading of additional pessime, the recitation of prayers and the sing-
