

LUCKY BOY MINE DEAL COMPLETED

Half Interest in Historic Lane County Property Brings $100,000.

IMPROVEMENT IS PLANNED

Seattle and Canadian Investors Agree to Put in Additional $25,000—Contracts Let for Extending Tunnel.

Sale of a half interest in the Lucky Boy mine in Eastern Lane County, and one of the best producers in Western Oregon, virtually was completed yesterday for a consideration of $100,000.

The group of Portland capitalists who have held the property for the last four years will continue in possession of a full half interest. Several Seattle and Canadian investors have acquired the other one-half and propose to begin immediately to develop the mine extensively, in addition to paying $100,000 for a half of the stock they have agreed to invest an additional $25,000 in improvement.

Contracts have been let for driving the main tunnel on the property a distance of 100 feet. It now is 800 feet long. A crew of men will leave Eugene tomorrow morning to undertake this work.

MILL TO BE OVERHAULD.

Meanwhile some additional machinery will be assembled on the ground and a modern plant. The old mill—a 40-stamp plant—will be overhauled, and a new system of ore treatment will be installed.

The new owners plan to operate the mine and mill as long as the weather will permit and expect to make steady shipments.

The Lucky Boy is an historic property. It has been under development for the last 18 or 20 years, producing, in that time, the Heen property $400,000. It is situated on the Blue River, a branch of the McKenzie, in the heart of the Cascades, 15 miles east of Eugene. It is accessible only by wagon or automobile road.

The property has had a checked career of varying fortune. Four or five years ago the then owners sought to develop it by a bond issue of $250,000. They defaulted in interest payments and the bonds were sold. A group of Portland men acquired these securities at a heavy discount. They satisfied other claims and then proceeded to organize the Lucky Boy Consolidated Mines Company. The following Portland men now are the officers of this corporation: President, D. W. Thford; vice-president, Phlegley; secretary and treasurer, Cord Sengstacke; directors, A. Neppach, J. W. Morrow and O. Lyman. In addition to the other officers, some of the other stockholders are: Dr. Holt, C. Wilson, the C. A. Alisky Estate, H. C. Leonard, C. T. Ferry and Mrs. M. M. G. The two last named from Helena, Mont.

The present owners have operated the mine on a small scale every year and have netted a profit of $100,000 annually. The gross output one year was $284,000.

The principal product of the mine consists of a high-grade lead ore. It carries a heavy percentage of copper, about one-fourth of an ounce of gold, and 14 ounces of silver. The water is in former years the outcroppings of the vein near the surface produced gold in free-milling form.

The condition of the ore now produced permits its separation into two forms of concentrate—lead-silver and gold-copper. The mill reduces four tons of ore to one ton of concentrate. The lead product goes to the Tacoma smelter, and the copper to the smelter at Valley, Cal. These concentrates must be sacked and hauled by motor truck to Eugene, whence they are transported by rail.

Tailings May Be Worked Over. T. A. Berry, a well-known Seattle mining engineer, recently examined the property and arranged to take over the half interest for his clients in Seattle and Canada. He proposes to introduce the "flotation" system of milling the ore. It is probable that the tailings resulting from the operation of the free-milling days will be worked over. Many tons of this material now is lying on the dump.

One of the principal assets of the property is a valuable power site, from which is obtained the energy to operate the plant. The water is conducted through a flume, five miles in length, and dropped against a giant wheel, through which electricity is generated. Mr. Berry proposes to rebuild the flume and the electrical machinery.

The Lucky Boy property consists of about 14 patented claims in the center of a rich producing district. The Great Northern, the Treasure, the Blue Bird and other well-known mines are in the same general neighborhood. The territory is readily accessible for any railroad that wants to build into it. In fact both the Southern Pacific and the Oregon Electric have made preliminary surveys, but have displayed no further intention of doing any construction work.

A railroad line, it is believed, would do much to develop the mineral resources of that part of the state.

CLASS PLAY IS FEATURE

O. A. C. JUNIOR WEEK-END ACTIVITIES CLOSE TODAY. Governor and Mrs. Withycombe and Other Personages Guests at Junior Prom at Corvallis.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, CORVALLIS, MAY 6.—(Special.)—The junior class play, "The Clean-Up," of the junior week-end activities at the Oregon Agricultural College, took place last night with C. W. Meyers, of Portland, and Miss Ruth Spivey, of Corvallis, carrying the leading parts. The play this year, for the first time in several years, was written by a member of the junior class, Norval C. Carnie, of Chicago, having written the entire production.

Others who took leading parts in the cast were: Miss Ruby Ann Lawrence, of Monmouth; Miss Gladys Woodworth, of Portland; Paul T. von Schooley, of Santa Ana, Cal.; C. L. Meyers, of Portland, and Robert R. Reichart, of Corvallis.

This afternoon the freshman class burned the green caps which they have worn throughout the year. The event was marked with impressive ceremonies, conducted by the members of the sophomore class.

The junior prom, the leading social event of the season in college circles, was held tonight. Unusual simplicity marked the decorations and general arrangements for the ball. Flowers were forbidden. Guests of honor were Governor and Mrs. James Withycombe, President and Mrs. W. J. Kerr, President and Mrs. P. L. Campbell, of the University of Oregon; Regent and Mrs. N. R. Moore; Major and Mrs. U. G. MacAlexander and J. K. Weatherford, of the Board of Regents.

The patrons and patronesses were: Dean Mary E. Fawcett, Dean and Mrs. G. W. Peavy, Dean and Mrs. G. A. McLean, Dean and Mrs. H. M. Moore, Dean and Mrs. J. A. Huxell, Dean and Mrs. Zeiffler, Professor and Mrs. Grant, Professor and Mrs. Grant, Mrs. M. A. Kipper and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Stewart. Vesper services tomorrow morning, attended by the junior class body, will bring the activities to a close.

Paul E. Doty, of Pasadena, Cal., has served as manager of the week-end. Harlie A. Blackwell, of Juneau, Alaska, managed the prom. The production of the play was in charge of Frank Sutherland, of Honolulu.

MISS QUEEN IS CROWNED

LARGE GATHERING PARTICIPATES IN MONMOUTH FESTIVITIES. Miss Ethel Clayville, of Ashland, Is Given Honor Position and Given Work Is Shakespeare.

OREGON NORMAL COLLEGE, Monmouth, May 6.—(Special.)—A large gathering of spectators viewed the annual May-day festivities yesterday at the Oregon Normal School. Miss Ethel Clayville, of Ashland, was crowned Queen Elizabeth. Miss Clayville is a teacher from Ashland.

The appearance of good "Queen Beth" upon the scene was joyously welcomed. The throne was an elevated platform decorated with green leaves and fir boughs. Numerous girls in costume attendants sat around the queen, and Glen Work, representing William Shakespeare, occupied the throne with her. Dressed in typical old English costume, the class heralds added the Tudor touch.

The freshman-sophomore, junior and senior classes contended for the presidential cup. The class where this is governed, compels one class to win the cup two succeeding years before it becomes permanent property. Last year the score was tied between the junior and senior classes, while in 1914, the juniors won. As the rain prevented a number of spectators from carrying out the cup will not be awarded until the events are finished, which will be left over a week. The events which were left over are tennis, volleyball and baseball.

Some over-enthusiastic supporters of Dr. Daniel Grant are apparently determined he will deliver two addresses here, however, the probable dates being Tuesday night, May 16, and Wednesday night, May 17, at the coronation and primary election. One of these addresses will be held under the auspices of the Oregon Republican Club, which has already held meetings for Nicholas Murray Butler and Senator Burton, of Ohio, the latter also being a candidate for President.

OREGON POLITICAL GOSSIP

Senator Cummins to Speak Twice in Portland Next Week in Whirlwind Finish of Speaking Tour Through Western Oregon in Behalf of His Candidacy for President—Attempt Made to Inject War Issues Into Multnomah County Politics—More Candidates for Delegate Promise to Support National Woman Suffrage Platform Plank.

ALBERT B. CUMMINS, United States Senator from Iowa and candidate for the Republican nomination for President, will make two campaign addresses in Portland next week. These speeches will wind up a whirlwind speaking trip through Western Oregon by the Senator, who is scheduled to arrive in Portland from California next Thursday, May 11.

Announcement of Senator Cummins' campaign itinerary during the six days or a week in Eugene over the past week was made last night by George C. Howard, head of the Oregon Cummins-for-President committee here. On his way north from California next Thursday the Senator will make his first stop at Grants Pass. There he is to be met by the Oregon State Treasurer and chairman of the Cummins executive committee here.

After speaking at Grants Pass on Friday afternoon, Senator Cummins will return to Medford and make an address there that night. The next afternoon he is scheduled to speak at Roseburg, and to make a speech at Eugene in the evening. According to present arrangements he will remain in Eugene overnight. Though this part of the schedule is not definitely settled, it is probable that he will address students of the University of Oregon Friday, May 12, and from there go to Corvallis in the afternoon to address students at the Oregon Agricultural College. That night he will speak at Salem.

The exact date of Senator Cummins' arrival in Portland has not yet been determined. He will deliver two addresses here, however, the probable dates being Tuesday night, May 16, and Wednesday night, May 17, at the coronation and primary election. One of these addresses will be held under the auspices of the Oregon Republican Club, which has already held meetings for Nicholas Murray Butler and Senator Burton, of Ohio, the latter also being a candidate for President.

One of these addresses will be held under the auspices of the Oregon Republican Club, which has already held meetings for Nicholas Murray Butler and Senator Burton, of Ohio, the latter also being a candidate for President.

Hamilton Corbett, Candidate for Representative in Legislature From Multnomah County.

"I'm an old Iowan," was the reply. "Well," said the doorkeeper, "come on in, then." He was warming up a trifling, though not suspicious, went to be "discovered" by an old friend and former Iowan, who cried out in jolly recognition: "Hello, Tommie! I will labor here, Gentlemen, this is Sheriff Hurlburt." And the joke was on the doorkeeper, who hadn't recognized the Sheriff.

LA GRANDE, Or., May 6.—George Huntington Corbett, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative in the Legislature from Multnomah County, is running on the following platform: "Work for simplification of legislative procedure, efficient administration of state affairs, reduction of taxes, lower taxes, consolidation of related commissions, rural credits, protection of labor's rights, and a state highway program. I will labor to prevent any changes affecting the Oregon system or the prohibition law, or return to old conditions. State government is not politics; it is the people's business. I will, when in doubt, vote no."

Three "frank to say" candidates appeared in room 11 of the Central Library last night under the auspices of the Single Tax League. Carlton E. Spencer, candidate for Representative in the Legislature from Multnomah County, was the first to speak. He was not a single taxer, but he was a "frank to say" candidate for the lower house, as against later control of the legislature, was "frank to say" that he was ignorant on single tax. Dr. F. Cahalin, of LaGrande, Herbert Gordon, Harry L. Ideman, Franklin E. Gresham, Harry H. Harris, of Brooks, and A. H. Burton, candidates for the lower house. So many candidates were present and so few of the proletariat that the speaker began his address, "Fellow Candidates."

Mr. Corbett, like his grandfather, is opposed to waste or extravagance and inefficiency in any line of business, public or private. He is seeking the elimination of the "frank to say" forms and one of the shortest ballot slogans chosen by any candidate. His platform contains only 12 words.

Here is Mr. Corbett's platform: "Stand for reduction in taxation, with economy and efficiency in the administration of government." His ballot slogan reads "Reduction in taxation, with economy and efficiency in the administration of government."

Mr. Corbett says he is a staunch believer in the ultimate greatness of Portland and Oregon, and that he stands for sane laws and the development of the state.
