

HUMAN SUNDAY TO BE OBSERVED TODAY

"Be Kind to Animals" Week Will Be Brought to Close by Special Sermons.

EDUCATIONAL MOVE MADE

Portland Society Carries on Earnest Work to Increase Consideration and Mercy for Animals. Churches to Take Part.

Today is the day of the dog, pre-mising that the old adage, "Every dog has his day," must some time be literally fulfilled. Yet not alone is it dedicated to Towser and Rover and rollicking Rowdy, but to cart horses, and alley cats, and starving cattle, and the great white herons of the South, which are slain for the plumage of their motherhood.

It is called Humane Sunday throughout America, and concludes Be Kind to Animals week, an educational effort for mercy inaugurated by the American Humane Association.

Both the week and its concluding day are observed in Portland, through the earnest work of members of the Oregon Humane Society and the local branch. Mrs. Frank W. Swanton, chairman of the National Humane Educational Association for Oregon, and secretary of the Oregon Humane Society, has been actively interested in the distribution of propaganda and personal messages during the week.

Special Sermons to Be Given.

Many of Portland's churches today will hear the doctrine of charity, kindness and forbearance applied to the dumb beasts that can utter no plea of their own. Sermons will be delivered that have direct bearing upon the duty of merciful kindness man owes to the dumb friends in his service, as well as to all living things.

The Book is replete with passages that speak of mercy, and there is no lack of appropriate texts for Humane Sunday addresses.

"Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy" and "A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast; but the tender mercies of the wicked are cruel," and again, "All go unto one place; all are of the dust, and all turn to dust again."

To George T. Angell, who died several years ago, is due the respect and memory with which his life and accomplishments are regarded. Mr. Angell founded the American Humane Society, the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and the parent American Band of Mercy. Of all literature, his favorite book was that tender tribute to the horse, "Black Beauty."

Move Launched Before Schools.

In an address before the Boston public schools in 1885, Mr. Angell then launched upon his career of winning mercy for the helpless, directed the attention of the students to the beginning of the movement.

"The first law in the world to prevent cruelty to animals," Mr. Angell informed them, "we owe to an Irish member of the British Parliament."

"The celebrated Lord Erskine tried to get such a law, but scoffers made so much fun of him that he backed out and gave it up. Then came into the House of Commons, from Galway, on the west coast of Ireland, Richard Martin, an Irish gentleman, or, as the folks called him, Dick Martin, and he was noted for two things.

"First, he was very fond of animals; and, second, he was known to be very much inclined to fight anybody that he thought insulted him. So one day he brought in a law to protect animals. Immediately someone made a catcall.

Challenge Brings No Reply.

"He just stepped right out onto the floor of the House of Commons and said very gravely that he should be very much obliged for the name of the gentleman who had seen fit to insult him. There was dead silence.

"The gentleman didn't give his name, and Martin walked back to his seat amid the cheers of the House of Commons, and his law became the law of Great Britain and the first law of its kind in the world."

As for Be Kind to Animals week and Humane Sunday, and all crusades against man's inhumanity, the creed of the workers in found briefly in article 2 of the constitution of the Oregon Humane Society: "The object of this society is the prevention of cruelty to every living creature by all proper means, including humane education."

Mr. Angell's propaganda of widest appeal in the humane movement has proved to be "The Horse's Prayer," of anonymous authorship. Practically every newspaper in the country has printed and reprinted it, while ministers have quoted it from their pulpits, and public speakers have aroused their auditors with the strong appeal of sentiment and the supposititious plea contains.

Popular Prayer is Quoted.

It is here reproduced: To Thee, My Master, I Offer My Prayer: Feed me and take care of me. Be kind to me. Do not jerk the reins; do not whip me when going up hill.

Never strike, beat or kick me when I fall to understand what you mean, but give me a chance to understand you. Watch me, and if I refuse to do your bidding, say if there is not something wrong with my harness or feet.

Do not give me too heavy loads; never hitch me where water will drip on me, nor where I face the wind. Keep me well shod. Don't force me along the smooth, slippery streets, and when I fall, be patient and help me, as I will do my best to keep up and serve you. Examine my teeth when I fall to eat; I may have an ulcerated tooth. That, you know, is very painful. I am unable to tell you in words when I am sick; so watch me, and I will try and tell you by signs. I suffer pain like you, but cannot speak as you.

Let me sometimes; I enjoy it and I will learn to love you. Protect me in Summer from the hot sun. Keep a blanket on me in Winter weather, and never put a treat in my mouth, but hold it in your hand as I merit it.

I care you pull you, wait patiently for you look hours, day or night. I cannot tell when I am thirsty; give me clean, cool water often in hot weather.

Finally, when my strength is gone, instead of turning me over to a humane trust to be tortured and starved, take my life in the treatment of the City Commissioners. God will reward you in this life and your heaven. You will not consider me irreverent if I ask this in the name of Him who was born in a stable. Amen.

Yakima Druggists Tab Booze Sales.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., May 20.—(Special).—Druggists of North Yakima, in a conference with the City Commissioners yesterday, agreed to seal no beer; to sell substitutes for beer only on prescription; keep complete records of all sales of alcoholic and malt liquors by prescription or otherwise; and in case of application for alcohol for mechanical purposes, to send the applicants to the Chief of Police for a permit. No organization of druggists will be formed at this time, and enforcement of the agreement against all druggists who may violate it is left to the city authorities.

This Six-40 Seven-Passenger Chalmers—$1450 Detroit

$9,000,000 of these Six-40 Chalmers have been bought by persons who had intended paying $2,000 for a car

They took one look; were surprised a car of such size could be obtained for the money; drove around 10 miles in her—and bought.

They laid down the astonishingly small sum of $1450 plus the freight, and mentally noted a saving of $550.

For the men who are driving the Six-40 Chalmers today are the kind who have been thinking motor cars in terms of $2,000.

They have had more surprises than the price, too. They have found the Six-40 Chalmers to possess more room than any seven-passenger car of the day under $2500.

Most persons are pretty particular about room. I do not know just how to express the ROOM in this car.

Dimensions in inches do not tell the story. I simply spell the word in capital letters. Then you find later I have understated the case.

Surprise No. 3 that will stir your emotions is the great big subject of color options.

Now in these days when most cars resemble hearses in their soberness, or the "back drop" in a new musical comedy in their color excitement, here comes something refreshing.

You can get a Six-40 Chalmers in any of these colors:

Oriford maroon or Valentine green with hoods to match. Meteor blue with black hood.

Just think that over. And remember this is the only car under $2,000, so far as I have ever learned, that provides for you a color range like this.

Colors are getting just a little more important every day. I find most men, and particularly most women, have their own ideas about color—just like the decorations in a library or a living room.

Now there's one more big item about the Six-40 Chalmers. It's too bad I can't set that down as Surprise No. 4.

Some secrets cannot be kept. Nearly everyone knows what a fine beast she is on the road. She certainly can perform.

They know that her real name is Six-40 Performance Chalmers. She has a reputation on a hill like Caesar had with his armies.

She has a reputation for responsiveness that every traffic cop in America is well aware of.

She has, like a great baseball pitcher, "everything on the ball." She is good at low speeds, good at high speeds, good on the hill, good on the long march, good on the short haul.

She's a fine animal. As fine as any you'll ever run across in 10 parasangs.

I drive her myself. She's my preference. But the big thing, of course, is that men with clear minds and rare judgment have laid down $9,000,000 on her. If you are wise you'll never question success—a success like the Six-40 Chalmers.

Ask me about Chalmers service inspection coupons, negotiable at all Chalmers dealers everywhere. This system is a most important consideration in buying your car.

MRS. VAUGHN COMES

Series of Cooking Demonstrations Promised.

LECTURES WILL BE FREE

System to Be Different From That of Last Visit Consisting of Showing Preparation of Ration and Possible Variety.

Housewives, attention! A treat is in store.

Mrs. Kate Brew Vaughn, who gave a successful series of lectures last season in the Eleventh-Street Playhouse, is coming to Portland again.

In the week beginning May 29 Mrs. Vaughn will give a series of six lectures in the same theater.

She isn't an ordinary cooking teacher or demonstrator. Those who heard Mrs. Vaughn last year declared her "a wonder." She tells housewives how to combine intellectuality and cooking and get pleasure out of the work.

stutes a balanced ration she will prepare three balanced meals—breakfast on Monday, luncheon on Tuesday and dinner on Wednesday. Then Thursday, Friday and Saturday she will devote the time to explaining how, in many particulars, these menus may be varied without departing from the essentials of a daily ration that is properly balanced.

Mrs. Vaughn makes much of the thought that Bostonians lead in intellect and that they have given much thought to the question of better foods, so much, in fact, that they are now in a position to give less thought and labor to the actual cooking of meals and have more leisure for intellectual pursuits. While Mrs. Vaughn does dwell on the intellectual side of cooking and aims to show women how it is quite worth while to put much thought into this important matter, still her work is eminently practical. It appeals to the women who are interested in better foods and better homes for their families, and she knows how to show discouraged housewives how to bring about this desired result and how to get more satisfaction and better results out of their housekeeping efforts.

PIONEER REUNION JUNE 22

Big Attendance Is Expected at Gathering in Portland.

The 44th annual reunion of the Oregon Pioneer Association will take place in this city on June 22. The annual meeting of the Grand Encampment of Indian War Veterans will be on the preceding day. The pioneers will gather in the Masonic Temple at 2:30 and the banquet will be served in the Armory, as usual.

Members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Oregon Pioneer Association, Mrs. J. W. Cook, chairman, will meet at the Portland Hotel Tuesday afternoon to make the necessary arrangements for the annual banquet.

SANDY ROAD IS CLOSED

Approach to Columbia Highway Being Paved.

Because of paving operations now under way on Sandy boulevard from East Seventy-second street to East Eighty-second street, the street will be closed to traffic today. Automobiles going to Columbia River Highway will be obliged to pass this part of the street by way of Fremont street to East Eighty-second street.

Paving on the Sandy boulevard is being rushed by the Oregon Independent Paving Company. This is now the only unpaved part of the city streets leading up to the Columbia River Highway.

FREEDOM SHORT-LIVED

JAMES KELLY WALKS OUT OF JAIL, BUT IS RECAPTURED.

Craving for Opium and Opportunity to Escape After Consultation With Defender Are Blamed.

James Kelly, petty criminal with a long record, escaped from the City Jail yesterday, to be recaptured in Vancouver two hours afterward. Kelly's cause for opium is held to be the impulse that prompted the escape, as well as the means of his second apprehension.

Kelly was in consultation with Public Defender Dave Robinson, in the cell corridor adjoining the Municipal Courtroom. After the conversation was closed, Mr. Robinson left the corridor, having seen that Kelly stepped back into the prisoner's box.

The craving for drug and the opportunity were too much for the captive. He left the cell and entered the morals courtroom, finding further exit through a window in the air shaft. Crossing the air shaft, Kelly found an open window to the dormitory of engine company 21, and walked out through the fire station. Firemen who saw him supposed that he had been at work there.
