

OREGON TO HAVE VOICE IN BIENNIAL CONVENTION TO OPEN IN NEW YORK CITY MAY 23, TO DISCUSS TOPICS

Mrs. Charles H. Castner, President of State Association, Goes With Party of Northwestern Delegates to Big Gathering of Women of United States That Will Be Featured by Special Conferences of Workers.

Left to Right, Top Row—Mrs. Thomas J. Vivian, Mrs. Ralph Troutman, Mrs. Edward Balbach, Mrs. A. M. Palmer, Mrs. Corneilus Zabriske, Mrs. John Francis Yawger, Mrs. Thomas Slack, Mrs. Walter S. Gentry, Middle Row—Mrs. Eugene J. Grant, Mrs. Philip Carpenter, Mrs. Tod Helmuth, Mrs. William Grant Brown, Mrs. Belle de Rivers, Mrs. Mary Garrett Hay, Mrs. Florence Guernsey, Front Row—Mrs. North McKenna, Mrs. Albert Canfield Page, Mrs. John H. Greebel and Mrs. William Blawie.

The eyes of the clubwomen of all the country are turned toward New York. The general federation convention will open on May 23, and without doubt will be the largest gathering of clubwomen ever held in the United States. Portland will have representatives at the big convention.

The plans for the biennial have been completed after many months of hard work on the part of the New York local board. They have spared no time, expense or energy in arranging for the pleasure of those who will visit the metropolis as delegates or alternates to the convention.

ALTHOUGH so far away from the center of club interest, Oregon has its share in the big biennial gathering in New York city. Fourteen splendid clubwomen will represent Oregon at the convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs which will convene on May 23 in the metropolis.

Oregon's president, Mrs. Charles H. Castner, went with the party of Northwestern delegates that left here on Wednesday. She will share in the honors that have been prepared for the distinguished visitors.

The question of eligibility to the General Federation is an important one, which is also to be duly considered at the council meeting. The clause in the by-laws dealing with "sectarian or political" tests is variously interpreted, and it is thought by many that it should be more explicit. Reorganization and other important subjects will be discussed at the council meeting, and it will doubtless be more largely attended than ever before.

There will be special conferences during the entire convention, from May 23 to June 1.

Mrs. James W. Remick, of New Hampshire will hold a conference with the state chairman, industrial and social conditions on Wednesday, May 24, at 2:30, at Hotel Astor. The following afternoon there will be a joint conference of the home economics and industrial and social conditions departments in room 7, Seventh Regiment armory, the subject to be considered being "Domestic Service Problems."

On Monday afternoon, May 29, an address will be delivered by Alexander Johnson, field secretary of the committee on provision for the feeble-minded, on "The Weakest Children of the Great Mother State." On May 31, at the regular morning session, following the report of the chairman, Mrs. Remick, the Hon. Thomas Mott Osborne, of New York will discuss "Prison Management." In the afternoon of the same day will occur the industrial and social conditions conference, and in the evening, Mrs. Frank P. Walsh, of Kansas City, former chairman of the Federal Industrial Commission, and Hon. John D. Edson, dean of the University of Missouri Law School, will speak on "Industrial Facts."

These talks will be followed by a discussion by eminent men and women, and by additional talks on "Immigration," by Miss Mary Antin, "Americanization of Women," by Miss Frances Kellor, of New York; "The Work of the South Oregon Village Improvement Association," by Thomas F. Edson, of New Jersey; "Social Service Conference of North Carolina," by Mrs. Thomas W. Single, president of the North Carolina state committee on Social Education in Texas," by Mrs. W. B. Sharp, of that state; "Prison Labor," by Dr. E. Stagg Whitin, chairman executive committee, national committee on prison and prison labor, and "Child Labor," by Dr. Edward N. Closser, secretary National child labor committee.

Mrs. Pennybacker has asked all state federation presidents to request their delegates to pay special attention to delegates from Alaska, Cuba and the countries overseas.

Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the President of the United States, will be the guest of honor at the opening session of the biennial, Wednesday evening, May 24.

The Marchioness of Aberdeen and Temair, president of the International Council of Women, will attend the biennial, accompanied by her friends, W. E. Sanford, of Hamilton, Ontario, the treasurer of the same organization.

Presidents of state federations who are to speak at the session of Friday evening, May 26, will be introduced in the order of the following questions: "What has your state done during the last two years?"

First—To summon youth to service? Second—To improve rural life, especially to establish school mannes in connection with country schools? Third—To Americanize the immigrant?

Fourth—To observe the Nation-wide baby week.

On the same evening Mrs. Dimles T. S. Denison, honorary president of the general federation, will deliver an address on "What State Presidents' March Has Meant Through Successive Years."

The closing evening of the New York biennial, June 1, will be devoted to a consideration of the subject: "What Religion Has Done for the World," by three eminent men of differing creeds, as follows: Dr. Stephen S. Wise, rabbi of the Free Synagogue, New York city; Rev. Charles E. Jefferson, D.D., of Broadway Tabernacle, New York city, and Father John L. Belfiore, of the Church of the Nativity, Brooklyn.

Among notable names appearing on the programme of the biennial are Governor Charles S. Whitman, of New York; Hon. John Furroy Mitchell, mayor of the city of New York; Hon.

David R. Houston, Secretary of Agriculture; Miss Julia C. Lathrop, head of the Federal children's bureau; Dr. Thomas Mott Osborne, former warden of Sing Sing Prison; Professor William Wirt, of Indiana, famous for educational reform; Mrs. Josephine C. Preston, Superintendent of Public Instruction of the state of Washington; Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the American Woman Suffrage Association; Dr. Katherine Bement Davis, head of the New York City Parole Commission; Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, former president of the National Council of Women; Miss Mabel T. Boardman, of Red Cross fame; Hon. Dudley Field Malone, Collector of the port of New York; Dr. Carl L. Alsberg, chief of the bureau of chemistry, Washington, D. C.; Lawrence Vellier, president of the National Housing Association; J. Horace McFarland, president American Civic Association, besides a host of literary, musical and other lights.

Oregon Daughters of the American Revolution and all patriotic Oregonians will be interested in the monument that will be placed at Multnomah Falls by the members of Multnomah Chapter. A bronze tablet, dedicated to the pioneers of the state, will be embedded in a huge boulder.

At the recent meeting of the chapter at the home of Mrs. W. E. Newson a report of this was given by Mrs. O. M. Aab. Mrs. C. S. Jackson reported on progress toward making Washington's birthday a school holiday. Mrs. J. P. Gibson, of Vancouver, gave a short talk, and Mrs. Scott Boszarth spoke on "Oregon Indians and Their Legends."

Skilfully Mrs. Boszarth wove the threads of history and legend. She told of the Chinooks, the hazy tribes of Wat-lan-las, Wak-l-a-kums, Calapooyas and Clackamas, the Umpquias, Tillamooks and others.
