

PORTLAND, OREGON, MAY 28, 1916.

The Out-Doors Girl

Glimpses of Some of the "Sports" Costumes Demanded by an Active Season.

Striped Stockings and Flaring Skirts Are Characteristic Phases of the Latest Bathing Costumes.

SHE is everywhere, the outdoors girl, yet always a type. The outdoors girl loves outdoors for its own sake. She loves all that goes with it—bathing, boating, golf, tennis, walking, riding, driving. For each of these activities she insists upon special clothes, and her choice of these contributes to the picturesqueness and to the surprises of the season. Her bathing clothes follow a distinctly fashionable line. "Sports" clothes were never so gay in color, and for the afternoon or evening assembly wherever it may be, sheer fashion has free play in the most romantic variety of hats that ever has been visible at one time. On this page are several types of newer costumes, and a typical summer hat. Tennis, by the way, is once more declared to have found a great revival, though it had never lost its charm for a considerable proportion of outdoor girls.

With the latest revival has come many charming variations in the sports-dress idea.

Charming Type of Summer Hat.

One of the New "Sports" Suits.

A Smart Bathing and Canoeing Suit.