The badges for 1916 are ready to be issued, and pioneers in the city and vicinity are requested to call on the secretary, George H. Himes, at the rooms of the Oregon Historical Society, Tourny building, 207 Second street, as early as possible in order to be accommodated quickly and thus avoid the rush in the last few hours before the meeting begins.

The attendance in 1915 was 1000, ranging from 56 to 98 years, the average of all being 71. The indications are that as large a number will be present at the reunion next week.

AMOS UNDERWOOD TO ATTEND

Pioneer of 1852, Living in Washington, to Be at Reunion.

HOOD RIVER, Or., June 17.—(Special.)—Perhaps no Northwestern pioneer is looking forward more eagerly to the annual convention of the Oregon Pioneer Association and Indian War Veterans', to be held in Portland next week, than Amos Underwood, of Underwood, Wash. Although Mr. Underwood will celebrate his 82d birthday December 10, next, he was here yesterday on business unaccompanied. He walks with a firm tread, body upstanding, and his eyes sparkle when he engages in conversation.

Mr. Underwood was born in Cincinnati, O. He crossed the plains in 1852. In 1855 he engaged in the Cayuse Indian war in the Walla Walla community. He was a member of the guard that killed the notorious chief, Peu Peu Mox Mox.

Mr. Underwood in 1856 had arrived at the Cascades, on the way west to Portland, a few days before the Cascade massacre.

Colored Porter in Grief Again.

John L. Hill, a colored porter, was arrested by City Detectives Goltz and Howell yesterday. He is wanted in Seattle on a burglary charge. Hill is a paroled convict from Walla Walla, where he was sent to serve a sentence of from one to 15 years for burglary. In his fall from grace he is said to have robbed the room of a fellow porter in Seattle.

CLEVER MAN DOES OREGON BIG SERVICE

High-Class Lecture Bureau to Film Highway Scenes and Show Them Widely.

FRIENDLY PLOT SUCCEEDS

Great Northern Advertising Agent Induces Traveling Photographer to Make the Trip and Visitor Is Enthralled.

Pictures of the Columbia River Highway now are to be shown in every important city of the country by the Lyman H. Howe travel bureau, which exhibits high-class educational films exclusively.

Joseph DeFrenes, traveling photographer for the Howe service, has been in Portland and vicinity for the last few days. He is under the guiding wing of W. R. Mills, advertising agent for the Great Northern Railway at St. Paul.

Mr. DeFrenes came out here to look the country over in a general sort of a way. He had heard something about the Columbia River Highway, but it never occurred to him that it would offer fit material for the Howe service.

But Mr. Mills all the time had the definite object of getting the highway into the Howe pictures. When the pair arrived in Portland a few days ago, Mr. Mills hunted up Samuel C. Lancaster, creator of the highway.

Trip Is Suggested.

"Mr. DeFrenes would like to see some of the sights," suggested Mr. Mills, with a sly wink toward Mr. Lancaster.

"So he shall," consented the engineer. They piled into an automobile, and soon were speeding over the asphaltic roads toward Crown Point.

Then they dropped down over the loops and gasolined past the series of waterfalls, gorges and other natural wonders that have made the highway famous.

When they got to Multnomah Falls Mr. DeFrenes could contain himself no longer.

"Say, Bob," he exploded, "why didn't you tell me about this? Why there are all kinds of pictures here."

"Well, I rather thought you might be interested," dryly admitted the foxy Mr. Mills, trying to repress a smile.

Advertising Will Result.

Result: Mr DeFrenes is arranging to take about 600 feet of highway pictures for use in the Howe exhibitions during the coming season. Consequently the fame of the great scenic road will be spread far and wide, and without a cent of expense to the people of Multnomah County. The Howe pictures are shown every year before more than 6,000,000 people in the United States. They are presented in about 1200 cities and towns.

Mr. DeFrenes is one of the leading motion-picture photographers in the world. He took the coronation of King George, in London, and the Durbar at Delhi, India, a few years ago. He has traveled in every portion of the civilized world and in some portions that are not civilized.

"The Columbia River Highway is the biggest scenic road in the United States," he enthusiastically declared yesterday. "The only thing that I know of that can be compared with it is the Victoria road in British South Africa."

Story Is Lecture Material.

Mr. DeFrenes was much impressed with the story of the Columbia River Highway as related to him by Mr. Mills and Mr. Lancaster. The splendid self-sacrifice manifested by George Shepherd, who gave to the people the land embracing Shepherd's Dell, and the wonderful public spirit displayed by John B. Yeon, S. Benson, Samuel Hill and others who have labored for the success of the highway, have given Mr. DeFrenes an abundance of interesting material to be used in the lectures that accompany some of the picture exhibitions.

"The only thing that I can imagine to make this great work complete," he commented, "is a first-class tourist hotel somewhere along the route. Travelers would delight to remain at such a hotel for several days at a time, so that they might explore the natural beauties of the Highway's environments more intimately."

Mr. Mills, whose business it is to observe the needs and the desires of travelers, agreed with him on this point. What has aided substantially in establishing the success of Glacier National Park, explained Mr. Mills, is the convenience of its hotels, coupled with the charm of its natural wonders.

"The Great Northern is advertising the Columbia River Highway extensively," said Mr. Mills. "The Highway will be a great factor in building up this community, and what helps Portland helps the Great Northern."

BEARS AT LARGE IN PARK

Surveyors in Benson Grounds Report Seing Bruins Twice.

Beware of bears in Benson Park! Survey parties running out the lines of the park reported yesterday to Park Superintendent Convill that during the past week they have run across bears on two different occasions. The report was made by John W. Peters.

Both bears were black. One was only about 50 yards away. "Tell children they had better not be in the park after dark," said Mr. Convill yesterday.

DR. DRAKE IS ELECTED

rected to proceed immediately to count their ballots when the polls closed at 8 o'clock, and the result of the election was made known early last night.

MacNaughton Carries West Side.

This accounts in part for the heavier vote cast. Dr. Drake and his friends also made an active campaign in his behalf and secured many votes for their candidate.

Mr. MacNaughton carried the West Side, but was swamped on the East Side. In the 15 West Side precincts, from school precinct 1 to 15 inclusive, MacNaughton polled 750 votes to 585 for Dr. Drake.

The West Side votes for Mrs. Blumauer was 388 and Mr. Ballin polled 120 votes.

The 34 East Side precincts gave Dr. Drake a plurality over Mr. MacNaughton of 1913 votes. He received 3989 East Side votes, MacNaughton 1746, Mrs. Blumauer 543 and Ballin 209.

Count Is Rapid.

School Clerk Thomas had arranged so well for a rapid count that unofficial returns from all but one of the 49 school precincts were complete by 10 o'clock, two hours after the polls closed.

The missing precinct was the Lownsdale School, where David M. Dunne was judge. Colonel Dunne, who has been in politics most of his life, unwittingly messed up the count by sending in the envelope supposed to contain a resume of the vote with nothing inside of it.

For three-quarters of an hour efforts to get Colonel Dunne by telephone were unavailing. Finally one of the clerks of the election board was roused out of bed. He supplied the missing figures.
