

IDAHO DEMOCRATS HAVE NO TICKET YET

Candidates Are Waiting for Governor to Announce Before Filing Names.

MOOSE LEADER IS IN FOLD

$12,000 Fee Demanded for Prosecution of Treasury Fraud Just as State Expects to Get Its Money From Bondsmen.

BOISE, Idaho, July 29.—(Special.)—Without a candidate placed in nomination up to today and with but six more days in which to make their filings for Congressional or state office, the Democratic party in Idaho will have to do some hustling during the next week to complete its ticket.

There are a number of aspirants, but they have been holding back, awaiting the filing of Governor Alexander. They are reluctant to get into the running unless the Governor definitely settles the question as to whether or not he is to be a candidate.

There has been trouble brewing within the Democratic party ever since the fight that broke out at the Pocatello convention over the re-election of Robert H. Elder, National committee chairman of the Democratic National Committee, against Mr. Elder and State Chairman Pence, of Boise, who are held responsible for the lack of candidates.

The charge is that these two are concerned only over complete control of the distribution of Federal patronage. This is undoubtedly true.

Moose Leader for Hughes.

The entrance of D. W. Smith, Prosecuting Attorney of Bannock County, into the race at the Republican primaries, as a candidate for Attorney General, attracted interest among Republicans this week. Until his filing the race was supposed to be between Mr. J. Sweeney, of Twin Falls; C. A. Sunderlin, of Burley, and possibly Guy Martin, of Sandpoint.

The leading Progressive of Northern Idaho, Guy Martin, four years ago the Progressive party standard-bearer, as a candidate for Governor, has gone over into the Republican party in the Hughes procession. In a statement given out for publication he says:

I shall support Mr. Hughes for President in the coming campaign, and I will support with the Progressive party in 1912 and having been its candidate for Governor in that year and having supported the party since that time, I feel that it is only fair that I should announce publicly what my attitude will be in the coming campaign.

I believe Justice Hughes is the best man the Republicans could nominate. His work as Governor of New York has been pursued with an entire singleness of purpose, that is, to give to the people of New York a fearless and honest administration, as his chief executive could give it. He has an entire faith in his integrity and ability, and firmly believes that if he is elected, he will, as President, display the same executive ability that he displayed as Governor of the state of New York, viz.: Great ability, prompt decision and firm, steady adherence to his judgment, when formed.

Wilson Policy Condemned.

I believe that President Wilson is honest and sincere, but his policy in Mexico and his dealings with other nations has been of such a character that he has brought the United States into disrepute and dishonor.

It will require years to overcome his mistakes and to give the Nation the standing it once had with foreign nations. This cannot be done with a continuance of Mr. Wilson's policies in dealing with other nations. It can only be accomplished by a fair, just treatment of foreign nations and rights of subjects wherever they may be found.

Some Progressives are supporting Wilson, some may vote a third ticket, but it seems to me, entirely without criticism of the course which every Progressive may feel bound to pursue, that the duty of every Progressive is to support Mr. Hughes.

Questions of domestic policies must necessarily be left for later determination, but upon these I am clear that Hughes stands for substantially every policy which the Progressives have adopted, and I feel sure that no Progressive will ever have cause to regret that he supported Mr. Hughes.

$12,000 Fee Is Asked.

Just when the state had reason to believe that the settlement with the National Surety Company to cover the shortage in the treasury department had been reached, the filing of a lien against the judgment of $145,264.30, secured in the Third Judicial District for Ada County, was made by T. C. Coffin, special assistant Attorney-General, to obtain the payment of $12,000 attorney fees and $300.05 expenses of the trial, alleged due him.

Not for some time has there been such a stir over the treasury controversy as it had been created by the filing of the lien. This is especially true as it had been supposed Mr. Coffin, as assistant to the Attorney-General, would obtain such fee as he thought he was entitled to from the appropriation for the Attorney-General made by the Legislature two years ago.

HOOD WANTS BETTER ROAD

City and County Officials Will Cooperate on New Plan.

HOOD RIVER, Or., July 29.—(Special.)—An impromptu meeting of local road enthusiasts from both city and valley, with Amos S. Benson and J. B. Yeon Thursday night has started agitation that may lead to a revolution of the handling of road work in Hood River County. According to the new plan, it is proposed to make a county road district of the city of Hood River and thus secure closer co-operation between city and county officials in the construction of good roads.

SCHOOL TURMOIL LASTS

Differences at Roseburg Being Fought Out in Newspapers.

ROSEBURG, Or., July 29.—(Special.)—The Roseburg schools are now in a sort of an eruption as the result of the action of the School Board in refusing to retain Rev. C. H. Cleaves as an instructor in the High School. Action was taken by the board several weeks ago, when three of their number voted in favor of rescinding Rev. Cleaves' contract with the district. Two members of the board voted to retain him. In a recent issue of the local newspapers City Superintendent Hamlin published a three-column article, in which he purported to give the reasons why Mr. Cleaves was ousted. The next night's newspapers carried two-column articles over the signature of Mr. Cleaves, in which he branded many of Mr. Hamlin's charges as false. Petitions signed by about 60 per cent of the voters of the school district have been filed with the board, asking for Mr. Cleaves' reinstatement.

HEAD OF JEWELERS' ASSOCIATION NATIVE OREGONIAN.

Charles H. Morris, of Dallas, DALLAS, Or., July 29.—(Special.)—Charles H. Morris, newly elected president of the Oregon Retail Jewelers' Association, is a resident of Dallas, where he has resided and continuously followed the jeweler's trade since 1893. This election came rather as a surprise to Mr. Morris, as he was compelled to travel away from the recent convention in Albany and therefore was not present when elected.

Mr. Morris is a native Oregonian, having lived in Polk and Marion counties all his life. He was born on a farm near Turner, in Marion County, March 24, 1867. In 1887 he started in Salem to learn the jeweler's trade.

If this can be done Mr. Cleaves will probably be reinstated.

GIFTS FOR GUARDS HELD UP

Men in New Mexico and Arizona Fail to Get Presents.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., July 29.—At a meeting of chaplains of the Regular Army and National Guard organizations stationed along the border in Arizona and New Mexico, held here today, a discussion is said to have revealed the fact that tons of supplies sent by friends of National Guardsmen to the various organizations in which they are interested have failed to reach the guardsmen. Instead of being distributed, as they should, dainties, extra clothing and other comforts intended to make border duty more pleasant for the men were said to be stored in warehouses, doing no good to the men.

BILLY SUNDAY HEEDS CALL

Noted Evangelist to Aid Temperance in British Columbia.

HOOD RIVER, Or., July 29.—(Special.)—Billy Sunday, the noted evangelist, has agreed to visit Hood River and aid the temperance cause in British Columbia. The decision came as a result of a visit from a Victoria delegation here Thursday.

According to the present plans of Mr. Sunday, the evangelist will leave here next week for a short tour to Portland, Seattle, Victoria and Vancouver. Mr. Sunday, in addition to his temperance lecture in Portland, probably will address the Portland Ad Club. The temperance talk, Mr. Sunday thinks, will be given at the White Temple.

"But according to our ideas," says Mrs. Sunday, "the place is rather small."

SAINTS' REUNION PLANNED

Seattle and British Columbia Mormons Will Meet in Centralia.

CENTRALIA, Wash., July 29.—(Special.)—The Latter Day Saints of the Seattle and British Columbia district will hold their annual reunion here August 4 to 14. Local committees are busy arranging the details of the reunion. The district convention of the Sunday school and Religio-Literary Society will be held on the opening day of the convention and the district conference the following day.

The Centralia, Chehalis and Seattle choirs will give special music. Elder Mrs. Johnson is president of the district.

UMATILLA DISPUTE ARISES

Stanfield District Boundary Request Brings Opposition.

PENDLETON, Or., July 29.—(Special.)—The meeting of the Umatilla County Boundary Board on Thursday promises to be the scene of a lively controversy. It is reported that Stanfield will petition the board to have about seven sections of land added to their district from the southern parts of the Columbia and Hermiston districts. The Columbia and Hermiston districts, it is understood, will remonstrate against the move.

The Stanfield people say that the territory in dispute is tributary to Stanfield and that the children in that territory should be able to attend school in the Stanfield district.

Honor Guard to Elect.

For the purpose of electing officers and transacting other important business, the Girls' National Honor Guard will meet next Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the Central Library Hall. A large representation of members is desired.

Wheeler Cannery Gets Ready.

WHEELER, Or., July 29.—(Special.)—The big co-operative cannery at this place has steamed up and is manufacturing ice this week in readiness for the opening of the fish season, next Tuesday. Indications are good for a big run of salmon in Nehalem Bay.

BIG FETE PLANNED FOR CAIRN FUND

Seaside to Have Gay Event to Raise Money for Lewis and Clark Monument.

EARLY PLANS PROMISING

Celebration Will Be Held on Hotel Moore Grounds—Rock Mound Left by Explorers Will Be Well Marked.

SEASIDE, Or., July 29.—(Special.)—That the relics of the oldest remaining traces of white man's handiwork in the great Oregon country, now only a few crater-like mounds of rocks—the recently-unearthed salt cairn constructed by the Lewis and Clark expedition in 1805 just prior to the departure from Seaside on the long trail eastward—shall be fittingly preserved and marked by a permanent monument, was the most ardent wish of the explorers and plans perfected for creating a permanent fund by means of which the pretty park in which the salt cairn is located may be further improved and maintained.

The meeting, held at the Hotel Moore, was enthusiastic and in every way reflected the interest in the forthcoming celebration of August 19.

Aims Are Explained.

I. N. Fleischer, president of the association, addressed the full membership of the official board in explaining the aims for the creation of a permanent fund. Mrs. Dan J. Moore, vice-president of the association, and one of the most ardent workers for the movement for preservation of the cairn where the explorers collected and refined the salt for their long return journey, had seen to it that nothing had been left undone in the preliminary plans, and the result was that the meeting found itself prepared to go ahead with vigor toward making the fete even a greater success than the first open-air celebration of last year.

This year's fete, like that of last year, will be held on the grounds of the Hotel Moore, which will be enclosed with canvas and booths where will be flower girls, pretty candy sellers, gaily-decked fortune-tellers and all sorts of places whereby those inclined to spend for the benefit of the monument fund may find opportunity. There will be a musical programme with a short address by two, not enough to take away from the carnival spirit, and dancing in a big pavilion which is to be built adjoining the boardwalk.

COMMITTEES ARE SELECTED.

The list of committees is not yet complete but among those so far invited to participate are:

Finance—Mrs. C. Foster, chairman; Mrs. W. H. Patterson, Mrs. Harry Mayer.

Advertising—Judge C. H. Procter, chairman.

Arrangements—Alexander Gilbert, Sr., A. Labbe, Dan J. Moore, J. H. Smith, Dr. R. G. Moss, E. L. Thompson, Candy—Mrs. Agnes Glenn, Mrs. Alice Benson Beach, Mrs. F. Van Deren, Mrs. C. A. Van Marter, Mrs. Hayek, Mrs. Cleary, Mrs. Miss Tillamook, Mrs. Concessions—Dr. F. Van Deren, Dr. Van Dusen.

CHAMBER OFFICER CHOSEN

W. L. Morris, Newspaper Man, to Be Secretary at Aberdeen.

ABERDEEN, Wash., July 29.—(Special.)—The appointment of W. L. Morris, a former Seattle, Spokane and Wenatchee newspaper man, as secretary of the Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce was announced recently by President T. B. Bruener, who also gives notice that the Chamber of Commerce will soon establish permanent headquarters.

The establishment of permanent offices for the chamber is favored by Mr. Bruener and endorsed by business men generally and needs only the sanction of the executive committee, and this is practically assured.

15 COMMITTEES CHOSEN

ASSISTANTS FOR MARSHFIELD JUBILEE WILLING TO WORK.

Main Body Has Hands Full, So Divided Arrangements for Big Fete of August 24-26.

MARSHFIELD, Or., July 29.—(Special.)—The Marshfield Railroad Jubilee committee, consisting of Tom T. Bennett, W. A. Reid and Arthur K. Peck, has named its aides for the comfort and pleasure of the visitors who will come to Coos Bay August 24, 25 and 26.

The trio who were appointed to handle the amusements and general arrangements found they had a huge affair on their hands and called in willing men to help them. There are many minor committees, however, that will have but little work, but members who comprise bodies like the accommodation and information bureau, decoration, reception, concessions and similar committees, will have their hands full and running over. The list of those who will contribute their efforts to the success of the jubilee in 15 committees are:

Advertising—James Montgomery, G. W. Kaufman, Ridar Bugge, Jack Guyton, Auto parade—J. S. Lyons, I. R. Tower, George Goodrum.

Local products—J. T. McCormac, R. M.

JOHN F. PILLMAN

BRITON SAYS HUGHES WINS

Cambridge University Historian Scores European Tariffs.

ROSEBURG, Or., July 29.—(Special.)—That President Wilson stands little, if any, chance of being re-elected this Fall, was the assertion made here the other day by Dr. Ian C. Hannah, historian of Cambridge University, England, who is now on route to Japan for a two months' visit. Dr. Hannah stopped off in Roseburg to pass a few days visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brand, of the Overland Orchards.

"President Wilson's Mexican policy has been absolutely without force," said Dr. Hannah, "and I predict that even Texas will go for Charles Hughes at the next election."

Dr. Hannah confessed to being an out-and-out free trader, and scored the complicated tariffs of the European countries as being responsible for endless trouble.

COLLEGE BUILDING ROAD

Sidewalks to Connect Section of Campus Also Are Ordered.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, July 29.—(Special.)—More than half a mile of 18 and 20-foot gravel and macadam road is being laid on the college campus during the summer vacation. The new road has the effect of bringing the west quarter of the campus more closely into unity with the lower section.

A cement sidewalk involving practically the entire length of the road has been authorized. The new roads and walks also involve the grading of the ground in front of the new buildings and in the center of the western quadrangle.

The work is being carried on under the direction of Professor G. V. Skelton and his staff.

WHEELER PLANS BANQUET

Business Men of Nehalem District to Be Feted Tomorrow Night.

WHEELER, Or., July 29.—(Special.)—The business men of Wheeler have arranged arrangements for their big banquet Monday night. While the meeting is in part a celebration of the advanced progress of the north jetty construction, the last leg of the $650,000 improvement at the mouth of Nehalem Bay, yet the main object is to encourage a get-together spirit among all the business men of the entire Nehalem valley, that they may profit best by the growth and development now rapidly coming to the Nehalem Bay district.

Leading citizens of Brighton, Nehalem, Mohler and Tillamook will be guests of the Wheeler business men.
