FILINGS FOR OFFICE IN WASHINGTON 124

Second Choice Votes Will Be Necessary for Several Republican Posts.

FEES AMOUNT TO $5285

Mrs. John B. Allen, Elderly Woman, Candidate for United States Senatorship in Spite of Protests of Her Family.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—Filings for the state primary election on September 12 closed at 4 o'clock today with sufficient Republicans listed for United States Senator, Representative in Congress of the First, Fourth and Fifth districts, Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Superintendent of Public Instruction and State Treasurer to invoke second choice voting for these officers.

The Democrats failed to find candidates for State Auditor, Land Commissioner and Attorney-General. Progressives this year offer only six candidates for nomination to state offices and the Socialists are not represented in the state primary ticket through failure to poll a 10 per cent vote in the last election.

Candidates Number 124.

This year's filing by candidates for nomination with the Secretary of State numbers 124, including Senatorial and judicial districts which include more than one county. The Secretary of State collected a total of $5285 in fees, which ranged from $2 to $75 in individual amounts. Edward Parker, of Naches, filed once by mail and once by telegraph, remitting $75 each time in order to make certain that his candidacy for Representative in Congress from the Fourth District would not be omitted.

An unusual feature of the primary preliminaries was the filing as a Republican for United States Senator of Mrs. John B. Allen, of Seattle, whose late husband was territorial delegate in 1888, and one of the state's first United States Senators, serving from 1889 to 1893. Mrs. Allen is elderly and failing in health and is entering politics over the united objection of her family in an effort to win the office once filled by her husband. She telegraphed the filing fee of $75 in order to make certain that her filing would be legally qualified before the time expired.

W. V. Tanner, Attorney-General, and Clark V. Savidge, Land Commissioner, have opposition for renomination on the primary ticket. Eight Republicans are contesting the nomination for Governor and Governor Lister has one opponent. No second choice voting is required on any Democratic nomination. A fourth Republican filing for Superintendent of Public Instruction was made today to force a second choice vote, in opposition to the incumbent, Mrs. Josephine C. Preston.

EX-CHIEF JUSTICE FEARS BOSS RULE

Political Pirates Declared to Be Plotting to Gain Control in Idaho.

WARNING GIVEN VOTERS

James F. Ailshie Says Big Business Proposes to Place Henchmen in Every State Office and to Reign at Legislature.

BOISE, Idaho, Aug. 12.—(Special.)—Hints that political pirates and commercial bandits seek to control not only state offices, but are tenaciously trying to fasten their grip on the next Legislature of Idaho have aroused widespread curiosity lately.

The primary election campaign in Idaho is in full sway. On September 5 the voters of this state will express their preferences at the polls for party candidates.

The warning of James F. Ailshie, ex-Chief Justice of the Supreme Court two and four years ago a candidate for United States Senator, in an interview, has aroused a great deal of interest in political circles here and over the state. He said:

"If the voters of Idaho do not arouse themselves and take a lively part in politics and in the primary election to arrest the hands of political pirates and commercial bandits, they will wake up next Winter to find a Legislature and a Governor in the State Capitol at Boise ready to do the bidding of these mercenaries. This menace should be impressed on the minds of the voters by disinterested citizens—by men and women who are not candidates for office.

Big Business Is Accused.

"I have been in Idaho over 25 years and I believe I am safe in saying that at no time in the history of the state has there been such a concentrated effort on the part of big business and corporations, foreign and domestic, to control certain offices, especially the Legislature, as is being put forth at this time and at no time have the people been, to all appearances, less alert to the situation.

"The high tide of what has been derisively styled 'agitation' and 'reform' seems to be subsiding and while that is transpiring, the gum-shoe agents, 'special representatives' and salaried attorneys of these interests dominated by greed who want legislation that will give legal sanction to their loot, want to control public offices and name appointees from among their retainers—all these are now busy getting candidates out for office.

Voters Need to Be Warned.

"I know something of conditions in Idaho and I feel that every voter in the state ought to be urged to take an active interest in the nomination of candidates, especially for the Legislature and Governor, and, if after the primaries are over, they find that they have not cleared the ticket of all the machine and corporation candidates, that they finish the job at the general election, irrespective of the political party to which the candidate may belong.

"Idaho has suffered irreparably in reputation and commercial welfare alike during recent years on account of being dominated by machine politics that most people feel has been the source of corruption in her public business and offices. This has been the condition in state politics and unfortunately it has reached into a number of the counties as well. If men buy their way into office it stands to reason that they are going to be reimbursed from some source."

Governor Race Thrilling.

The primary campaign has been conducted by both of the old parties in a quiet, peaceful manner without issues of any great importance having been raised.

While there is a decidedly interesting fight on for Representative in Congress and for a number of offices on the state ticket, the Republican Gubernatorial contest is by far the most interesting. George E. Crum, of Lewiston, and Herman H. Taylor will divide the vote in the eight Northern Idaho counties. D. W. Davis and Captain E. G. Davis will divide the vote in the south. D. W. Davis will probably poll a greater vote than Captain Davis in the north. Captain Davis expects to break into the southeastern counties with large majorities. D. W. Davis, will, however, carry Power, Bannock and some of the large counties there.

Captain Davis has made a non-factional fight, declaring his independence of the machine bosses and has attacked statewide transactions. D. W. Davis has championed a plan to turn some of the state's resources into money and lower taxes. Mr. Crum has argued for a business administration. Mr. Taylor has declared for safeguards around the land and other state departments and greater economy in the administration of state affairs.

North Wants Representative.

In the Congressional race Addison T. Smith, candidate to succeed himself, is safe. He will be renominated. The contest is for the second seat held by Robert M. McCracken. Besides Mr. McCracken, Burton L. French, ex-Representative, and E. E. Elliott, State Senator from Bonner County, are contestants. Strong argument is being made to give Northern Idaho one of the Representatives. Both are now from the south. This may operate against Mr. McCracken.

The situation in the Democratic party is not so difficult to figure out. There are but two real contests on. They are for Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary of State. James H. Frazier, of Couer d'Alene, and Ernest L. Parker, of Cottonwood, seek the nomination for Lieutenant-Governor. For Secretary of State William T. Dougherty and Joseph Hansen are candidates.

The Women's party has turned its attention to this state, figuring it a ripe field for converts to its cause—the proposed Federal amendment. Mrs. Albert C. Muhee and Jane Pincue have been delegated by that party as the vanguard to carry on the work of the cause in Idaho. They have established their headquarters in Boise and districted the state.

ELKS ARE AWAITED

Hoquiam Puts on Gay Dress to Welcome Convention.

3000 VISITORS EXPECTED

Seafood Dinner on Beach and Dance on Paved Street Are to Be Big Features of Social Programme Widely Varied.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—Final details of the preparations for entertaining the 1916 convention of the Washington State Elks' Reunion Association here Thursday, Friday and Saturday have been completed and already the city is beginning to take on a holiday air. The city is partially decorated for the event and people generally are putting their best foot forward to greet the visitors.

Work of decorating the city began in earnest the middle of this week and tonight the work is well along. The streets by Thursday morning will be gay with purple and white and red, white and blue bunting and flags and evergreens. The business houses are being decorated and everything will be spic and span for the visitors.

Reservations for rooms received by the local committee and reports on the size of Hoquiam clubs formed in the various lodges which are members of the association indicate the attendance will be close to 3000, including Elks and their wives. It is reported the attendance of women at this convention will be far larger than at any former convention.

Quick Registration Planned.

Arrangements have been made for registering the visitors as soon as they arrive. Special trains will be met at the Union passenger station, where they will be parked and the delegations will be piloted to the Elks' Home and to the Public Library, across the street from the Elks' building. The Elks will be registered at the home and the women at the Library and rooms will be assigned at once. As soon as the visitors have gotten settled the convention's entertainment will begin.

Those coming by auto will be directed to Herrman's Athletic Field, and the autos will be parked there. Provision has been made for a checking system, which will provide thorough care of the visitors' machines, and for mechanics to care for them as well. Indications are that some 400 visiting machines will be in the city during the convention.

Thursday, the first day of the convention, will be a full one for the visitors, but not as busy as the second and third days. One of the features of Friday will be a programme of water sports on the Hoquiam River, which will include timber falling by championship teams, and various water events and races, as well as a band concert over the water.

Street Dance Arranged.

Both Friday and Saturday nights street dancing is to be held on the pavement for two blocks on Sixth street. The pavement is in excellent condition and will be treated until it makes an excellent dancing floor. Music will be furnished by bands.

The women's committee is making every provision to provide entertainment for the visiting women during the day time. In addition to the street dancing in the evening there will be afternoon functions, auto trips, etc.

Arrangements for the seafood dinner at Pacific Beach Saturday afternoon are completed. This promises to be the largest affair of the kind ever held on Grays Harbor, and it is expected dinner, the features of which will be sea foods, will be served to more than 3000 persons.

Although the convention proper will end Saturday evening, it is expected the larger percentage of those who come by auto will remain over for the next day and will take the drive to Lake Quinault over the Olympia Highway. The visitors will be accompanied by many Hoquiam machines.

PETRIFIED HEAD IS CURIO

Albany Woman Finds Rare Fossil on Ocean Beach.

ALBANY, Or., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—The petrified head of a seal is owned by Mrs. Jennie Brown Carnine, of this city. It is said to be one of the most perfect specimens of this kind in existence and a very rare curio.

Mrs. Carnine found it more than 20 years ago on the beach near the entrance to Yaquina Bay. She was far out on the beach at extreme low tide one morning when she saw the edge of the head, which was imbedded in some rocks in which rock oysters were growing.

Professor Thomas Condon, veteran geologist at the University of Oregon, who is now deceased, was at the beach at the time and told Mrs. Carnine that she had found a very rare specimen.

GREAT PARK AREA GIVEN

GOVERNMENT ALLOWS USE OF COOS HEAD BY TWO CITIES.

Marshfield and North Bend Will Beautify 200-Acre Tract Which Fronts Ocean for Two Miles.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—The passage of the bill in Congress authorizing the cities of Marshfield and North Bend to utilize the Coos Head government reserve for park purposes is the result of three years' work by J. W. Bennett, Dr. I. B. Bartle and C. I. Reigard, and the authority provides the cities with an area of wonderful possibilities.

The Government has given almost absolute control of the 200 acres comprising the reserve into the hands of the cities, and provides for a park commission of three members, two from Marshfield and one from North Bend.

The only modification of power imposed upon the commissioners is that their control shall not interfere in any manner with Government establishments. The reserve lies between Coos Head and the Arago lighthouse, a distance of two miles, being a narrow strip which skirts the bluffs overlooking the entrance to the bay, where the new coast guard station is situated.

The district is rugged in most localities and grown up with salal brush in great abundance. The main plan will be to open roads from the county highway which skirts the reserve to the bluffs overlooking the bay. The first improvements will be provided for in 1917.

Improved Land Drops in Value.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 10.—(Special.)—Unimproved Oregon farm lands have an average value of $45 an acre this year, a gain of $2 an acre in four years, according to advance estimates of the United States Census Bureau received today by O. P. Hoff, State Labor Commissioner. The Federal report places the average value of improved Oregon farm lands this year at $70 an acre, a decrease of $5 an acre in four years. Oregon's strawberry acreage is placed at 2276 for 1916 by Commissioner Hoff.

How Thin People Can Put on Flesh

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Let the scales be the judge. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay-there" fat may be the net result. Sargol aims to charge weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—to give the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food, to prepare it for the blood in an easily assimilated form. Thin people tell how they have gained all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol and say that the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a careful combination of six of the best assimilative elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and all good druggists in this vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in every large package.—Adv.
