

SPEAKER STARTS
CAMPBELL CAMPAIGN

Champ Clark Makes Plea
Praising President and Democratic Party.

REVIEW MADE OF RECORD

Mr. Hughes' Speeches Criticized.
Administration Is Lauded for What Mr. Clark Calls Its
"Discharge of Duty."

BRUNSWICK, Me., Aug. 19.—Champ Clark, speaker of the House of Representatives, opened the campaign in Maine for the Democrats today in a characteristic speech in which he told of the accomplishments of the Administration in Congress under the leadership of President Wilson. He also took note of the campaign tour Charles E. Hughes is making in behalf of his candidacy for the Presidency. Mr. Hughes, he said, has not made enough speeches to enable people to form judgment as to his opinions on current issues, and the speaker's opinion, "he has shot his bolt, but failed to hit the bullseye."

Mr. Clark said, in part: "Judge Hughes has made enough speeches in this campaign to enable intelligent persons to form something approximating a correct judgment as to his opinions on current issues. He has shot his bolt, but has failed to hit the bullseye."

Speech of 1908 Recalled.
"It was universally conceded by both friend and foe that his speech at Youngstown, O., in 1908, was far and away the greatest Republican speech made that year. Comparing his speeches since he was nominated for President with his strong Youngstown speech, one is forced inevitably to one of two conclusions: "First, that his pen and tongue have lost their cunning measurably; or second, that he has no longer the courage to urge against Democratic accomplishments or to propose as Republican policies, should Republicans by some miracle win the House, the Senate and the Presidency."

Speeches Called "Carplings."
"His speeches may not be unfairly summed up as 'querulous carplings' at the splendid record of a Democratic Congress and Democratic administration. Here and there out of a vast multitude of things he finds a few of minor character which he seems unsatisfied to him, which, even if wrong, have no more to do with the tremendous problems with which a mighty people are wrestling than have the potato vines of Aroostook County, Maine, to do with the majestic flow of the Mississippi River."

Appointments Are Defended.
"It is not within the power of Judge Hughes, nor any other complaining orator, to veto the appointments of Durand any more than he can make a National issue of who fired the Ephraim Dome, or who was the man in the Iron mask. "He says that he is in favor of 'undiluted Americanism.' So are we all, God be praised! He is not peculiar in that respect. The vast mass of the American people are in favor of it. We are too busy working at what the Germans denominated 'the bread and butter sciences' to make elaborate speeches railing the 'undiluted Americanism' but the average American citizen—and, after all, the average American citizen constitutes the strength and glory of the republic—is as patriotic as Charles Evans Hughes, Woodrow Wilson or any other big wig in the land. He is not more than one American citizen, native born or naturalized, in 100, who would fail the country should the supreme test come."

Some Mistakes Admitted.
"Perhaps President Wilson has made some mistakes. Perhaps the Democratic Congress has made some mistakes. But there never was a President or Congress that did not make mistakes and there never was a President or Congress that did not make mistakes because we are all human. "Justice Hughes is hunting for spots on the Democratic administration and the Democratic Congress. But the people realize that we have the most unbounded prosperity that has blessed the land since Christ was born. We have discovered America and that notwithstanding the ancient and chronic sneer of the Republicans that we possess no power, no constructive ideas, no energy, we have in three and a half years placed upon the statute books more constructive legislation than the Republicans did in 29 years, which should have been passed four decades ago. They are likely to conclude that it is enough alone and to continue the Democrats in power."

Feats Are Reviewed.
Speaker Clark here enumerated "some of the things we have done," with the remark "I will not speak louder than words." His list included the tariff bill with its new income tax features, national reserve bank act, anti-trust law, Alaskan trades commission, rural credits and good roads bill and the Constitutional amendment authorizing election of United States Senators by popular vote. "What has been done for the defense of the country and for the laboring man also were referred to, and in closing the speaker said: "The people seem to have absolute confidence in the pilot of the ship of state, Woodrow Wilson, and are not likely to drop him overboard in mid-ocean while the storm whips the waters into fury."

"He did his duty; the Democratic House did its duty; the Democratic Senate did its duty, and the word 'duty' is the sublimest word in our vernacular. We submit that we deserve well of the republic—all of us. "Record Called Wonderful. "Having discharged our duty and been faithful to our trust so far, the people will assume that we will do our duty and be faithful even unto the end. "It is written, by their works ye shall know them. Men are measured more by what they do than by what they say. We rest our case upon the things we have accomplished as an earnest of what we will accomplish if continued in power. "Ours is a magnificent, a wonderful record, which anybody save a stark idiot can easily and successfully defend. Upon that unexcelled record we confidently appeal to the grand inquest of the Nation in the impending campaign."

Niece of Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt, Who Shocked Newport Society by Running Away With Chauffeur, Sport-Lover.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Mrs. "Jack" Geraghty, after several years out West, has returned to Newport for the summer season. Mrs. Geraghty is a niece of Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt. She was formerly Miss Julia French, and gave society quite a shock several years ago when she eloped with "Jack" Geraghty, then a Newport chauffeur. The Geraghtys live in Minneapolis and they have not been in Newport for some time. This photo was taken at the dog show of the Rhode Island Kennel Club at Newport, R. I. She is shown with her dog, Great Horned Lark. Mrs. Geraghty goes in for all kinds of sport and is an excellent horsewoman and her kennels are the talk of Newport. Mrs. Geraghty has not taken any role in society here or in the West since her elopement. She is now in Newport, where she is familiarly known, probably will be welcomed here among her own circle of friends and relatives. Minneapolis society folk have entertained very little for the Geraghtys.

INVISIBLE RULE HAS FOE

those elected by the people, but by appointing of elected officers who represent the competence, the intelligence and the talent of the Nation. We are entitled to that. "In his address to the business men of San Francisco at the Commercial Club, Mr. Hughes spoke in part as follows: "We come to a constructive period, a difficult period, a period in which America must look to her feet with greater confidence in the soundness of our life than she has hitherto had. We have had an abundant surgery. Nobody can live by surgery alone, however necessary it may be. "We have got to have hygienic treatment. The system of the patient must be built up by abundant exercise, by fresh air and abundant nutrition. I am glad to think that we are already for that forward movement and now I think we can be sure that we can control monopolistic parties, and that we can prevent unjust discrimination. We can secure a square deal and yet we can foster enterprise, build up and not destroy, encourage and not foster, and make the honorable man of business feel that he has a free rein to an honest success. "Correct Principles First. "If we cannot so judge the United States then our future is a troublesome one and we will fail as great nations of the past have failed. We are but a young people. We are only an experiment. Nations several times our age have perished and left but scant memories. We have, as I say, a difficult system of government. It requires constant attention and constant study on the part of those who know. The man who knows is the man I want to talk to about every department of life. "I do not believe it is necessary to prostitute public business in order to have the government of the electorates. I think that is a great mistake. What we need in this country, as I have said, is, first, to have correct principles. For use in modeling the silica is placed in tubs of water until it is soft. It is then moulded into the desired shapes and allowed to dry. Eugene sculptors have found that it dries without cracking and has an even surface. "Turks Killed in Mesopotamia. "LONDON, Aug. 19.—Renewal of fighting in Mesopotamia, in which the British were engaged with Turkish irregulars, is reported in an official statement given out here today. The statement says 60 of the Turkish irregulars were killed and that a large number were wounded by the British."

principle—as a principle which, of course, must be carefully and prudently applied. We must have the idea of protecting American enterprises against the competition of other nations existing under their protection on a different basis in respect to wages and standards of living from what we have. We must not be afraid of perfect cooperation. "Haphazard Role Criticized. "Everywhere along the line from this time on we have to consider, not what such one can do in a haphazard way, but what is the best way to do things to achieve things in the future. For example, the practice is only comparatively recent of keeping properly the items of stock, so that you can get from the manufacturer the real cost sheet. How many realize now what can be done and how improvements can be made? "I have talked with many along that line, and I believe, without doing you any wrong, that we are unorganized. I want to see a great deal that we have yet to learn in this country in order that we may hold our own with the better-organized nations abroad. "We have work to do yet in this country. We are loose; we are disjointed, and we are unorganized. I want to see fair co-operation on a proper basis with such supervision as is necessary to prevent abuses, in order that we can go forward and advance our foreign trade throughout the world. "Security for Business Needed. "The fact that we have the state supreme in its sphere and the Nation where the two intertwine the Federal power must be regarded as the dominant power does not mean that we should not have those accommodations which will prevent certainty and security in all those business activities that come in contact with the Government where the interest is local. "There should be opportunity for it to be heard where the interest is local. Where the interest is National there must be the opportunity for it to be heard. If we have a district or territory or area in which there is doubt there should be opportunity for such to be heard and a proper tribunal by which, as administrative matter, the question can be determined, and leave no twilight zone—no place of uncertainty in which business can fall in disrepute and come under a cloud of doubt. "I maintain that wherever we have the Government represented in regulation and supervision, it must be a regulation and supervision that is really expert and squares with the facts of the case."

business life. There is no conflict between the public right and what is right for the individual when properly understood. The danger comes in when we have ineptness and fear of apprehension and a desire to please this one or that one instead of squarely facing the facts and relying upon the common sense of justice."

MR. HUGHES GETS MEMENTO
Lincoln Campaign Badge Presented by Albert Abraham.

ROSEBURG, Or., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—After leaving Roseburg Thursday on his speaking tour Charles E. Hughes, candidate for President, was given a memento by Attorney Albert Abraham of this city, which he doubtless will appreciate the rest of his life. Mr. Abraham was instrumental in placing the ex-Justice's name on the Oregon ballot at the recent primaries. He accompanied the candidate as far south as Roseburg. During a conversation in the private car Mr. Abraham learned that Mr. Hughes is a great admirer of Abraham Lincoln. Having a very rare campaign badge used during Mr. Lincoln's first run for President, which had been in Mr. Abraham's family many years, he offered to present it to the candidate. It was accepted with great appreciation. Mr. Abraham also was thanked for his work previous to the primaries.

VETO QUIETLY ACCEPTED

CHAIRMAN HAY WILL NOT FIGHT NEW ARMY MEASURE.

Objection to Article Not Inspired by General Alnsworth or Any One Else, Says Representative.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Prospects of a Congressional row over President Wilson's veto of the Army appropriation bill were glimmering today and the attitude of Chairman Hay, of the House military committee, was one of acquiescence toward passing the bill with such a revision of the articles of war as the President and the War Department say is necessary. Mr. Hay, it became known, will not oppose the bill when it comes back from the Senate containing the new articles of war, but not the exemption of retired officers, which caused the President to veto the bill. Chairman Hay, who will retire from Congress next month, to take a place on the Court of Claims, today denied that his objection to the exemption article was inspired by ex-Adjutant-General Alnsworth or any other retired officer. The Representative himself identified the officer whose name has been used in this connection as General Alnsworth. "Chairman Hay said his advocacy of the exemption article resulted from instances of injustice to retired officers he had observed."

China Protests at Sending 2000 Troops to Mongolia.

Pekin Government Learns of Army En Route and Says Trouble Was Caused by Fear of Bandit Raids; Tokio Offers Aid.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—China has protested to Japan, it was learned here today, against the sending of 2000 troops to Cheng Chingling, in Eastern Mongolia, because of recent disturbances there resulting in a clash between Chinese and Japanese troops. "The whole situation was discussed Friday by the Japanese Cabinet, which announced its attitude depended upon the attitude and co-operation of China. The Chinese Legation officials said today they did not expect any serious developments, though the racial hostility between the two lower classes in that section makes such occurrences dangerous. "It was recalled that the trouble in Nanking in 1913 and just outside Peking once later were satisfactorily adjusted after diplomatic negotiations. State Department diplomats have not been officially advised of the situation, but are deeply interested in its possible eventualities."

WAGON CRUSHES YOUTH

OREGON CITY, Or., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—George Proctor, 23, son of W. A. Proctor, Republican nominee for County Commissioner in the Cottrell district, was killed today when his wagon passed over his neck as it was descending a steep grade with a heavy load of wood. No one saw the accident, but the team was found dithered farther down the hill, and the body of young Proctor was picked up by the roadside by another teamster. "Young Proctor had a contract for woodhauling to Cottrell. It is presumed that the wagon struck a rock or stump and Mr. Proctor was knocked off the load. His father is a prominent farmer. The boy was not married."

Proctor, Republican nominee for County Commissioner in the Cottrell district, was killed today when his wagon passed over his neck as it was descending a steep grade with a heavy load of wood. No one saw the accident, but the team was found dithered farther down the hill, and the body of young Proctor was picked up by the roadside by another teamster. "Young Proctor had a contract for woodhauling to Cottrell. It is presumed that the wagon struck a rock or stump and Mr. Proctor was knocked off the load. His father is a prominent farmer. The boy was not married."
