

OPINIONS TO BE CARRIED INTO COOS

"Business Is Good," Is Motto Heading Itinerary of Business Men's Trip.

TRAIN DE LUXE IS PROVIDED

Portland Products to Be Used on Dinners—Party Leaves Tomorrow Night and Cities Preparing Special Entertainment.

"Business is good," is the motto that heads the itinerary of the Coos Bay excursion of the business men of Portland...

The train that is to carry the party to be in every detail the finest excursion train that has run out of Portland in many years.

Allan Pollock, of San Francisco, general superintendent of the dining-car service for the Southern Pacific, came to Portland yesterday morning in conference with J. M. Scott and M. E. Smead all forenoon on the details which are to make the service on the train in the Coos excursion, the finest possible.

Portland Supplies to Be Used. Mr. Pollock promised that, insofar as possible, the supplies on the diners will be obtained from Portland firms.

E. A. Kirby, inspector of dining-car service, has been detailed to take charge of the two diners on the trip, and he will arrive here Monday to complete the equipment and supplying of the cars.

Reservations closed yesterday, and today and tomorrow morning will be devoted to final assignment of the participants in the excursion to their berths on the train.

Special entertainment for the visitors is being prepared at each of the cities which will be visited in Coos County. Roughly the itinerary is outlined as follows:

Monday, October 9—Leave Union Depot via Southern Pacific at 7:30 P. M. Opportunity to be acquainted on the train during evening.

Tuesday, October 10—Reedport and Gardiner on Winchester Bay, at the mouth of the Umpqua River. These are the two principal cities on the coast between Winchester Bay and Coos Bay.

Wednesday, October 11—Marshfield in the morning. Noon, a great manufacturing center and port.

Thursday, October 12—Powers, big logging camp. Myrtle, big dairy center of the upper Coquille Valley. Coquille, county seat, agricultural center of the lower Coquille Valley by boat. "Bandon by the Sea," the port and manufacturing city of the Coquille Valley and one of the largest cities in Coos County.

Saturday, October 14—Cushman, Florence, Glenada, Madras, North, Veneta and return to Portland.

Veneta, in Willamette Valley. These communities, except Veneta, are on the Siuslaw River and harbor, including its ports, where various products are marketed, and the trading centers of some of the big timber and logging country in the West. Veneta is a lumber and agriculture center west of Eugene, in the Willamette Valley.

WILSON ATTACKS HUGHES

(Continued From First Page.) Harder than they did in the direction of the party's program for progress, so that I can testify that back of me as a leader of the party there is an organized, enthusiastic and determined team that is ready to do team work and obey every signal.

"On the other hand, what have we? Men of every sort and every variety of purpose. I will not say united, but associated for an avowed object. More interesting than that and more ominous than that, shot through with every form of bitterness, every ugly form of hate, every debased purpose of revenge and every covert desire to recover secret power, a party made up like the occupants of the ancient cave of Adullam, of everybody discontented and insurgent against existing circumstances, and therefore not very happy in conference with one another.

"What would happen if the Republican party should succeed on the seventh of November? If I were a leader of that party I would be afraid to get elected. I would know that nothing but futile and disappointment awaited me. Because the only distinct definitions of purpose come from the collateral branches of the family.

"One branch of the collateral branch to which I have just referred, backed as a candidate for the United States Senate in the state of New York a man whose avowed position in respect to international affairs was unneutral and whose intention was to promote the interests of one side in the present war in Europe. Therefore, we are warranted in believing that if the Republican party should succeed, one very large branch of it would insist upon its leader has insisted upon—a complete reversal of policy, and that reversal of policy can only be a reversal from peace to war, if they do not engage in such a reversal of policy, they may expect war in their own ranks.

"Those volatile and vociferous insurgent forces which have so long rendered the life of Republicans almost impossible would certainly begin a new insurrection. There would be no raids upon Republican majorities such as their territories and assets seem constantly exposed to and it would be impossible to make a breach as would lead to utter confusion in the councils of the Nation, because there are other elements in that party which would naturally move in the opposite direction, whose sympathies and intentions are in the sharpest contrast with those that I have mentioned.

"And then, back of all, quiet, self-confident, knowing the game better than any other, the organization and control of the Republican party in their own possession—the old guard—the men who, at any rate, were in the place to find. They are always in the same place. They always intend the same thing, they always make the same move. I was about to say ideals, but I will not misuse a handsome word—the same conception of what politics is for and how to make it work, as I have quoted, 'exactly what they want'.

"Old Guard" Control Charged. "These gentlemen were in control of the last Republican convention at Chicago. Their gentlemen made all the choices that were made at that convention.

"Amidst the confusions of counsel they will be the only ones who can concert action and the only ones who will know how to carry it through. Now we know the alliances of these gentlemen, we know that they intend nothing but control to their own advantage and that the people of the United States, when they intervene in their affairs, are regarded as guilty of impertinence.

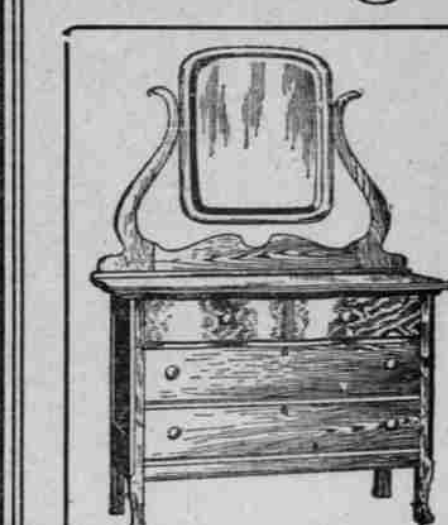

"I have not been far from these gentlemen, have known them since they were going to do every time there was anything to do, and I have known their purpose—whether they realized it or not—was to have control for the maintenance and aggrandizement of certain special interests. The United States has now to choose whether it will have a government for the people or a government for the special interests. The mask is off; it always was transparent. They want possession of the Government. They want control of the Treasury of the United States. They want the direction of the business of the United States, when they want the termination of the foreign conditions and policies of the United States. They want possession of the legislation of the United States, in order that the comfortable partnerships, four years ago broken up, may be restored.

Combination Held Slainster. "It is one of the most sinister combinations that American politics ever saw, and I may add, one of the least intelligent. There are various ways in which to corrupt a man's will and control his action. One very interesting way used to be to see to it that he did not get any credit if he did not take orders. I am not speaking by way of general conjecture.

"I have seen men ruined in this state of New Jersey, deprived of their livelihood by being deprived of their credit. When they had perfectly good assets, when they had as much right to live and to trade as any man, they suddenly found their notes would not be renewed, and when they applied at other banks from those in which they had formerly dealt they found that they would not take their notes.

"So it seems to me that the independent voter has a perfectly plain proposition before him. Does he want to discontinue the liberal and peaceful policies of the present Administration and substitute in their stead the probably hostile, the probably warlike and the inevitably reactionary policies of the opposition? A great deal of ingenuity has been expended in obscuring the issues of the campaign. It is a matter of congratulation to me that there are so many independent voters in the United States. I am a Democrat with a little 'D' and a big 'D' and I am a Progressive with a little 'P' but I don't care in the least for any party that does not lend itself to the actual generous progress of the Nation. And I would not wish to see the Democratic party re-elected upon any standpoint when it turned away from these purposes and objects.

Five High School Boys Start for South America.

NONE REACH DESTINATION

Four Go as Far as Astoria, but Are Dissuaded From Taking Steamer, as They Had Planned—Tender Goodby Spoils Plans.

Five high school boys, sons of prominent families of the city, whose ages range from 15 to 18 years, impelled by a love of adventure and spurred to seek away from these purposes and objects, their fortunes, planned to go to San Francisco on the steamer Breakwater leaving the city Friday evening, and thence work their way to South America. There, in their day dreams, they saw rich opportunities awaiting them.

The boys were Hubert Hall, son of John Hall, 822 Lovelock street; Robert T. Sheppard, son of R. L. Sheppard, 640 Ravenson Drive; Dan Malarky, 470 North of Dan J. Malarky, Hill Crest Drive; Carl Jackson, son of Carl H. Jackson, 1155 Thurman street, and Bruce Bailey, son of Dr. A. B. Bailey, 174 Franklin street.

Because one of the boys made an engagement with his sweetheart to tell her good-by Friday noon, parents of the group learned of the plan and nipped it in the bud. Four of the boys got as far as Astoria on the train. They returned home yesterday morning, however, having been dissuaded from adventuring farther.

The group of boys is prominent at Lincoln High School, and its members are often seen at the Multnomah Club. Being lads of considerable spirit, they found school days tiring, and they plan to seek their fortunes in South America. The boys have been studying Spanish so as to be able to speak the language of the country upon their arrival in the south.

It was through the planned good-by to the sweetheart that the plan was frustrated. She chanced to remark early on Friday that she had an appointment at noon to say farewell to a certain young man who was going to South America. One who had heard the remark happened to meet the lad's father a little later, and said he had just learned that the son was off for South America that day. The father became very much interested and made it a special order of business to be at the rendezvous when the young man came to say good-by. That boy did not leave town.

PERMIT ORDER RAPPED

WAPINITIA COMPANY AGENT SAYS REVOCATION HURTS PROJECT.

View of Corporation Commissioner Is Not Understood from Step Taken Following Accounting Suit.

"Corporation Commissioner Schullerman in exercising very peculiar power in the revocation of the permit of the Wapinitia Irrigation Company, because of a private suit between E. E. Miller and Joseph R. Keop, which merely calls for an accounting between those individuals," said N. G. Hedlin, fiscal agent for the company, in a statement issued yesterday.

"The irrigation company is not a party to the suit," he continued, "and it is difficult to get the Commissioner's view in the matter. Mr. Schullerman is quoted as saying that the permit revocation cannot injure the company. As well say that a bank ordered to keep its money in its vault could still do business without injury.

"This drastic act cannot but injure us. It has already. To keep a large force of men, teams and engines in the field requires money continually, which we cannot secure if we are not allowed to sell bonds.

"No one knows how long it will take for Mr. Keop and Mr. Miller to thresh out their differences by slow legal machinery, yet a $1,000,000 corporation must be stopped."
