

"GRIP" FISHBOL DAYS BRIGHTENED BY STUDENT AFFAIRS

Hours Away From Classes Filled With Many Happenings of Interest to Parents, Teachers and Pupils.

Washington Boys in Move for Clean Talk and Habits

Campaign Started by James A. Whitmore, High School Y. M. C. A. Secretary—Seniors to Produce "Merely Mary Ann"—News of Various Societies.

By EUGENE KELTY. AN ASSEMBLY was held on Monday morning, and Mr. Herdman opened it by announcing that, although he did not approve of Monday morning assemblies as a rule, he considered that this one was justified by its importance.

Monday evening some of the representative students of Washington High were entertained by the student body at a dinner at the Y. M. C. A. Those present were Mr. Whitmore, Frank Normandin, president of the student body, William Groat, business manager of the Washington High School Chamber of Commerce, Hubert Barzee, George Black, John Clifford, Whitaker, Roach Kenefick, Cecil Angle, Donald Bates, Albert Lane, Al Coombs, Robert Vial, Russell Patterson, Albert Black, John Patterson, Albert Witt, Kenneth Ross, Wayne Loder, and George Graves. Mr. Whitmore urged that a high school should endeavor to promote clean sports, clean speech, and clean thoughts.

The senior class play has been decided on at last, after many disputes and after the rejection of many plays. The play will be "Merely Mary Ann." The class has obtained the play from Bengier & Gordon of New York. The royalties are rather heavy, but the play is such a good one that the seniors have decided to adopt it. When "Merely Mary Ann" is produced in Portland it received much praise from all. Don T. Orput, who has successfully coached other school plays, will coach this one, and all the students expect that the play will be a good one.

The Phrenodian play, which was given Tuesday afternoon in the assembly hall, was a success. The play was "Trouble at Satterlee's." It is clever and amusing. The cast consisted of Janet Daniels, Elizabeth Singleton, Nell Richmond, Mable Black, Elaine Oberg, Irene Reynolds, and Josephine Irwin. Good credit is due likewise to Miriam Hilton, Elizabeth London, Alice Hollman and Don T. Orput, the coach. The orchestra played.

The Zetas of Jefferson entertained the Phrenos of Washington on Thursday, October 26. Dancing followed the programme.

The girls' tennis tournament, which has just been completed, was won by Von Sella Smith. Miss Smith is a good player and plays in the tournaments on the public playgrounds.

The Washington High School Chamber of Commerce officers will print some pamphlets in which they wish to do so may find out what the Chamber of Commerce has done and what it plans to do. These pamphlets will be ready in a few days and present history and future plans of this organization.

The Nekahni Literary Society held its new member programme on Wednesday. The programme was as follows: "The Hawaiian Islands," a play by Eva Lang, Ruth Lang and Edythe Fink, a character sketch by Mable Black, music by Moana Lou Wallis, a Hawaiian guitar, and Grace Squires on a ukulele, piano solos by Alice Gohlke and Marcelle Whitmore. Miriam Hilton gave the critics's report.

The June graduating class has chosen its colors, which are to be wisteria and gold. The poet for the June class is Marguerite Partim. The class pin has also been chosen.

The Edelweiss, or German Society, has reorganized, and all the members look forward to a good time. The officers elected were Antonia Leist, president; Mildred Fenmore, vice-president; Lilian Gohlke, treasurer; Harriet Shoemaker, secretary; Sigrid Fetterson, editor, and Lloyd Denman, sergeant-at-arms. The society will meet every other Tuesday. The society is organized in order that all students of German may learn to speak the language more fluently, and still derive pleasure from it.

An assembly was held Thursday morning for the purpose of getting a little more school spirit into the students. Frank Normandin, president of the student body, was the first speaker. He urged that the school should help a team that was fighting for all it was worth to win a game if the members of the team thought that there was someone who cared watching the game. He told how the yelling of the school helped, and how it put spirit into the boys of the team. The next speaker was Lyman Cooley, the school yell leader. He told us that we must not only support the school by coming to the games, but we must cheer further, and learn all the school yells. If, at a game, no one except the yell leader knows the yells, the school can't make much noise. He asked all to attend the rally assemblies each noon. The assembly was closed by the giving of two yells.

On Wednesday the first number of the Lens was issued.

James John High School

BY LOILA MURPHY. IN THE 20-minute period Monday, an assembly was called in the auditorium. Principal W. T. Fletcher announced that Mr. Fleeter, secretary of those who desire to join the orchestra to report at once. Mr. Fleeter wished to know whether the members of the orchestra and the school would rather receive school, or honor, credit. There will be a hygiene class for the second-term girls. Gymnasium hygiene will be compulsory and will entitle students to credit. Principal Fletcher stated that no student taking hygiene work in gymnasium could attend night school except in cases when permission is received from him. He explained that the reason for not allowing students to attend both day and night school was that they would not have time to prepare their work properly. Just as physical activities, such as football, basketball, etc., need time and judicious training, so do the mental faculties. "We cannot do our best work if we do not have the proper time to devote to it," he said. Delbert Day explained that the purpose of the meeting was to nominate a yell leader. Three boys were nominated, but because two were not eligible, the council decided to have a try-out during the period. They tried out and Harry Tieling was elected.

Clifton Crouch was called upon to speak on public welfare commission. He urged the students to collect waste paper. He further suggested that each student might bring two magazines, weight one pound, each day.

President Day then called upon Coach Stings, who said that though James John had suffered defeat, other schools had suffered worse defeat in their first year in the league. Wesley Winkler resigned their offices as no commissioner can be a class officer or hold another point-winning office. Esther Pitterer, vice-president, became president; William Durdorf, vice-president; Dorothy Schafer, secretary.

The committee appointed to report on plans for the senior annual are: Dorothy Shafer, Lola Murphy, Clarice Wilson and Wesley Winkler. James John reasons to be proud of her alumni. Reports from the various colleges show fine work and also in the sports and showing in made. Eugene Hiatt, of O. A. C., was one of the touchdowns in the game against Idaho. Carlisle Cunningham, some time ago captain of the football team, led to victory. Lawrence Layton was victorious in the 12-mile relay race. Although he was 25 yards behind up to the last lap, he passed up Reed Cole's crack runner and won the race. Drott Larsen is winning credit for himself at Reed by speaking before various organizations on some of the bills.

The pedagogy class is outlining psychological work and giving reports, discussions and explanation of the work this week.

The junior exhibit was held in the high school auditorium Friday. The purpose of this exhibit is to give recognition to activities beside regular school work.

A silver medal will be awarded in June by the Sodality Latinas to the assembly who has earned the largest number of points on the following basis: Grades in Latin; work for the club, and contests. Vocabulary contest will be held in the gymnasium in the classes. Champions of the classes will compete in the final contest.

The first term English classes in Mr. Thomason's room have started debate. Their first work was in the form of debating, in the form of their own views. The jiteny question was discussed and many fine arguments were given.

A Hyak Klatawa meeting was held Wednesday at 2:30. The hike Friday to the Columbia Slough was announced. Miss Swain, Dr. Madigan, and Miss Rundall accompanied the girls on the hike.

Two specimens added to the high school nature cabinet consisted of a large cryptogam, by the Hyak Klatawa girls, and a fine large hornet's nest brought by Mary Boscher, of Linnton. The cabinet is now open to all the students. A schedule for earning credits, Susie Lindley, chairman of the programme committee announced that a meeting will be held Saturday.

The boys played a fine game with Lincoln. They are to be commended upon the fine play shown, and in keeping a heavier team from running up a large score. The result was 17 to 0 in Lincoln's favor.

Benson Polytechnic (Boys)

By RAYMOND HILL.

WITH A spirit of real industry, the students of the Benson Polytechnic School are turning out a vast amount of machinery for the new school. These machines that are being built at the present time are purely experiments. The machines to be built are first "dressed off" by the instructors, then built, piece by piece, by the students. It is then tested thoroughly. In every case the machines built in the Benson machine shop prove perfect in every detail.

It is interesting to note that not one single machine ever built in the machine shop was constructed from a set of plans. All the machines are built by mere experimenting. They are then disassembled and taken to the draughting room, where a working drawing is made of each part. These drawings are then taken to the superintendent of the plant, and a finished product is made for commercial use.

It is also interesting to note that in the Eastern automobile plants not one single automobile is first built from plans drawn before the cars are built. Every part, by experiment in the experimenting rooms of the plant by the engineers and master mechanics, who learn everything out as they go. Then the details are drawn for commercial manufacture. At the Benson Polytechnic School the same principle is carried out.

The latest machine completed was a "Kee seater," designed and constructed by the students. This machine was built entirely by the students, and at the test made Thursday it proved perfect. It is a machine which will enable people to know that the machine shop of the new school will be the largest and best-equipped shop on the Pacific Coast.

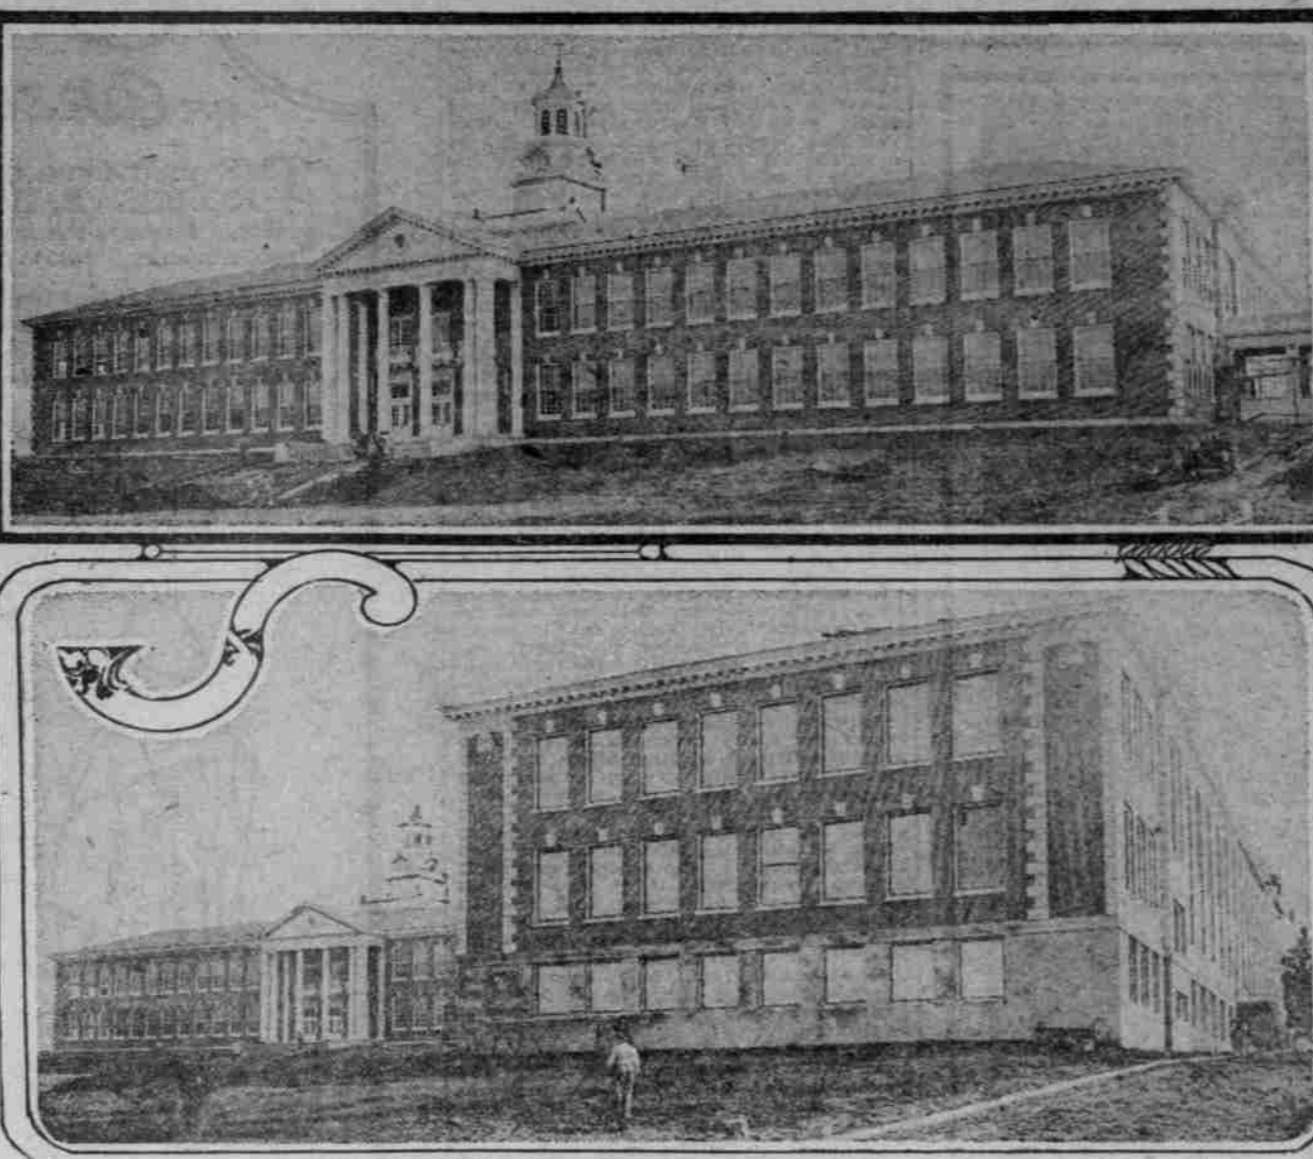

There are about 100 students registered in the machine shop, while seven students are taking the advanced tool-making course. The blacksmithing and forging department of the machine shop is an interesting and useful one. About 50 students are becoming efficient in the making of difficult welds, tools and everything that constitutes a complete course in machine blacksmithing.

On account of the death of his mother, California last week, Fred Goldman, instructor of applied science, was absent from classes several days.

The top-liner of school events up to the present time was the Halloween party given in honor of the seniors by the June 17 class, Friday evening. The event was staged at the girls' school in the gymnasium, which was decorated with ferns, crepe paper and fact-of-lanterns. The feature of the party was the fact that, although it was a costume party, no masks were worn, although several of the students got around this edict by painting their faces in all sorts of hideous manners. The costumes were a novelty in themselves, ranging from the infant to the "old folks" in dress.

"Hiram's favorite tankage," and "Mama's perfect spaghetti" which were none other than real, old-time apple cider and home-made doughnuts, made the evening's enjoyment complete. Fred Goldman's character sketch of the June 17 class of boys, and William Oetinger, faculty adviser of the seniors, with the assistance of Mrs. Graham, chaperone of the girls, kept things moving the entire evening.

The senior class will hold an important meeting next Wednesday afternoon immediately after school at the girls' school in Room 7. The purpose of the meeting will be to select a class play, to be staged in December. The proceeds will go into the class treasury.

June Girls at Jefferson Have "Coming Out" Party.

February Class Shows Good Spirit and Responds With "Congratulations" Demonstration—Boys to Be Entertained Friday Night.

By CURTIS MCKINNEY.

THE past week has been a delightful one at Jefferson. A variety of happenings have taken place. The most important of these was the game which Jefferson played with Columbia University. The victory of 19 to 0, which the school won, marked the second time in the history of the school that it has defeated Columbia in football, and also placed Jefferson in a running place for the championship.

O. M. Plummer, of the school board, was so desirous that the public school defeat the private school that he had each member of the team a "wishbone."

Last Monday morning, at the usual assembly, W. H. Boyer officiated with the singing. William Bolger, yell leader, led the students through a number of yells. Wilbur Carl, manager of football, spoke about the boys' game. He also announced that the Live Wires would give a football game to the Columbia-Jefferson game, and that a similar prize would be given to the Live Wire who sold the most tickets during the season.

Tuesday the students had Louis Kaufman, the 10-year-old violinist, as their guest. He rendered a few selections, which were thoroughly enjoyed. At the same assembly Mr. Whitmore, of New York City, spoke to the students on "The Philosophy of Life." Mildred Hudson, editor of the Specimen, announced that the next issue would be out this week, and that it would contain an unfinished story. A prize and a place on the staff will be given the student who will write the best ending for it.

A "rooters" meeting was held Wednesday during the assembly period. The 30 members of the club were given their identification ribbons. They are gold-colored ribbons, with "Rooters' Club, J. H. S." printed on them with blue ink. The purpose of the club is to learn the school yells, and to cheer at the games, and lead the cheering.

Last week-end the February 17 class made a trip to Larch Mountain. There were 60 in the crowd.

Article in Washington Lens Laud-ing Coach Dewey's Team Effort, and Assembly Stirs Up School Spirit—Science Club Wanted—Grammar Schools Aided in Athletics.

By WYLIE DORAN.

AN assembly was held Thursday afternoon and Principal Ball announced that all dramatic club members would hold a meeting Tuesday after school to discuss plans for the coming year.

Mr. Ball also announced that he was informed by one of the officials of the Multnomah Club that Franklin had played the cleanest football of any interscholastic team, Miss Davis and Mr. Walsh spoke on school spirit.

Mildred Zerung next gave a reading from Julius Caesar appropriating names of the football players wherever it was possible. Vera Elwell and Harold Dunan gave football talks.

Mora Williams spoke on school spirit and told why it was so important for such large scores last year. Her reason was that there was no one behind the team. She also said that she thought some of the girls should attend the meetings which are being held to explain football in order that they would know when it was time to "yell."

Mr. Easton next read an article in the Lens of Washington High School which concerned Franklin. The contents of the article were given over to the courage and tenacity in which Franklin played all the games last year. At the end of this talk nine ralls were given for Washington.

Coach Dewey was called upon and was "there." He gave the school a new yell which was practiced. He urged everybody to attend the Washington-Franklin game.

The skating party at the Oaks October 29 was a big success. The total attendance was 255. Everybody had a good time and are waiting for the next one.

The "Goggles" Club held their meeting last Thursday. A classic dance was given by Miss Graham in Spanish costume. Helen Harper gave a violin solo.

A petition signed by 20 students sent to Mr. Hoskins asks that a science club be organized. The purpose will be to study current topics in the world of science.

The boys trying out for the interscholastic debate met at Rose Place Friday evening. David Cohen and Scott Brown, on the affirmative, and Donald Harris, on the negative, debated the question of the land and loan tax. The question of rural credits was debated by Donald Harris and Raymond Fenmore, affirmative, and Donald Morse and George Cowne, negative. James Hamilton and Elmer Colver upheld the affirmative, and Will Kessi and Ernest Haywood the negative of the question of the state limitation tax. Alexander Brown spoke on the anti-vaccination bill.

The June 17 class held a meeting Monday. Miss Emma Wold, Miss Marion Culver, and Miss Helen Schwartzauber were elected honorary members.

The question of the class play was discussed. It was finally decided that the class would give a three or four act play. A committee was appointed to select a number of plays suitable for class production. A report will then be made to the class and a play chosen. The committee consists of the following: Donald Harris (chairman), Carlos Laub, Gertrude Kosumny, James Hamilton and Suselle Kearney.

At the close of the regular singing assembly Tuesday morning, Louis Kaufman, the 16-year-old violinist, played three selections. They were as follows: Concerto by Wieselmann; Souvenir, by Drida; Minuet in G, by Beethoven.

At the meeting of the Tri-L Monday the following programme was given: "The Life and Works of James Lindsay, of Columbia," by Donald Harris; readings from the works of Judge Whitcomb Riley, "The Runaway Boy" and "The Happy Little Cripple," by Sonia Wilderman.

Plans are being made for a party to be given soon at the home of Ellen Anderson, 525 Columbia street.

The June 17 class are making plans for an inter-class get-together party to be given soon. The party will be given at the home of Mary Packwood, at 525 East 15th street, on Friday, November 3. The committee in charge is as follows: E. John Chalmers, Selena Barnell, Mary Packwood, Priscilla Hobbs, Helen Colman, Douglas Powell and Carl von Cluff.

The members of the first term domestic science class gave a tea Tuesday afternoon during the fifth and sixth periods. Cocoa and sandwiches were served.

The rehearsals for the February 17 class play, "Doctor in Spite of Himself," by Hollis Keyser, will be held Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning from 8 until 9 o'clock and every Saturday afternoon from 10 until 11 o'clock during the last week in November.

Room 197 has been awarded the two flags, which will give to the room having the greatest number of parents and the greatest number of fathers at the first term assembly on Wednesday, October 11. They are carried by the leaders during fire drills.

The Waskell Campfire girls decorated their ceremonial dresses at the meeting Friday afternoon in room 104. A short business meeting was held later.

Lincoln defeated James John High School in football Tuesday, by a score of 17 to 0.

The programme of the Tologeon society Thursday afternoon consisted of a debate by the affirmative and negative, that the closed shop should receive the support of public opinion. Robert Dickson and William Mission upheld the affirmative. Harry C. Stevens and Jacob Holman, the negative. The affirmative won by a unanimous decision. After the debate, Mr. Schwartzauber, of the faculty, gave a short talk on "The Four Stages of a Student's Career."

The Hakonakie Campfire girls are planning to give a skate at the Oaks rink on November 10. The following committee are in charge of the affair: Skate, Marie Canel (chairman), Eva Kidd; bids, Lella Stone (chairman), Elizabeth Thomsen; refreshments, refreshment, Isabelle Kidd (chairman), and Dorothy Shively.

The Philadelphians were entertained Thursday afternoon by the Zetaganthians, of Jefferson High School.

At the meeting of the Pedagogy Club Wednesday afternoon in room 319, each member recited a poem or told a story. The subject of the land and loan tax is to be taken up soon, was discussed.

Hawthorne School Notes. Last Wednesday afternoon at the sound of the fire alarm, the pupils of Hawthorne School left the building in 10 seconds, which was in record time for this year. Pupils coming to the Oregon room this term brought with them a picture of Canton Beach which added greatly to the appearance of an already well-decorated room. This picture was purchased by the pupils of the primary grades and will be taken by this class to the end of their school work. The room this picture is now in is at present beautifully decorated for Halloween. The decorations consist of witches, cats, jack-o'-lanterns, etc. This room takes pride in decorating for special occasions. The pupils of Miss Marshall's room have a unique way of raising money for beneficial purposes. Last Tuesday they had a candy sale, all the candy being made by the pupils. The proceeds of which are to be used in the purchase of the picture of the school. They have also decided to choose the well-known picture of "Sir Galinaud."
