CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Despite sharp temporary bulges, the wheat market in the last week has leaned mainly to the hear side. Rains in Argentina handicapped the bulls and so, too, for a time did apparent prospects of a renewal of tousion between the United States and Germany. The outcome has been net declines of %c to 1%c as compared with a week ago.

Whether or not the drouth in Argentina could yet be regarded as effectually broken, the fact seemed to be increasingly evident that extreme fears concerning the cutting down of the Argentina exportable surplus would hardly be realized Before this asthat extreme fears concerning the cutting down of the Argentina expertable surplus would hardly be realized. Before this aspect of the supply situation was to any extent cleared up, the market, impelled by urgent foreign demand last Saturday, touched new high record prices well above any price level for 28 years. On Monday, however, the Argentine drouth damage, which was disturbing Europeans, went sudicinly into eclipse on account of the torpedoing of a steamer with many Americans on board. Then came news on Tuesday of up. OHs,

Wednesday arrangements at San Francisco for whent imports from Australia.

Difficulty of obtaining storage insurance in Chicago was an added burden on speculative prices and there was a further stumbiling-block in the fact that Minneapoils millers appeared to be making liberal use of shipments from Canada.

Big export business yesterday and the day before railied the wheat market from sethacks due to continued reports of Argentine rains. In the end, though, many holders were inclined to take profits, as doubt seemed to prevail as to a steady maintenance of foreign demand in the face of some evident lack of enough readily available ocean tonnage.

Increasing arrivals of corn tended to make that escent relatively a little weaker in price than either wheat or oats. Losses in oats reflected the weakness of other grains, but were only fractional. Provisions have been depressed by unusually large receipts of hogs that were too light in weight to meet with quick disposal.

"Conditions this week have been much against the trade, although a fair amount of business was transacted in this division. The condition of offerings was bad, wet it weather giving the cattle he rather stale appearance. The run included a good many thin cattle from pasture. Prices broke under these conditions, declines of 10 to 15 cents being in force for common to pretty good since the first of week, while 25 cents in the first of week, while 25 cents in the first of week, while 25 cents in the same of the first of week, while 25 cents in the same week. Good to choice, fleshy feeders and yearlings were off the least, good demand and light supply serving to hold prices.

"A good many Oregon buyers were in the market for handy weight, 800 to 950 pounds class, selling from $5 to $5,50. A lot of lighter ones went to Washington, bringing $4.75 to $5,25 for pretty fair quality smift. Select fleshy feeders brought up to $5,75 and a few 1050-pound ones at $6. LESS SUGAR IS USED

HIGH PRICES HAVE CUT DOWN CONSUMPTION.

increased Output in Western Hemisphere Largely Offsets Decrease in Europe-Growers Prosperous.

In a review of the sugar situation, particularly the effect on the market of high prices, an Eastern authority on this subject writes:

There has been a falling off in the consumption else the supply would not have filled the demand. Even in the United States, where prosperity reigns and supposedly economy in sugar would be the last thing thought of, there has been a decrease. Confectioners have felt the high price as well as the brifty housewife, substitution of corn sugar where possible being the order of the day. It is significant that although experts of granulated have been on a big scale the meltings do not show a commensurate gain.

The production of sugar has been stimulated by the big profit to the planter who is making fully as a pound both in this country and in Cuba. The latter country will make at least 400,000 tone more the coming crop and an compared with before the war, the gain should be a round million tons. A donestic heet crop over a third greater than is 1914 is corroborative evidence of the impetus to output in high prices. So marked has been the process that about two-thirds of the gap left by the reduction in European best crops has already been filled by gains in other quarters.

In Cuba, there are many new plants going into operation the coming season, and the concentration of control in the industry on the Island means more efficient operation through the medium of improved machinery and businessilke methods. The same thing can be said to a less extent of Louisiana, where the planter no lunger has the nightmare of free sugar to prevent his best efforts for a large crop. Protection will cause the best production to mount steadily.

Futures reflect favorably the situation in actual sugar, in fact they have been a splendle barometer as to what might be expected in raws. The sharp fluctuations puriodically have afforded opportunity for the specification of sugar to make deliveries on contracts, it is arsued, will keep December strong, stress being laid in some refining circles on the likelihood of the Cuban new roop being delayed and hence not available for this position. With new crop months, it is another question and there is undoubtedly selling of a hedging nature by the planter who finds the opportunity tempting to market his crop at high prires before even atarting grinding.

The following gives comparative prices for the past four years:

Wheeler-Reports have been circulated through this section that the seed wheat was of low germinating power, so samples were taken from different growers and tests are to be made of each sample Considerable stock is changing hands and numerous inquiries come in segarding purchasers and asking for available animals. During the past week several cattle, hog and horse dealers were seen and lists of saisble stock given them. Twenty-two farms were visited.
