

Miss Emma Woodson of Astoria, Member of Gamma Phi Beta Who Entertained With Big Dance Last Week

Hugh Morton, who recently returned from their wedding trip; Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Brown, the former being vice-consul in the British Consulate, Mrs. Horace Sibley, also a newcomer to Portland; G. P. Corbett, and I. Gomyo, acting Consul for Japan.

Miss Laurene Armstrong, a charming young woman who is visiting here from Seattle, with the H. H. O'Reillys for several weeks, is being entertained delightfully. Many motor trips, horse-back riding parties, luncheons, dinners and tea parties are making the visitor's stay in this city delightful. Miss Armstrong, who is a devotee of the saddle, came down to attend the horse show, which was the first of last week, and was entertained in box parties by the O'Reilly family.

Among the box parties at the Orpheum Wednesday night was that for which Clyde Collings was host, his guests being Mr. and Mrs. Al Lundborg and Miss Anne Samuel. Mrs. G. E. Smith, Miss Laura Smith and Russel Smith also were occupants of one of the Orpheum boxes Wednesday night.

Mrs. H. A. Sargent's sister, Mrs. George Bachelder, a prominent and charming matron of Santa Barbara, is sharing in the social gaieties of the season. Mrs. William Gill, another California matron, coming from San Francisco, is also being entertained by representative Portland folk. Mrs. William A. MacRae entertained Thursday with a delightful informal tea honoring both visitors, and Friday Mrs. A. M. Ellsworth asked a number of old friends to meet Mrs. Bachelder, who is the house guest of her sister and brother-in-law.

Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity will entertain members of Pan Hellenic Association Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. George Gerlinger, 777 Flanders street. The meeting has been changed to Friday on account of the Oregon ball game being on Saturday. All members of the fraternity and association are requested to bring thimbles and scissors to help with the work for the Pan Hellenic bazaar this month.

The University of Oregon chapter of Gamma Phi Beta entertained Saturday night with a charmingly appointed formal dinner dance at Hotel Osburn in Eugene. Brilliantly-hued chrysanthemums, falling in showers from a canopy of ivy, made the ballroom a-glow with color. Dinner was served in the attractive Japanese room, where the color scheme was pink.

A lovely waltz song was sung by Miss Irene Strowbridge, as the feature dance. The patrons and patronesses were Dr. and Mrs. John Straub, Mrs. Lucy Abrams, Professor and Mrs. O. F. Stafford, Miss Elizabeth Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Norman, Homer Mrs. G. E. Cellars, of Portland; Mrs. F. A. Elliott, of Salem; Mrs. A. T. Hill, of La with soft satin shades. The corsage bouquets for the ladies were large clusters of white chrysanthemums tied with long white satin ribbons, bearing the name of the guest and the date. The boutonnières for gentlemen were tube roses and heliotrope. The menu was most tempting and several hours were spent in its discussion. After dinner Mrs. Palmer sang a number of songs in her usual charming manner. Miss Hastings played several piano selections and Mr. Palmer sang a solo. Those present were: Colonel and Mrs. John McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. James McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wallace, Miss Hastings and Alexander Wallace.

Mrs. Maxwell's Tea. A most charming tea was given on Saturday, October 21, by Mrs. A. L. Maxwell, in honor of Miss Wallace, of Tacoma. The menu was most delicate and was elegantly served, whilst strains of exquisite music floated through the rooms. Among those present were: Mrs. H. D. Green, Mrs. J. C. Reed, Mrs. C. H. Lewis, Miss Lewis, Mrs. B. E. Tuttle, Mrs. Dunckley, Mrs. S. G. Reed, Mrs. Theodore Wygant, Miss Failing, Mrs. Walter B. Smith, Mrs. Stewart Gordon, Mrs. C. A. Dolph, Mrs. F. E. Wilcox, Mrs. W. S. Ladd, Mrs. Bogue, Mrs. Mallory, Mrs. Studleson, Mrs. Burrell, Mrs. James McCracken, Mrs. Ernest Palmer, Mrs. R. Hoyt, Miss Alice Hastings, Miss Elsie Hoyt.

Miss Sallie Lewis' High Tea. The principal social event of the past week was the charming "high tea" given on Friday evening by Miss Sallie Lewis to Miss Eugenia Smith and T. Harris Bartlett. The table presented a most inviting appearance. The center was deftly embellished with purple chrysanthemums most artistically arranged, while a soft light was shed on the scene below by a number of silver candelabra. The guest cards were Japanese in design, handsomely painted. The favors for the ladies were large bunches of pure white chrysanthemums, while the boutonnières of the gentlemen were beautiful clusters of klinger chrysanthemums. The menu was delicious. During the tea soft music, strangled instruments, filled the evening the guests repaired to the music was rendered by an orchestra of six-room, where dancing was indulged in, lasting until midnight. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Abbot L. Mills, Miss Eugenia E. Smith, Miss Lewis, Miss Sallie Lewis, Miss Beck, Miss Louise Wilson, Miss Florence Gilman, Miss Virginia Lewis, Miss Nellie Williams, Messrs. T. Harris Bartlett, Allen Lewis, Sanderson Reed, Paul Peady, C. F. Adams, R. S. Howard, Jr., Lieutenant Fred W. Sladen and Frank B. Eaton.

On Friday, prior to the opening of the Alcazar Players at the Baker Theatre, Mr. and Mrs. Claude D. Starr entertained the two leading members of the company, Miss Ruth Gates and Albert McGovern, at the Starr home in Irvington.

Mrs. Charles M. Bair and daughters, Miss Alberta and Margaret Bair, returned Wednesday from a two months' tour of Montana, their former home. They motored throughout the state, and were entertained extensively.

Little Miss Mayanna Sargent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Sargent, celebrated her birthday recently by entertaining several friends, and giving a merry party. Halloween novelties and games made the afternoon festive.

Mrs. Walter M. Cook, who returned recently from a delightful and interesting visit in Seattle with Mrs. Leroy D. Lewis, was frequently made the motif of gay social functions while in the northern city. One of the last affairs honoring her was given the day she left for Portland, the affair being a charming informal tea, with Mrs. Mark Odell as hostess.

The Irvington Club's social committee for November has been elected as follows: Mrs. Theodore Nicolai, chairman; Mrs. W. J. Creath, Mrs. S. H. Fields, Mrs. Arthur Fisher, Robert Haney, Mrs. William McCoy, Mrs. E. H. Root, Mrs. F. A. Rosencrans and Mrs. May Varwig.

Eric V. Hauser, one of the proprietors of Hotel Multnomah, and his charming daughter, Mrs. Hauser, left early last week for a brief visit to their home in St. Paul. They plan to return, accompanied by Mrs. Hauser, within a few weeks, and will remain in Portland for the rest of the winter. Miss Hauser already is popular with the younger set.

For Mrs. Allen Pendleton Noyes (Greata Butterfield), a recent bride, Miss Mabel Korrell entertained on Friday afternoon with a charming bridge-tee, guests being asked for four tables of the game, and a few additional guests called at tea time.

The rooms were decked gaily with big, fluffy chrysanthemums in the yellow and red tones, combined with fernery and autumn leaves. Seated at the card tables were Mrs. Noyes, Mrs. Otto Mattern, Mrs. Thomas Lane Emory, Mrs. Walter Korrell, Mrs. Paul Oruce, Miss Sadie Noyes, Miss Doris Clark, Miss Frances Fuller Marie Marie Haller, Miss Helen Platt, Miss Grace Keen, Miss Edith Olds, Miss Bertha Bakwin, Miss Helen Whitney, Miss Thielson and Miss Elise Cramer.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob J. Tourtellotte (Dagmar Korrell) have returned from their wedding trip, and are at home in the Belle Court apartments.

Mrs. Arthur Alexander, who has been in California for several months, has been sojourning at the Norton for a week, and is now en route to New York to join her husband. Mrs. Alexander was in Portland to be with her sister, Miss Ada Barker, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

A charming Halloween party was given by Miss Helen Barnes to announce the engagement of her sister, Miss Ruth Irene Barnes, to J. Wilbur Hendrickson, of Seattle. The guests were asked for dinner and a dance, and the news came as a surprise to the assemblage. About 40 guests were present at the handsome Barnes residence on Beaumont st.

The bride-to-be is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Barnes, and is a very charming young girl. The wedding will be an evening affair. Mr. Hendrickson is a son of the Hendricksons of Trenton, N. J., having been in this section of the country but a few years. He met his fiancée while she was visiting Captain and Mrs. J. J. Reynolds, her brother-in-law and sister, in Seattle. The Reynolds' this came on for the announcement party.

Covers were placed at an exquisitely appointed table for Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Barnes, Captain and Mrs. J. J. Reynolds, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Starr, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Starr, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collinson, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Barnes, Captain and Mrs. Shaver, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fields, Al McHolland, William Healey, Miss Ruth Plummer, Miss Kendall, Mr. Kendall, Mr. McLaughlin, Miss Mary Veerster, A. E. Allen, Miss Helen Barnes, J. W. Hendrickson, Miss Irene Barnes, Malcolm M. Reed, Miss Beth Ludlum, Mr. Logan and Miss Ward.

Dancing in the big ballroom occupied the latter part of the evening. Miss Gladys Sigel, who will become the bride of Howard Hilton Wednesday night, is being showered with social courtesies. One of the recent affairs honoring the young folk was the informal dance for which Miss Clarice Biles was hostess Thursday night at her home. At least 50 young men and women attended this delightful affair. The drawing-room, ballroom and dining-rooms being decked with Fall flowers and foliage.

Favor dances contributed additional gaiety to the affair. Mrs. W. B. Channing, of New York, who is spending the season at Hotel Portland, entertained a company of children with a jolly Halloween supper party Monday evening in the Grill. Grinning lanterns, black cats, owls and other suggestions of Halloween predominated in the decorations.

An event of considerable interest to Portland women is the annual exhibition of the Needlework Guild, which will be held November 8 in the parlors of the Unitarian Chapel. A tea will be served during the afternoon, at which many prominent women have been asked to assist. Mrs. James Laidlaw is in charge of the refreshment table.

Presiding at the tea table from 2 to 4 o'clock will be: Mrs. H. W. Corbett, honorary president; Mrs. Solomon Hirsch, Mrs. R. L. Sabin and Mrs. Louis Gerlinger, Jr. From 4 to 5 o'clock Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Mrs. A. L. Maxwell, Mrs. M. James Laidlaw, Mrs. Coe A. McKenna will pour.

A number of young women will assist, among them Mrs. C. N. McArthur, Mrs. M. C. Macleary, Irene Daly and Ethel Malpas.

Of interest to Portland folk is the wedding of Miss Leona Kerr, daughter

Trinity Church Festival.

The members of the Women's Guild and the King's Daughters of Trinity Church are working hard in preparing for the coming Trinity Church festival, to be given at the Exposition building, on the 20th and 21st inst. There are to be 12 booths, in charge of prominent society women, assisted by the leading belles of Portland. Twelve of the booths are to be decorated in a manner characteristic of the months of the year.

The executive committee in charge of the affair is Mrs. W. B. Ayer, Mrs. R. K. Hoge, Mrs. A. G. Barker, Mrs. H. Cole, chairman, Miss Trevett and Miss Louise Wilson.

Mary Washington Memorial.

A number of the ladies who are interested in the Mary Washington Memorial fund met Wednesday morning at the residence of Mrs. Cyrus A. Dolph, who is chairman of the Oregon committee, to consider ways and means and to hear a report from Mrs. Margaret Helzel, the general secretary of the National Mary Washington Association.

Mrs. McCracken's Dinner Party.

Mrs. John McCracken gave a very elegant dinner party on Thursday evening in honor of Miss Alice Hastings, of Benicia, Cal. The different apartments were very handsomely decorated in honor of the occasion and presented a most attractive appearance. The dining-room was, however, the chief object of embellishment. The long table was covered with a snow white damask cloth, in the center of which stood a tall silver urn filled with beautiful double moonlight chrysanthemums, intermingled with traceries of dainty smilax, which fell gracefully to the table beneath. Arranged about the table in tasteful profusion were deep red Autumn-tinted maple leaves, while here and there were unique candelabra supporting tall wax tapers
