GEOVE-ANOT

Mrs. W.B. Channing, A charming young Matron of New York and Her Attractive Children, John, Mary and Joana.
GEOVE-ANOT

F. Tucker. Mr. Biddle is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Biddle, and a brother of Mrs. Erskine Wood. He also is very popular socially and is a member of several leading clubs of Portland. He was graduated from Yale, class of 1912. The wedding will be a smart event of February, and as both young people have hosts of friends, Miss Tucker's relatives being very numerous in this city as well as prominent, they will be extensively entertained with pre-nuptial affairs.

The Monday Night Dancing Club will hold its opening dance of the series just formed for the season of 1916-17, on Monday, November 27, and thereafter once a fortnight, as follows: December 11, January 8, January 22, February 12 and 26, and April 9. The membership will be limited, as in the original club, which was one of the most exclusive and delightful of the dancing clubs in the city, the membership then being limited to 45 couples.

At Mrs. Wood's tea, which was delightful in every particular, Mrs. Hallett Maxwell, Mrs. Lewis McArthur and Miss Esther Tucker, sister of the bride-to-be, presided at the tea table. Many of the young men of society eagerly availed themselves of the opportunity to attend the afternoon function.

Coming as a big surprise during the latter part of the week, just as the excitement of the election was subsiding, was the announcement of Miss Mary Meldrum's engagement to Frederick Shields, of Spokane. The news was made known to 16 of the bride-elect's closest friends, by her cousin, Miss Genevieve Thompson, who presided at a charming luncheon on Friday at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Joseph N. Teal.

Covers were placed for Miss Meldrum, Mrs. Teal, Miss Ruth Teal, Mrs. Harold Sawyer, Mrs. Folger Johnson, Mrs. Preston Smith, Mrs. H. C. Stevens, Miss Mary Louise Feldenheimer, Miss Genevieve Church, Miss Eliza Parker, Miss Helen Bates, Miss Fay Nichols, Miss Grace Kern, Miss Isabella Gaud, Mrs. Frederick Teal and the hostess. Miss Meldrum, who has been making her home with Mrs. D. P. Thompson, her aunt, and Miss Thompson comes from Idaho, and was graduated from the University of Idaho. During her college days she met her fiance, who also is a graduate of the Idaho University. Miss Meldrum is very popular with the younger set, and is a very charming girl.

The prettily appointed table were Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Mrs. William G. Van Schuyver, Mrs. Walter F. Burrell and Mrs. Robert W. Lewis. The charming hostess was further assisted by Mrs. Everett Ames, Mrs. Alma D. Katz, Mrs. Stanley G. Jewett, Mrs. Guy M. Standifer, Misses Mary Bacon, Elizabeth Jacobs, Alice Smith and Helen Honeyman.

A sale and a tea has been arranged for Miss Hazel Hall by a number of prominent matrons for the afternoon of Saturday, November 18, at the parlors of Hotel Portland. The hours are from 2 until 6 o'clock and the sale will include quantities of exquisite articles, the handwork of Miss Hall, who is noted for her cleverness in needlework. A number of tables will be arranged to display the dainty handcraft, which will make wonderful Christmas gifts. One of these tables will contain samples from which duplicates may be ordered for delivery at a later date. A special feature of the afternoon will be the exhibition of esthetic dancing by Miss Katherine Laidlaw, who will give two solos, one at 3 o'clock and one at 5 o'clock. Table No. 1 will be in charge of Mrs. John P. Dickson, Mrs. Thomas D. Honeyman and Mrs. James Laidlaw. No. 2, which is the sample table, will be in charge of Mrs. M. G. Hall, Miss Hall and Mrs. Charles Bassev. No. 3, Miss Isabella Gaud, Mrs. George A. Warren, Miss Eliza Grellie will be in charge. No. 4, a doll table, on which beautifully and daintily dressed dolls will tempt the purchasers, will be presided over by Mrs. Lester Kollock, Mrs. Otis Wight and Mrs. Frank Branch Riley. No. 5, Miss Alissa MacMaster and Mrs. Hazel B. Litt. They will be assisted by Mrs. Joseph N. Teal, Miss Portland women are taking an active interest in the special sale and tea to be held Tuesday preceding Thanksgiving in the Woman's Exchange. This affair is an annual one and is eagerly awaited for at this particular time only is the public able to obtain certain articles of apparel as well as food delicacies. The members of the exchange make and donate two attractive articles to be sold on this day and also prepare two delectables from their treasured recipes and donate them for this special sale.

During the afternoon tea is served in the dining-room and prominent women of the city will preside. It is one of the red-letter days in the history of the exchange and all women and men of Portland who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

Miss Genevieve Thompson, one of Portland's most interesting and charming young women, will leave today for Chicago to be gone until Christmas time. Her absence from the social activities of the city will be a great disappointment to her numerous admirers, as she is in demand at practically all affairs of the smart set.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Willett left last night for an interesting trip to New York. They will be away during the holidays and will return to the Coast via Florida and the Southeastern states and also visit California before coming north. They plan to reach here early in January.

Miss Mildred Nichols, one of the popular brides-elect, was the inspiration for a charming luncheon on Wednesday for which Miss Genevieve Thompson was hostess at the Beverly Country Club. Monday Miss Fay Nichols entertained with a box party at the Orpheum for her cousin, which was followed by tea at Hotel Portland. Yesterday Mrs. George A. Warren asked a number of close friends of the bride-elect to luncheon as a compliment to Miss Nichols, whose wedding to H. Bailey McAfee will be solemnized Thursday night.

Mrs. Henry Goode, a former Portland matron, who is prominent in society in San Francisco also, is receiving a great deal of attention in the southern city. To show her appreciation of the hospitality of prominent leaders in the society in San Francisco Mrs. Goode is also entertaining. Recently she presided at a charming dinner party, honoring Mrs. Eleanor Martin, who is a friend of Mrs. Goode's. Other guests at the affair were: Count and Countess del Valle de Salazar, Captain and Mrs. Frank McKinley Baker, Mrs. E. C. Parker, Mrs. N. E. Ayer, of this city, who is also visiting in San Francisco; Judge Robert Campbell, of Manila; J. Downey Harvey, William Sanborn and the hostess. On Wednesday Mrs. Goode presided at a luncheon at the Francisco Club. Yellow and white flowers adorned the table, about which were seated Miss Helen Van Winkle and Messrs. Joseph D. Redding, Eleanor Martin, T. C. Gregory, N. E. Ayer and E. Graham Parker.

Members of the Drama League are enthusiastic over their next meeting which will be Tuesday night at 8:20 o'clock in the Little Theater. The feature of the evening will be the reading of Hermann Hagedorn's "Makers of Madness," which will be delivered in splendid dramatic style by Frank Branch Riley. This is a comparatively new play, but nevertheless intensely interesting.

Mrs. Robert Livingstone was hostess on Wednesday at a luncheon at which she honored Mrs. Frederick A. Barker. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Barker at 10 at an attractively appointed table. The afternoon was passed with thimble needle and fancy work, while the friends enjoyed a chat and visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ehrman, prominent San Francisco, are being delightfully entertained during their visit in Portland. Among the recent events honoring them was the dinner presided over Sunday night by Mr. and Mrs. William Heller Ehrman, a similar affair being given Monday night by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ehrman, and a dinner on Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Fleischner as hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Fleischner also were dinner hosts on Wednesday honoring the Joseph Ehrmans, who left last night for New York, where they will visit relatives for a while. Mr. and Mrs. Ehrman came to Portland to visit their son, William Heller Ehrman, and Mrs. Ehrman.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Edwards were dinner hosts Wednesday night, their guests numbering several of the married folk.
Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Allen Lewis entertained with a charming dinner party Tuesday night, which was followed by a box party at the Orpheum. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. John G. Edwards, Theodore B. Wilcox and Samuel Hill.
Mr. and Mrs. William Heller Ehrman (Minnie Fleischner) are being showered with congratulations over the arrival yesterday of a little daughter.
Mrs. William Gadsby and Mrs. McKinley Mitchell entertained yesterday with a charming bridge-luncheon. The rooms of the Gadsby residence were aglow with fluffy chrysanthemums. The afternoon was especially attractive. The guests were Mrs. James C. Costello, Mrs. O. M. Clark, Mrs. N. U. Carpenter,
