IDAHO ELECTION IS

Defalcations of O. V. Allen and Two Consolidations of Importance Beating of Editor Have Effect on Result.

IN CONTROL

Senator Hart, Speaker Connor and Others Who Have Been Members of Legislature for Years Are Defeated This Time.

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 11 .- (Special.) --There were many surprises in the elcin Idaho Fuesday, One of them was the fact that the Democratic candidates for other state offices ran ahead of the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, who was forced to bear the brunt of the attack. John C. Rice, a Democrat, running against Robert N. Dunn, a Republican, in the non-particourt, swept the state, with the exception of his opponent's district.

Unquestionably the heavy Wilson vote had much to do with the defeat of so many Republicans for state and legislative offices, yet an analysis of the returns also shows that the voting the state of the returns also shows that the voting the state of the returns also shows that the voting the state of the state ing was not altogether straight. Thou-sands of electors carefully scratched their ballots. New Officials Are Chosen.

New Officials Are Chosen.

The desire to elect a new set of state officials in the hope that the deplorable conditions that have prevailed at the State House may be remedied, is apparent from the returns.

No matter what changes may be made in the official count, the Democrats have elected three members of state boards, who will control them—Attorney General, Secretary of State and State Auditor.

Attorney General, Secretary of State and State Auditor.

Ex-Treasurer Allen's embezziement of $93,000, and, finally, the Huston loan episode, exposed by Captain E. G. Davis, a candidate on the Republican ticket for Governor at the primaries, were reflected on the results Tuesday. Other influences were the fee claim of $12,500 which arose over the state's suit to recover its losses from Allen's bondsmen, and the Snook-Broxon episode that took place in the State Capitol when Warden Snook attacked C. O. Broxon, secretary to the Governor, for an editorial in a local paper Broxon is said to have written. said to have written.

It is a somewhat peculiar coincidence that Auditor-elect Van Deusen is the man who made the original exposure on the Allen dummy loan and affairs in connection with the State Treasurer's office and Broxon, led the fight four years ago in the Progressive party and is one of the three newspapermen fined and sent to jail by the Supreme Court for criticising that tribunal for ruling the Progressive Presidential Electors off the ticket. The personnel of the Supreme Court has changed since then. The Tuesday election resulted in the defeat of many legislative leaders, including Senator John Hart, A. H. Conner, speaker of the House; Senators, and of the House, with 36. The following is the list of members-elect to the Legislature:

"JOKER" IN BILL IS DENIED

W. C. T. U. and Anti-Saloon League in Dispute at Tacoma.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 11.—(Special.)
—Whether there is a "joker" in initiative bill No. 26, which provides for a "bone dry" law in Washington, is a matter of dispute between the Women's Christian Temperance Union and George D. Conger, head of the State Anti-Saloon League. Tacoma's W. C. T. Uleaders today took issue with an interview attributed to Mr. Conger, in which he said the initiative probably would make the present dry law inoperative and would break down all barriers on the importation of intoxicants.

Pierce County officials are interested in the argument, for many of them have signed the initiative. Prosecuting Attorney Remann, who refused to sign last week because he said he had not yet investigated the measure, declared
