FARMER HARVESTS WALNUT

John DeNeui Gathers 20 Bushels From Young Trees.

OREGON CITY, Or., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—John DeNeui, one of the prominent farmers of Clackamas County, whose farm is located near Stafford, was in Oregon City this week, bringing some of this year's walnuts, raised on his farm, and disposing of them to the local merchants. Mr. DeNeui is making a success of raising these nuts, and, although this year's crop is somewhat short, he will have a crop of about 20 bushels of the finest nuts that have been marketed in this city, the wholesale price being 15 cents a pound.

Mr. DeNeui planted some of these nut trees 10 years ago, while the younger trees are seven years old. There are 18 acres in all.

8 MILLS LEVIED FOR SCHOOL Milwaukie Taxpayers Approve Plans

for Improvements.

An eight-mill levy to cover the ex-penses of the Milwaukie schools for the coming year was adopted Friday night at a meeting of taxpayers in the school

The taxpayers authorized an expenditure of $1000 for the furnishings required in the kitchen, dining-room and restroom of the new school building. Some of the money will be used for improvement of the school grounds. Money for the taking of the annual school census was also set aside.

PROMINENT ELKS WHO WILL OFFICIATE AT ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICES NEXT SUNDAY.

Following is a list of those members of the Portland lodge who have died within the year, with the dates of their deaths:

"People are inclined to judge a budget by mere figures, without going into conditions that lie deep under it, and this is one reason for much of the criticism that is made against the tax levies," said C. A. Bigelow, speaking of the municipal budget. "For instance, in comparing the budget of this year with that of the previous year, few take into consideration the fact that there has been an increase of about 30 per cent in the area of the city since last year."

Government Trapping Coyotes. OROFINO, Idaho, Nov. 25 .- (Spe-OROFINO. Idaho, Nov. 25.—(Special.)—There is a Government trapper in the vicinity of Orofino, sent out by the United States Government to trap coyotes. He has spent the greater part of his life in the business. He locates in a favorable part of the country and stays until he has pretty thoroughly cleaned them out. The pelts are sent to headquarters to be counted. The establishment of this department by the Government, while a good by the Government, while a good thing for the country, is hard on fox hounds that are caught in the traps and seriously injured.

The pamphlets which are being sent out contain pictures of children who are being assisted by the work of the are being assisted by the work of the society. The foreword says in part:
"Americanism! The word itself evokes a host of ideals, worthy aspirations, noble impulses, it conjures upfair lands and vigorous cities where man may live and work successfully, it breathes freedom and opportunity, opportunity available to all. It spells justice, justice socially, economically, educationally.

educationally.

"It goes further than merely to call forth pictures. It instills in one the desire to make real these pictures, to put these ideals into practice. And where better than in promoting the welfare of the less fortunate child? Since the degree of development and culture of any society or civilzation is proportionate to the care expended upon the child of that group, the highest form of Americanism must be

Many Do Not Investigate.

"One thing that we find," said Mr. Bigelow in discussing this, "is that many people are surprised when they find themselves taxed for an improvement, although the commission takes pains to verify the fact that the petition contains the names of at least 40 per cent of the bona fide property holders in districts affected. One reason for this may be that many people aign petitions without looking into their contents. We have often found that people signed a petition for a certain improvement and shortly afferward signed a remonstrance against it."
