Movies in 12,000 Theaters to Flash Messages Today-Secretary of State Hopes Nation Will Be Ready to Serve Others.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 .- New Year's greetings from Secretary of State cansing and other members of the President's Cabinet, John D. Rockefelier, Jr., Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador at Washington; RearAdmiral Peary and other notable men will be flashed tomorrow upon the screens in 12,000 moving picture theaters, it was announced tonight.
Count von Bernstorff's greeting touched upon the attempts to negotiate peace. It read:

"On behalf of my country, I wish the people of the United States of America a happy New Year which may bring peace and prosperity to the whole world."

Possibility of Service Seen.

Secretary Lansing wrote: "Looking into the future, as we all do at New Year's time, I am sure that none of us is so without hope and faith that we cannot see in that fu-ture the possibilities for service which are ours as individuals, and as a Na-tion. It should be our sincere prayer that when the opportunity is offered we will be ready." Mr. Rockefeller's message was de-worded exclusively to the relations of employer and employe. It read:

"Employers as well as workers are more and more appreciating the human equation and realizing that mutual respect and fairness produce larger and better results than suspicion larger and better results than suspicion and selfishness. We are all coming to see that there should be no stifling of labor by capital, or of capital by labor; and also that there should be no stifling of labor by labor, or capital by capital."

Peace Theme of Many Messages. Peace was the theme of several of the messages including that of Will-iam G. McAdoo, Secretary of the

Treasury, which read:

"And above all, may our beloved country, under the guidance of God, be able to exert its great power and influence successfully for the restoration of peace throughout the world in 1917."

Secretary of War Baker said: "It is a cause for profound grati-tude that this Nation has preserved both its peacefulness and its honor. Whether by comparison with previous years or by comparison with the re-mainder of the world, our country never has come to a New Year with more cause to be thankful."

Madame Culp has one of those rare mezzo-soprano voices of velvety smoothness, eminently suited to the quiet, delightful singing of ballads and home songs. It is not a voice with which to stir an audience to riot-ous enthusiasm, a voice to make the theater echo again with a war soug, or "Cry of the Valkyrie," or "Marseillaise." Madame Culp's success was won last night by her careful selection of quiet songs suited to her charming style of singing.

It is the most difficult of all vocal art—as music students know, often to their great astonishment—to cast a spell over a big audience and hush it enough to make it listen willingly to songs that appeal to the mind, the intellect.
