Mr. and Mrs. Dent Mowrey's Paris studio is now being used by the Red Cross. A large, rambling place, overlooking a beautiful old convent garden, it lends itself for this purpose as well as to the gay gatherings which took place there before the war. It is one of the best-known and most interesting studios of the "Quartier Latin" and has housed many famous artists.

The Mowreys took from Cynthia Stockley, well-known South African novelist, and it was there that the latter wrote two of her best-known novels, "Poppy" and "The Claw." She left her widely-known collection of African ivories, wood carvings and Oriental rugs in their care, which added to the interest of the many unique and valuable furnishings of the studio.

The delightful visits which Mr. and Mrs. Mowrey gave there each month were a well-known feature of the "Quartier Latin," and a source of keen pleasure to the "melange" of diplomats, writers, painters, musicians and society folk of all nationalities who gathered there.

Mr. and Mrs. Mowrey plan to return to this studio home at the close of the war.

of Salt Lake City, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Benson, in this city.

An interesting wedding of the week was that of Miss Miriam Nightingale White, daughter of Judge Willard White, of Boise, Idaho, and Richard W. Childs, manager of Hotel Portland, which took place Tuesday at 3 o'clock in the First Congregational Church, of Boise. The church was decorated with flowers, palms and ferns. When the guests, who numbered about 100, assembled, Albert Lamphere played a programme of nuptial music. Mr. Childs was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. J. Ward Childs, and Judge White gave his daughter in marriage, the ring service being used. The bride wore her traveling suit of dark blue cloth with a smart tailored hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds, narcissus and ferns.

No invitations were issued for the wedding and the reception which followed in the vestible of the church, was informal. Mr. and Mrs. Childs left at 4 o'clock for this city, where they are established at Hotel Portland. On their arrival they found their apartments filled with lovely flowers and gifts from relatives, friends and employees. Both Mr. and Mrs. Childs are natives of New England, the latter having come to Boise about 12 years ago, where she has since lived. Mr. Childs, who was for five years secretary of the Boise Chamber of Commerce, came to Portland last August to take over the management of Hotel Portland, and was recently elected president of the Oregon State Hotelmen's Association and already is prominently connected with the Portland Chamber of Commerce and other local organizations.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

The "Twelfth Night" reception given by the members of the Political Study League was a gay and bright entertainment—droll, frolic, the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Greene, on Jessup street, was thrown open for the occasion with kindly hospitality. Two sets of Sir Roger de Coverley were danced on the floor at one time. Much merriment came from the masked and fancy costumes worn, the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Greene being elected King Bean and Queen Pea after an old-time "Twelfth Night" custom, making them masters of ceremonies. Their retinue consisted of 12 "Knights of the Round Table," accompanied by 12 women named after 12 "Fruits of the Spirit." All wore masks and appropriate costumes.

The 12 knights carried in an immense "Twelfth Night" cake lighted with 12 candles and each couple cut the cake. At 11:20 P. M. all unmasked and were presented to the King and Queen. The fun then continued until the final ceremony of burning the evergreens, which was typical of the close of the holiday season. About 50 couples were present, all gayly attired. J. McL. Grier sang three old-fashioned Scotch songs.

The women of the Deem Club were most delightfully entertained on Thursday evening by Mrs. Lottie Chappelle, one of the members of the club, with a dinner party in her apartments at the Elmwood. Covers were laid for 10, and the table decorations in red and green were most tastefully and daintily arranged. An interesting letter was read from Miss Rita Rynearson, a former member of the club, now residing in Denver, Colo. Those present were Mesdames Truda K. Moffatt, Lola Mulchay, Lottie Chappelle, Mina Rynearson, and the Misses Stella Arnitz, Minnie Shelland, Elizabeth Bird, Blanche Roark Evelyn Youngs and Gertrude Kuenzig.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Sloan entertained their friends Friday night, January 5, at their new home, 314 Hartman street, the occasion being their 15th wedding
