

NATION PAYS FINAL TRIBUTE TO HERO

Midshipmen Escort Body of Admiral Dewey to Final Rest in Arlington.

GUNS BOOM OUT SALUTE

Thousands See Funeral Procession of Great Naval Officer After Solemn Ceremonies—Officials of High Rank Attend.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Admiral George Dewey, hero of the battle of Manila Bay, and the world's ranking naval officer, was buried at Arlington National Cemetery today after solemn ceremonies, reflecting the Nation's final tribute of honor and affection.

Two services were held, the first a private home ceremony, and the second an impressive service in the grounds of the Capitol, where the President, the Supreme Court, the Cabinet, the Senate and House, the diplomatic corps and others prominent in official and civil life, went to honor publicly the dead hero.

Thousands Line Streets. Afterwards through streets lined with thousands the notable company and a large escort of military and naval forces followed the casket to Arlington.

The Midshipmen from Annapolis, remembered by the Admiral while he was on his death bed as "my friends," had the signal distinction of honor escort, and in compliance with his request they accompanied the body from the residence to the Capitol, and later, were the only military unit to enter the cemetery in organization formation.

Through arranged with care to express a National tribute, the funeral and burial ceremonies were both simple and brief. There was no funeral oration at the service or the Capitol. Both services were conducted according to Episcopal rites, the first being read by Dr. Roland Cotton Smith, the pastor of the church, and the second by Chaplain J. B. Frazier, who was the Olympia's chaplain at Manila Bay. Chaplain Frazier also read a commitment service when the body was laid in the mausoleum.

Government Hails Work.

During the services the entire machinery of the Federal Government here was halted. Private business was suspended an hour and all flags were at half mast. Observances of a similar kind were held on every American naval vessel afloat and were emphasized by the firing at noon by every senior ship of a salute of 19 guns, more than the honors prescribe for an Admiral's salute.

The imposing procession moved at half past five from the Capitol to Arlington and entered the cemetery grounds two hours after it had started. As it wound slowly out of the city, across the Potomac and began the approach through the Virginia hills the batteries at Fort Meyer began at minute intervals a 19-gun salute. Later, when the casket was placed in the vault, the salute was repeated.

At the head of the procession through the cemetery were the midshipmen and their band. As they neared the vault they divided into two columns, between which passed the flag-draped casket bearing the casket, followed by Chaplain Frazier and Dr. Smith, the President and the Cabinet and ranking officers of the Army and Navy.

Twelve sailors from the Presidential yacht Mayflower and the seamen gunners' school bore the casket to the vault and placed it as the midshipmen's band played "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

The last service was read and then a squad of midshipmen fired three sharp volleys and Chief Master-at-Arms Charles Mitchell, who was with Dewey at Manila Bay, sounded "Taps."

Floral Offerings Elaborate.

Only one floral decoration, that of Mrs. Dewey, was placed on the casket. It was selected by George Dewey, son of the Admiral, from among the hundreds banked against the vault and carpeting the ground around it. One huge gold crescent holding hundreds of American Beauty roses was presented by the officers of the Atlantic fleet.

Secretary Daniels had invited all living former Secretaries of the Navy and their assistants to attend the burial services, and among the guests came were Charles J. Bonaparte, Herbert L. Satterlee, Charles H. Allen and Frank W. Mackett.

The body-bearers were under command of W. Roberts, of the Mayflower, and were R. Flanagan, A. C. Ward, J. J. Windmiller, O. Lint, W. E. A. Martin and C. R. Lynn, of the Mayflower, and E. A. Posey, J. F. Platte, C. L. Dann, V. McMurren, G. A. King and E. Scholer, of the seamen's gunners' school.

STRIKE ORDER IS ERROR

CHICAGO SHIVERS BECAUSE OF MISINTERPRETATION.

Coal Wagon Drivers All Quit When Intent is Only to Call Out Workers for One Firm.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Today Chicago experienced all the discomforts of a general strike of coal wagon drivers, which, it became known tonight, resulted from a misinterpretation or misdirection of orders. The strike was called by William Booth, president of the Chicago Coal Teamsters' local union No. 704, without the knowledge, it was said, of the executive board. The order was intended to affect only the Chicago Contracting Team Owners' Association, but by some mistake was promulgated at many other bars and an immediate coal famine threatened the city.

A frantic search for Booth was made by the perplexed coal dealers, upon whom no demands were made and by the police at the direction of Mayor Thompson. Booth, however, was not found until late tonight, when he appeared at a meeting between the members of the executive committee and the coal dealers. There was explained the cause of the strike.

The grievance against the Contracting Team Owners' Association was alleged overwork of drivers, for which more pay was demanded.

DESPITE PLEA, GIRL FIRES

(Continued From First Page.) Stood Miss De Jong had been married, but that she was known here by her maiden name. "I have known Miss De Jong for more than a year," Dr. Porter told the police.

"I had been sitting for about three months, when I had the time. Recently she has been dependent.

"She told me tonight that once she had turned on the gas with the intent of ending her life, but changed her mind, as she felt she could not die alone. Besides, she explained, she didn't want the janitor to find her body.

"Miss De Jong was jolly enough when she attended a dinner at Judge Melvin's recently. I went with her. She seemed in excellent spirits then. "I sat this evening for a time. She painted for a while and then cast her brushes to the floor. I tried my best to cheer her up. I did all that I could do under the circumstances. Had I rushed toward her she would have shot herself immediately and there was hope that I could dissuade her by argument. There was nothing between us except mutual interest in art. I have sympathized with her in her efforts to achieve fame and with her lonely existence, but I was not in love with her, nor she with me."

Marriage Is Unhappy.

Intimate friends of the artist said tonight that Miss De Jong had told them she had been unhappily married in France. Besides her mother, she has a grandmother and a sister, who is a doctor attached to a Paris hospital. Miss De Jong came to this country several years ago and before her arrival exhibited in galleries in Boston, Baltimore, Pittsburg and other Eastern art centers. She gained recognition when she came to San Francisco, and exhibited three paintings in the Fine Arts exhibition at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Her paintings were "Beatrice," "The Dancing Girl" and a portrait of Isabelle Percy, another local artist. Since the artist Miss De Jong has painted portraits of many San Franciscans.

Dr. Porter was not detained by the police after he had told his story and it had been partially verified by a visit to the studio. He went to his home in Oakland.

CATERERS TO HELP IDLE

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU PLANNED BY CO-OPERATIVE CLUB.

Buying Method Which Takes Advantage of Wholesale Prices is Found to be Most Successful.

Reorganized less than four months ago primarily for the co-operative purchasing of supplies, the Portland Caterers' Club is widening its scope and now is conducting an employment service bureau. Better treatment of employees and providing more attractive positions for faithful workers are among the aims of the club.

The organization now has 30 members, including the proprietors of the principal hotels, restaurants, cafeteria and coffee houses of Portland. The total membership has a buying capacity of approximately $1,000,000 a year. Officers of the club declare that the system of co-operative buying has proved a marked success. A large amount of supplies is purchased direct from the producers, and the profits of the middleman are eliminated. It is pointed out that the saving thus made enables the hotel and restaurant men to give bigger values to their patrons.

"The club door is open to all producers, large or small, and we will pay all the goods are worth," said Henry W. Kent, secretary and purchasing agent of the club, yesterday. "Every purchase of car of flour, potatoes, apples, etc., carries with it the privilege of any member buying his share at exactly the prices paid by every other member. In other words, the member buying one box of apples pays the same price as the member who buys one hundred boxes. This rule applies to all purchases and the amount of the actual purchase. "The entire expenses of operating the club are paid by the members as monthly dues, hence it costs a member no more to buy $10,000 per month through the club than it does $100 and because of this the individual member runs his own business in his own way. He has no partner, no partners as he sees it to his advantage to do so."

WAITERS' UNION RAIDED

Police Capture 12 in Game and Make Charges of Gambling.

Those arrested were: Guy Ingram, charged with conducting a gambling game; and the following, charged with visiting the game: W. H. Overton, W. H. Mensel, George Helling, B. L. Riley, Earl Headlee, Jack Smith, Clarence Griffin, Howard Jackson, James Morris, Morris Morgan and Roy Lawrence.

Longshoreman Faces Liquor Charge.

Charles Phillips, a longshoreman, was arrested last night at the gang-plank of the steamer Breakwater, on a charge of violating the prohibition law. Detective Hill and Patrolman Pratt, who made the arrest, reported that Phillips was carrying seven quarts of whiskey in a sack. Otto Anderson, who was with Phillips, was held for investigation.

J. M. Ryan Hit by Motorcycle.

J. M. Ryan, 65 years old, a real estate dealer, who lives at 89 1/2 William avenue, was hit by a motorcycle, ridden by John Dreher, 427 Stark street, last night, at 6 o'clock, near Tenth and Washington streets. Mr. Ryan suffered a scalp wound and injuries to his back and neck. He was treated by Dr. Harry P. Mackay, in the Morgan building, and later went to his home.

Cocoon Oil Makes a Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. A plain mulified cocoon oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub in one or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulified cocoon oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Adv.

MEN are interested in interesting apparel—first, in Quality; second, in Style; third, in Price.

—It's a most happy combination when these three essentials are present in their correct proportion;

—I neither expect nor desire to sell all the clothes sold in Portland. I do desire, however, to see them sold by the merchants who sell men's apparel only; that means more homes in Portland—a more even distribution of business, and a greater, more prosperous city in which to live.

especially in these days, when there is temptation to sacrifice the elements of style and quality for profit.

—This store is seeking to enhance Quality; to lead in Style, and to be just in Price.

—Here are plentiful stocks of America's best clothes—I believe there is none better—fairly priced. I rely upon your good judgment to add its weight to my own.

BIBLE TEST PROTESTED

DR. MOSESOHN SAYS ACTION OF SCHOOL BOARD UNJUST.

Book Has No Place in Educational System and Rights of Jews Would Be Destroyed, He Says.

High school credits for Bible study at home or in Sunday schools, after an examination directed from the office of J. A. Churchill, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, as adopted by the Portland School Board at a regular meeting last week, meets with opposition in some quarters. A letter has been sent to the School Board by Dr. N. Mosesohn, editor of the Jewish Tribune, voicing his disapproval of the action and he expresses what he believes, the feeling of all Jewish citizens of Oregon.

Dr. Mosesohn speaks, he says, as a Jew and a rabbi and calls attention to the fact the religious viewpoint of Superintendent Churchill and other Christian school heads is different from that of the Jewish people, who do not recognize the divinity of Christ.

"By his plan," writes Dr. Mosesohn, "Mr. Churchill may please the Protestant ministers, but in doing so he surely destroys the rights of religious liberty of the American citizens who do not belong to the Protestant denominations. The Bible is a religious book and has no place in the public schools from any angle; no more than the Koran, the Book of Mormon, or any other religious work recognized by a religious sect.

"Let me hope that your honorable board will rescind your action and will, at least, as a matter of fairness and justice, give an opportunity to those opposed to the plan to be heard on the subject. It would be nothing more than just and American to permit a discussion of the matter before final action is taken.

Credits for Bible study are optional, it is understood, and may be won by students of the high schools.

YOUNG MAN UNBALANCED

Harry L. Morse, of Milwaukee, Is Taken in Charge by Officials.

OREGON CITY, Or., Jan. 20.—(Special.)—Harry L. Morse, a member of a prominent Milwaukee, Wis., family, is in the custody of Sheriff Wilson tonight, and his sister, Miss Marion Esther Morse, and his father, Henry Pratt Morse, 27, are hurrying to Oregon City to take charge of him. Young Morse's mind is unbalanced, evidently caused by a nervous breakdown. He is being cared for here.

Morse wandered into the office of District Attorney Hedges this morning. "I want to take up with you the matter of school lands at Drain," he said. Mr. Hedges explained that Drain was in Douglas County, and out of his jurisdiction. However, he offered to give Morse a letter to the District Attorney of Douglas County. Morse, nevertheless, launched into a lengthy description of the matter, and Mr. Hedges soon saw that the man was not sane.
