ALBANY HAS WRITERS' CLUB.—Unusual Literary Talent Found and Organization Formed.

ALBANY, Or., May 26.—(Special.)—That Albany has several residents who possess unusual literary talent has been made evident through the formation of a writers' club here. Though this organization has held only a few meetings, poems, stories and essays of extraordinary merit have been presented. Most of the members have written books or articles and stories for magazines and periodicals heretofore and they submit their new work for discussion at the meetings.

Dr. M. H. Ellis, Rev. Robert J. Diven, pastor of the Grace Presbyterian Church, read his poem, "The Tempest." It was written when he was a minister in Alaska and describes a storm at sea. Professor W. W. Dodge, of Albany, read his poem, "The Tempest." It was written when he was a minister in Alaska and describes a storm at sea. Dr. Ellis gave translations he has made from the French and Mrs. Viola Price Franklin read a paper prepared by Mrs. Fred Doherty, formerly Miss Willetta Wright, who now resides at Drexley, Or., but is a former Albany resident. This paper gave reminiscences of the college life of Dean Collins, of The Oregonian, and Earl Starnard, of Brownville, a contributor to special magazines. The club is acquainted with them in literary work during their student days at the University of Oregon.

OAKS' PARK OPENS TODAY

Miss Eloise Anita Hall Is Principal Soloist This Season.

The Oaks Park opens today with special musical features that promise to be a success. Coming as a surprise is the announcement that Miss Eloise Anita Hall will be the principal soloist at the park this season. Today Miss Hall will sing a number from the opera "Mignon," in which she made such a success last winter. She has a beautiful coloratura soprano voice, and one critic commenting on Miss Hall's work in the opera said: "She trilled like a bird up to high notes, with clear, beautiful sweetness of vocalism." Miss Hall's mother, Mrs. Madison M. Hall, has been her principal vocal instructor. She has been coached in opera by Robert Corruccini.

The great patriotic film, "Civilization," has been purchased outright by the Oaks management and will be shown for one week at the Oaks, beginning June 10, with no charge other than the price of admission to the park, 10 cents. Those who were unable to see this picture when it was shown at the Oaks undoubtedly be glad of another opportunity.

In spite of the late arrival of Summer weather the Oaks grounds are in excellent condition.
