TILLAMOOK COUNTY MOUNTAIN AND BEACH RESORTS LURE VACATIONISTS

Prospects for Ideal Weather and Heavy Crop of Tourists Lead Professional Hosts to Prepare for Banner Season. Hotels Get Ready for Coming of Belated Summer.

BY HAL E. HOSE.
WITH the month of June looming on the immediate horizon and the annual vacation period at hand, the question naturally arises as to where and how the relaxation from the world can be most easily procured. At this time, and not without cause, speculation and conjecture are rife concerning the prospect of the Summer season at the various resorts throughout the state.
In the minds of those who are wont to spend a portion of the Summer on the beach or mountain retreat, the question is "Shall we, or shall we not?" and in the minds of the hundreds of resort proprietors and business people of the Summer sections the same conditions cause the query, "Will they, or will they not?" Not singly, as heretofore, but many-fold are the direct bearing conditions that affect the seasonal tourist traffic.
Fine Weather Predicted.
A reference to the time-honored almanac imparts the knowledge that a hot season will be the lot of the Northwestern folk. This prediction, but withal practical, guide to the meteorological phases of the coming season banishes with one fell swoop the usual bugbear of vacationist and resort proprietor alike. The late Spring, the retarded dry weather and with the records of previous years to guide, the evidence is conclusive that a Summer of intense warmth will soon be at hand. June will start the ball rolling with a spell of hot weather lasting several days, if the word of the prognosticator can be relied upon.
But the question of most importance this year is the result of the American entrance into the war. This phase of the situation is one that will really settle the deciding issue of whether or not the Oregon Summer season will be a successful one. The prosperity in the land, the absence of unemployment and to this end the resorts of Oregon and the Northwest are being prepared and put in shape to accommodate vast crowds of Summer residents.
Tillamook Resorts Many.
With their appeal lying mainly in accessibility to the metropolis of the state and in variety of recreational features, Tillamook County beach and mountain resorts will this season claim the attention of the hundreds who are acquainted with its multitude of beautiful outing spots, and the other hundreds who will seek a convenient and suitable Summer residence. Since the advent of the railway along the shore in Tillamook County the Summer resorts have sprung up and flourished in almost continuous order; and the splendid beaches, the beautiful mountain views and the varied pleasures of the location are being called more and more to the attention of the seeker of Summer rest.
The excellent auto road leading through Willamina and down through the fertile valleys on the west side of the Coast Range passes through territory replete with attractions for the lover of the great outdoors. Near Beaver and Hemlock and up the Nestucca and tributary rivers are some of the finest fishing points in the state, and here it is that the angler meets with his heart's desire for game trout. This section of the county is fast becoming famous for its unexcelled fishing advantages, and many motoring parties, headed for the beach resorts, never get beyond the multitude of inviting camping nooks that abound near the clear mountain streams, with their plenitude of wary game.
Places Easily Reached.
Good roads, including several miles of hard surface, lead into Tillamook, the county seat and largest city in the county. Tillamook is the branching out place for the auto traffic entering the county. Modern hotels and adjacent camping spots make this place a mecca for the anglers of the Northwest, for within easy travel distance are five of the most important fishing streams of the state. The Miami, the Klaskan, the Willson, the Trask and the Tillamook rivers, with splendid tributaries totaling over 40 fishing streams, are contiguous to Tillamook, and sportsmen have their choice of location for their fly casting.
From Tillamook train and motor service on the Southern Pacific make easy going to the splendors of the resorts on the Garibaldi and Brighton beaches, while Netarts, close at hand, is conveniently reached by auto stage and wagon road. Bayocean, the "playground of the Northwest" and one of the best-equipped and most modern resorts in the United States, is reached by a water trip of short duration. Contracts for auto roadways to this resort have been recently let by the County Court and it is expected that the opening of the Summer season will see this much-needed highway completed.
Two programmes will be given each day at the big tent, which will be the Multnomah County Fairgrounds, and a Junior Chautauqua will assemble every forenoon for the children.

SCORPION BITE PAINFUL

HOOD RIVER LAD WRITES OF EXPERIENCE at Fort Sam Houston.

HOOD RIVER, Or., June 2.—(Special.)—In a letter to Harry T. De Witt, a local garage man and his former employer, Malcolm Button, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Button, who is at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., in training for the Aviation Corps, tells of a painful experience following the sting of a scorpion.

"The sting put me in bed," said young Button, "and let me tell you, I was a pretty sick boy for several days."

"One day I was lying there in camp, wondering when I would again see some home folks, and as I glanced down the line of men engaged in drill just outside the tent whom should I see but Mark Moe and Lucian Carson. It certainly cheered me up to see these boys from home."

Young Carson, son of Chief of Police J. Carson, and young Moe, son of A. D. Moe, publisher of the Hood River Glacier, enlisted in the Aviation Corps several weeks after Button's enlistment.

Gresham's Chautauqua Starts Soon.

GRESHAM, Or., June 2.—(Special.)—The second annual Chautauqua at this city will commence Wednesday, June 6, and continue for six days. Much interest is being shown in the enterprise and it is hoped that this year's attendance will exceed that of last year.

Big Bean Crop Is Expected.

GREELEY, Colo., May 23.—The farmers of Weld County, people who live there assert, do know "beans." They planted so many of them this Spring that, if productions are normal, about $125,000 in additional returns will be theirs as a result of an increase of $1 a pound offered by seed bean buyers for choice seed beans.

RECITALS FOR VARIOUS WAR RELIEFS ARE ATTRACTING ATTENTION IN MUSICAL CIRCLES

Percy Grainger Will Give Percentage of Receipts From All of His Recitals—"Aida" to Be Sung to Assist Financing of Hygiene Department College of the City of New York.

BY EMILIE FRANCES BAUER.
NEW YORK, June 2.—(Special.)—The musical situation in New York during the coming Summer will be based upon totally different lines from anything that has ever happened in this country. There will be some of the best and some of the worst music that has ever been offered to a willing public. There will be something of a disorganization on account of what is known as the "mammoth" programmes in which the finest class of artists are always lost.
Percy Grainger is planning a certain percentage of all his recitals to be given for war relief. He has expressed the desire to give as much as 50 per cent of all his income, while he will give many recitals of which all the proceeds are to go for some patriotic purpose.

His first recital in Aeolian Hall is already announced for November 15, 1917, when the entire proceeds will be devoted to the benefit of the British Women's Hospital, known as the "Star and Garter Home" in Richmond, England, for totally disabled soldiers and sailors.
Mr. Grainger is also reaping large amounts of money by the sale of his autographed photographs at 50 cents each for the benefit of this same charity, as well as for the Professional Classes of War Relief, the British American War Relief Fund and other Allied war relief funds.
It is rumored that the beautiful high-class concerts as given last season by the Civic Orchestra Society, under Walter Rothwell, will be superseded by concerts of a more popular nature in which the element of arousing patriotic feeling will be the principal object. It is likewise rumored that Pierre Monteux, the French conductor, has been engaged for this propaganda. The programme is to be devoted principally to national selections, always including several times during the evening the "Marsellaise," "The Star-Spangled Banner" and other of the Allied national hymns.

The latest announcement for patriotic purposes, as also to obtain some financing for the hygiene department of the College of the City of New York, is a performance of Verdi's "Aida" in the Lewisohn Stadium, to be given Saturday evening, June 16. The opera will be sung by the foremost Metropolitan stars and the full company of the opera house. If permission can be obtained from the park commission, it is planned to have the elephants and camels used instead of horses in the coronation scene.
It is believed that this will be only the first of a series of similar performances, all for the purpose of raising money for war financing.
One of the first tremendously high-class concerts given for charity was held in Aeolian Hall recently, when Ossip Gabrilowitsch conducted an orchestra of 80 pieces for the benefit of the Russian exiles returning from captivity in Siberia. The proceeds of the concert will be sent to the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs at Petrograd. Gabrilowitsch already has established himself with such security that the mere announcement of his appearance is sufficient to give artistic value and a following to anything to which he may lend his aid.
At the last concert of this series in Aeolian Hall so many people were turned away that his success upon this occasion was a foregone conclusion. One of the interesting features of the concert was the first performance in America of the "Hymn of Free Russia," which was written in March by Gretchaninoff. It was sung by George Harris, Jr., who also contributed other Russian numbers.
The first movement of the Tchaik-
