

AS THE SUNDAY CHURCH PLANS TO BE NEW HOME

Every-Member Canvass Will Be Conducted by Committee of Forty Sunday Afternoon With Automobiles.

AN every member canvass in the interest of the building fund by a committee of 40 is a part of the plan of Rev. R. H. Sawyer and the congregation of the East Side Christian Church. Following the morning service the committee will have luncheon at the home of the pastor, 674 Elliott avenue, after which they will make a canvass of the membership in various sections of the city. A dozen automobiles will convey the committee on its rounds, and it is expected the amount needed will be secured before the evening service.

The congregation plans to purchase a church home, and hopes to do so without going into debt. There are between 350 and 400 members.

An event of interest will be the service today at the White Temple, where Dr. Calvin E. Waller will preach his last sermon, having resigned some time ago on account of Mrs. Waller's health. While the circumstances that necessitate his going are received with deep regret by the church and entire congregation, all realize the necessity, the most beautiful spirit prevails, and he goes with the sympathy and esteem of the entire congregation.

Mrs. Waller is in Springfield, Ill., with her sisters, and will join Dr. Waller in St. Louis on his way South, where he begins his first meeting in Knoxville, Tenn., July 25.

The entrance of Dr. Waller into the evangelistic field, though under these trying circumstances, is being received with great delight throughout the Southland. Since first mention was made of it, he has received invitations for meetings in such numbers as to cover the most of a year's time.

Dr. Waller will preach this morning on the theme, "The Unsearchable Riches of Knowledge," and in the evening on "The Gates of Pearl."

Today there will be special services at the First Methodist Episcopal Church South. At 11 A. M. Rev. S. M. Cheek, of Corvallis, will deliver an educational sermon, along mission lines, growing out of the world's need at the present time. Miss Holmes will sing a solo, and the quartet will render a selection. At 8 P. M. Rev. W. J. Fenton will preach on "Education," setting forth the need of the three-fold man being properly developed and trained for service.

First Presbyterian Church Has 59 Men in War Service.

Names and Locations, So Far as Known, Are Given.

THE First Presbyterian Church, Alder and Twelfth streets, Rev. John H. Boyd, D. D., pastor, will welcome members of the National Education Association to the church today by presenting a rose to each one who enters its doors. The pulpit will be supplied by two of the delegates to the N. E. A., who are to be assigned for this purpose, and there will be special music both morning and evening in honor of the visitors.

The Sunday school will unite the different departments for the summer session and will have an illustrated lecture by the superintendent, James P. Ewing, on "The Life of Joseph." Visitors are welcome to this Sunday school. They can see here the method of keeping interest and attention during the summer months.

Women of this church are busy with Red Cross work. A large unit of 100 has been organized and meets every Friday for all-day work at the church house. Anyone is welcome who wishes to join in this work.

A list has been made of members of the First Presbyterian Church and congregation who have volunteered services to the Government in any capacity. There are 59 names in this list, and the following list: They are scattered pretty well over the United States and pretty well over the world.

If Abraham Lincoln correctly characterized our political programs in his immortal Gettysburg address as "a Government of the people, by the people and for the people," we are at least inspired by this ideal in the molding and developing of our Nation.

We are advancing by leaps and bounds toward the attainment of our goal. Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute," rang out from the lips of that grand statesman, Charles E. Pinkney, as a challenge to instigators of oppression in the early years of our nation, and after 130 years this babe has grown to be the most powerful of all democracies by virtue of this inborn principle which is characterized the world over as Americanism.

Principle is Laid Down by Christ. This practical sympathy was the foundation of our Nation, and we prevailed and grew because of the fundamental principle of altruism which our forefathers taught and practiced and which was handed down to them by that great master mind, Jesus Christ, who, in describing the last judgment of nations has taught us the one basis upon which the nations shall be judged. It is to be not a judgment based upon possessions, neither upon any cheap moral code, but upon the one eternal principle of rightly disseminating that possessions, with several already in France. Two are fighting in the arms of the allies. Here is the list of the boys from the First Presbyterian, with their location and the branch of service they are in:

Loyalty is Sacrifice. Loyalty is sacrifice without question. The women of Burmah poured out their personal wealth of jewelry in order that the great bell of Rangoon might ring to a heathen goddess. The women of Japan gave the hair of their heads to be woven into ropes and cords for the war effort.

There is still another test to which the ideal political order must submit itself. The nobility of American manhood is offering it to bleed and die. He is willing to suffer all the tortures of the trench, privation and hunger. He is filling the place of a petted food shark who occupies along with the board of politicians and wine
