

DRAFT MASTER LIST GIVEN TO PRINTER

Tally Sheets Compared and Corrected for Sending to Exemption Boards.

FIRST TO GO ON TUESDAY

Registration in Porto Rico Exceeds Estimates, but Work in Alaska Is Slow and Results Will Not Be Ready for Some Time.

ALL MEN DRAWN SHOULD FEEL HONORED IN BEING SELECTED, SAYS SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN. WASHINGTON, July 21.—Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the Senate military affairs committee and joint author of the draft law, who drew the second number for the selective draft, today issued the following statement: "Everything went off with absolute precision, testifying to the care with which the admirable plans had been formulated by the President under the skillful management of Provost Marshal-General Crowder. It will prove to the country that the selective draft plan for securing an Army is the fairest that could have been devised, distributing the burden of the war so far as man power is concerned equitably, evenly and justly among all young men of the country between 21 and 30. "It is not a conscript system, nor does it provide a conscript Army. On the contrary, every man drawn ought to feel honored, and, I believe, will feel honored, that he has been selected to serve his country."

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Despite the fact that officers and clerks of Provost Marshal-General Crowder's office worked all last night to complete the drawing that fixed the order of military liability of 10,000,000 registrants, the tally sheets had been compared and corrected before dark tonight and the master list was in the hands of the printer. Copies will be mailed to local exemption boards beginning not later than Tuesday and the summoning of the first draft of 637,000 men can begin. General Crowder tonight issued the following statement: "The drawing is complete and has been apparently successful. The official tally sheets have been compared, sent to the printer and the proof is being received. Final copies will be ready for distribution not later than Tuesday. "Such additional data as may be ordered by the President will be filled by calling men in the order of this established priority. In raising state contingents the race is to be the swiftest. "I cannot let this opportunity pass without advising the very great value of the assistance which has been so earnestly and efficiently rendered by the press. "Without the systematic campaign of public information that prepared the country for the registration, the enrollment of 10,000,000 men on June 5 would have been impossible. The generous support of the newspapers throughout the period since registration day is appreciated and only the most thorough efficiency could have placed upon the streets, within a few hours after the first number was drawn, lists for each registration district, showing the names of the persons who would be summoned for examination on the first call of the local boards."

Regulations Made Public. General Crowder also made public the text of the regulations for the application which will accompany the master lists. The only new feature shown is the plan for handling cards that are found to have duplicate numbers, or are otherwise confused, and also of dealing with those received July 10, when the local boards closed their lists to begin numbering. By the plan worked out these additional cards will receive an order of their own by lot, and then will be added to the lists of the districts from which they come, and be affected by the drawing process. Cards that have been received and numbered before the board lists were closed. Where several cards bear the same serial number, one will be drawn from the group and retain the duplicated number, while the others will be regarded as unnumbered, and the process of adding them to the lists be followed. District Boards Appointed. Another step accomplished during the day was the appointment of the district boards of 32 of the states, and announcement of the names of the five men who will compose each of them. Some states have six or eight boards to ease the task. Federal judicial districts, the areas used for geographical distribution of the boards, are divided into two or three sections for that purpose, and a separate board named for each. These district boards will have no function until the local boards in their territory have begun to visit the men found fitted for military duty physically and not burdened with dependents. The higher boards are courts of appeal, either for the individual or for the Government, against the findings of the local board. Missing Number Is Found. The question of industrial exemptions has been turned over to these district boards. They will be sole judges of any registered man's field of great service to the Nation, whether in the Army or in the munitions factory, business house or other civilian occupation in which he is engaged. The first purpose today in checking the tally sheets was to discover one missing number. A blank capsule was found in the drawings. At the time a notation was placed on the tally sheets showing that the blank had come up No. 19,004. The drawing was carried through, however, without regard to the blank, the next number announced being placed as No. 19,004. It appeared more likely that an empty capsule had been placed in the jar inadvertently than that a number slip had been lost. One of Numbers Changed. When number 19,004 had been drawn, however, the empty capsule was all that remained in the jar, and it was known that one slip had not been placed in the drawing. Today's checking showed the missing number to be 4664 in the serial lists of registrants. That number will be placed as No. 19,004 in the liability lists on the official records, and all numbers drawn after that will be moved down one point, so that the present last number, 3217, now posted as No. 19,499, will become No. 19,500, completing the drawing. There will be also other minor corrections to make. Until the official list is published, however, no definite statement of the probable number of revisions can be made. Tally Sheets Carefully Kept. Indications are that it will be very small and that the tally sheets were kept so carefully that a practically perfect result was obtained immediately on the discovery of the missing number. Registrants will not be advised officially to appear for examination before local boards until the master list of the drawing has reached the local boards. The names of those to come forward will then be posted and any man who fails to appear when notified will be promptly hunted down and the penalties imposed for attempted evasion exacted. Word of the registration in Porto Rico came today from the Governor, who reported that it would far exceed estimates, 104,550 men having registered when the count was made and additional cards expedited by mail will bring the final figure perhaps to 110,000. Registration in Alaska is proceeding slowly and the total may not be available for some time. MEN DRAFTED RUSH TO ENLIST Walla Walla Battery Open Until Notification Is Official. WALLA WALLA, Wash., July 21.—(Special.)—Major Paul H. Weyrauch announced last night after a telephone conversation with Adjutant General Thompson, that recruiting will be held open for the field artillery battery being organized here. It is expected that the young men whose numbers were drawn yesterday will make a rush to join the Walla Walla battery. In fact more than a dozen either joined yesterday or said they would today. The officers hold that until the young men drawn are officially notified they can still pick any branch of the service they desire. Major Weyrauch will go to Spokane tonight to organize a battery there. Lincoln Thinks Quota Is In. NEWPORT, Or., July 21.—(Special.)—Citizens of this county are wondering who is responsible for the insufficient credit allowed for recruits from among its young men. Only a credit of 11 is allowed for the entire county, leaving 23 to be drawn from those registering. The little town of Waldport alone furnished 11 recruits, Newport 6, Toledo 6, Siletz 5, Rose Lodge 1, Otis 5, with an additional 6 or 8 from scattering precincts, making more than 40 Lincoln County boys already in the service, six more than its quota.

SOCIETY GIRL THRILLED BY AIRMEN'S FEATS.

Miss Flur Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, was intensely interested in the daring stunts of the airmen who took part in a ball game played by Army and Navy aviators at Peacock Point, the Summer home of Henry P. Davison, for the benefit of the Red Cross. "Before the game, as the airmen arrived at the Point, they circled around the place in single file, making a most unusual sight; several of the flyers then made spectacular flights, performing every daring stunt known in the category of thrillers. "Mr. Davison, now head of the war council of the Red Cross, generously lent his Summer home to the cause. About $5000 was realized by the event.

NAVY ASKS $137,366,177 ESTIMATES MADE FOR SUPPLIES AND YARD IMPROVEMENTS. Amounts Cannot Be Explained in Letter of Transmittal, for Obvious Reasons, Congress Advised. WASHINGTON, July 21.—Secretary Daniels today submitted to the House estimates aggregating $137,366,177 for war needs of the Navy, including ammunition, ordnance supplies, improvements of yards and docks, clothing and enlargement of the Navy-yard and gun factory here. Secretary Daniels explained that these and other estimates recently submitted are "imperatively necessary for the public service, but for obvious reasons cannot be explained in letters of transmittal. The largest estimate is $105,566,177 for "the naval establishment." This included $12,446,000 for ordnance and outfit for vessels; $25,000,000 for ammunition; $22,900,000 for batteries and outfits for vessels; $30,000,000 for reserve and miscellaneous ordnance supplies, and $2,660,000 for clothing for marine corps. A separate appropriation of $23,400,000 for yards and docks is asked. For extending and equipping the machine plant at the naval gun factory and for improvements of the Washington Navy-yard $2,500,000 and $5,000,000, respectively, are asked. Dishonorable Discharge Ordered. OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, July 21.—Private Walter A. Birch, Company M, Forty-fourth Infantry, Vancouver Barracks, is ordered discharged for fraudulent enlistment.

FOOD CONTROL BILL PROVIDES 'SUCH PIE'

Senate Rejects House Plan of Civil Service Requirements for Employees.

$2,500,000 IS INVOLVED

Senator Chamberlain Upholds Plan to Provide Places for Democrats, Holding That Civil Service Is Impracticable Now.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, July 21.—Two million five hundred thousand dollars' worth of jobs were placed on the Democratic pie counter by the United States Senate when it voted, 38 to 24, to strike from the food conservation bill a provision inserted by the House requiring that all salaried employees of the food control office or bureau should be appointed through the civil service. This was the largest morsel of patronage that has been dangled before the eyes of hungry Democrats in many a day and the temptation was too great to be resisted. As it is clearly understood that this patronage is to be parceled out to "deserving Democrats," it was not surprising that 23 of the 38 Senators who voted for the spoils system were Democrats and that only one Democrat, Reed, of Missouri, voted against the elimination of the House amendment. Chamberlain Favors Spoils. Thus it appears that Senator Chamberlain, a strong advocate of civil service when President Wilson was placing postmasters in the classified service, turned up in favor of the spoils system when it came to making provision for $2,500,000 worth of food control jobs. He went further, and, having charge of the food bill, actively opposed the House provision and championed the Senate amendment doing away with the civil service requirement. The senior Oregon Senator objected to the civil service requirement in the first place because he said the food control offices were only temporary and the House provision would place them permanently on the Government payroll, something the law does not provide, for civil service employees have often been dropped when their services were no longer required. But going further, Senator Chamberlain said: "There are not enough men who have stood the examination and are now on the classified register to fill the requirements of the law. The Civil Service Commission has all the machinery necessary to hold new examinations on a day's notice and could provide them faster than the food controller could put them to work."

Civil Service Value Questioned. Senator Smoot pointed out that there are large numbers of both men and women on the civil service register who have passed the civil service examination and are eligible to appointment. To pass them by and fill the food control office with "deserving Democrats" was, he argued, would be a gross injustice. But Senator Chamberlain was obdurate and took a decidedly advanced stand when he stated: "I feel that it would do very much harm to repeal the whole civil service act, because it does not work with justice and equity among those who are in the employ of the Government." Senator McNary, of Oregon; Senator Borah, of Idaho; and Senator Jones, of Washington, voted to place the food control positions under civil service. After the vote had been taken Senator Penrose, who had been a factious critic of the Senate amendment, went on record as predicting that "before the session closes the Congress will convert these places into the civil service that have been filled by Democrats."

TRACTOR MERGER IS MADE Minneapolis and St. Louis Implement Firms Unite. Of interest to local implement men is the merger of the Bull Tractor Company, of Minneapolis, with the Whitman Agricultural Company, of St. Louis, and the selection of the latter city as the future home of the tremendous organization thus formed. Announcement of the merger was made yesterday. The new organization will be known as the Whitman Bull Tractor Company, with an authorized capitalization of $1,500,000. The tractor industry the Bull Tractor Company occupies the unique position of having more of its tractors sold and in operation on American farms than any other company. Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap Soap should be used very carefully if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mildest coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get mildest coconut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Adv.
