

Mrs. J. W. Weinberg of Springfield, Ill. Who Passed the Summer in Portland. — DUNNELL.

(Continued from Page 1.) Honor guest at several affairs given by Mrs. Russ J. Dudley (Mabel Baker). In New York she was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Ark Van Buren (Dorothy Bernard). Both women will be remembered as former members of the old Baker stock company.

An attractive bride of last night was Miss Lucille Stone, whose marriage to Wilbur R. Wilmot was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stone, Oswego. Several guests from Portland attended. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. F. Coleman, the bridal party standing beneath an arch of greenery and sweet peas. The rooms were beautifully decorated in varying shades of these blossoms and presented a charming appearance. The bride wore white, and the groom was in a tuxedo and a white waistcoat. Her veil was of tulle held in place by orange blossoms.

Miss Mary Irving, maid of honor, was pretty in yellow organdie made over silk. She carried a quaint, stately basket of sweet peas, the basket topped an ivory-tinted standard. Miss Leah Stone, bridesmaid, was attired in lavender organdie and carried a basket of white and lavender sweet peas. After the ceremony there was a bridal supper and Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot left later for a trip to the beaches. The bride was the recipient of a large number of lovely gifts from friends and relatives. The couple will reside on the ranch owned by Mr. Wilmot.

Mrs. Stone, mother of the bride, who assisted at the informal reception after the ceremony, was attractively gowned in a changeable satin in shades of black, trimmed with handsome lace. Mrs. Wilmot, mother of the bridegroom, wore a becoming gown of gray taffeta, trimmed with fillet lace. Miss Ruth Schmuclik sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Clara Meyer presided at the wedding march.

Recent social events for the bride were showers given by Misses Rose and Mary Irving, Mrs. Wilmot and Mrs. G. R. Stephenson.

Mrs. J. W. Weinberg, of Springfield, Ill., was a charming visitor in Portland all this summer. She was entertained at several luncheons and teas. Mrs. Weinberg was the guest of her sister, Mrs. D. L. Avery, of 1145 Missouri avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand E. Reed motored to Shiphead Springs last weekend for a brief visit. Mr. and Mrs. Reed gave one of the interesting dinners of the season when they entertained recently for Mayor Baker. The occasion was the 20th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Reed and the birthday of Mr. Baker. The elaborate dinner was served at the Reed residence in Laurelhurst and after the repast the company of friends repaired to Pantages Theater, where they enjoyed the performance and then went to the Multnomah Hotel, where a special table was reserved in the Arcadian gardens. Supper and dancing were the features that closed the delightful evening. The table was centered with a large basket of sweet peas artistically arranged and an immense birthday cake was placed in a position of honor.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bratton, Dr. and Mrs. George Parrish, Mr. and Mrs. William Lord, Mrs. A. M. Lawrence and Dr. D. A. Fellows.
