

POULTRY SHOW TO BE ON BIG SCALE

Competitive Exhibits Canceled, Assuring Portland Best Entry List on Record.

NATIONAL CLUB WILL MEET

Auditorium Engaged, Permitting of Proper Display of Pet, Stock. Demonstrations to be Given. Dates are December 3 to 5.

With the selection of the Public Auditorium as the place for holding the 1917 poultry show, the Oregon Poultry & Pet Stock Association has started a campaign to make it the biggest event of any so far attempted in Portland.

Since starting the campaign the association has caused Seattle to give up its annual show and Oakland probably will abandon its, which will concentrate the attractions from these exhibits at the Portland show, making it the largest exhibit this year in the entire West.

Although the premium list has not yet been completed, in the various cities, dates, etc., are being received from all over the United States, indicating that owners of fancy poultry and pet stock of all varieties are realizing the importance of the event here.

Chickens, ducks, turkeys, geese, calves and plums of all kinds will be entered. The association will arrange a premium list comprising cash prizes aggregating $1500, the money being provided by the state and other clubs to encourage the poultry industry.

The concentration on Portland for this year's show has caused the Buff Lehigh Club of America to arrange for its annual meeting here. Word has been received that members of the club will enter about 100 birds from various parts of the country.

Ever since the last poultry show, which was the eighth held in Portland, the exhibitors have been planning on the 1917 show in the Public Auditorium, where exhibition space will be such that a larger show than ever can be staged. It is said the conditions at the new building will be such as to encourage not only entries but a good attendance.

The show will feature this year such subjects as the proper housing of chickens, new methods of feeding, watering and caring for chickens so as to get the best commercial results, and the improved methods of raising and caring for pet stock of other types. Directors of the association are at work now on the annual premium list, which they hope to make the most attractive so far put out. They expect to have the list ready for distribution within a few days.

PORTLAND MEN INVENTORS

Safety Device for Heating Appliance Is Patented.

An invention which promises to lessen the danger of fire from overheated electric irons and all electrical cooking contrivances has recently been patented by William C. Newell, 651 Clark street, and L. C. Phillips, 456 East Fourteenth street North.

The contrivance is an automatic heat cutout and can be attached to any kind of electric-heating apparatus. When the heat reaches a set temperature the little instrument automatically shuts off the electric current. The cutout is not limited to electrical heating alone, but it is planned to manufacture the same article, only on a larger scale, for boilers, heating plants, dynamos and, in fact, everywhere in which heat is used. It is claimed by the inventor that the water tank as to shut off the gas, or open heat, when the water in the tank reaches the temperature desired. All that is necessary to get the heat desired is to make a slight change in the setting of the cutout.

COUNTY AGENT IS POET

R. G. Werner, Clackamas Apptee, Writes Food Verse.

OREGON CITY, Or., Sept. 22.—(Special.)—Clackamas County's new county agent, R. G. Werner, working here under the direction of the State Agricultural College and the Federal Government, is something of a poet. He came here this week from Portland, where he has been deputy county agent of Multnomah County, and the unusual war conditions relative to food conservation inspired him to dash off the following lines:

"We've substituted corn for wheat And palid cottage cheese for meat; With nibbly, nutty, nutty, nutty, We chew the dull potato peel. We've tasted every new disguise For making rice a glad surprise, And never throw a thing away, But mingle all in queer ways."
