BY JAMES J. RICHARDSON. The big world series game must have unnerved the Portland and Salt Lake players yesterday, because they hit and "kicked" their way through one 11-inning game, which the Bees won 7 to 5, and tied in the second contest, which was called by agreement at the end of the seventh inning, score 3 to 3. Kenneth Penner started the first game for the Mackmen and was breez-ing along with a three-run lead until the ninth inning loomed upon the hori-zon, when Penner "blew" for a few minutes and the Bees put over three runs, which tied up the game and sent runs, which tied up the game and sent it into the lith frame, when they "iced" the battle with two tallies which the Beavers could not overcome.

Leverenz started for the Bees in the opening game of the double bill, but Hughes relieved him in the ninth after Gislason batted for Leverenz. The Beavers failed to put over the required runs and Long Tom Hughes gets credit for the victory. for the victory.

Leverenz Is Hit Early."

The Beavers landed on Leverenz in the first inning for two runs. With two down, Wille was hit by Leverenz and went to second when the Bee hurler walked Farmer. Griggs singled, scor-ing Wille and putting Farmer on third. On an attempted double steal, Farmer scored when Byler dropped Crandall's throw.

Hollocher scored the third tally when he beat out a hit to Crandall and went to second on Crandall's wild heave to fitst, took third on Wille's sacrifice and scored on Farmer's single to right. Hollocher scored again in the seventh on a walk, stole second, took third on a wild pitch and stole home while the Bees were napping. The Beavers put ever their last tally in the eighth when Farmer doubled, stole third and scored on Rodgers' Texas leaguer back of second.

The Bees made two in the third when Leverenz was safe on Penner's error, took second when Tobin beat out a hit to Griggs, reached third on Rath's sac-rifice and scored along with Tobin when Sheeley singled through short. Penner held the Bees safe until the fatal ninth, held the Bees safe until the fatal ninth, when Bernhard's men tied the game up.
Lee misjudged Quinlan's fly in the ninth and it went for three bases. Hannah, batting for Byler, walked. Bernhard sent Gislason in to hit for Leverenz and he singled to right, scoring Quinlan. Tobin beat out a hit to Siglin, filling the bases. Rath filed to Lee, who held the runners on the bag. Sheeley went out, Siglin to Griggs, Hannah scoring. Buddy Ryan was walked purposely, filling the bases. Penner Walked Crandall, forcing in the tieling run.

Rath's single to right. Sheeley grounded to Siglin, who threw to Rodgers in an endeavor to start a double play, but the Beaver captain dropped the ball, Tobin scoring. Ryan sacrificed, Siglin to Griggs, Rath taking third. Ryan squeezed Rath home when be dumped the ball in front of the plate.

The second game was a see-saw af-The second game was a see-saw affair, with Joe Dalley starting for the Beavers. McCredie yanked him in the second inning after Salt Lake scored three runs. Gardner replaced him. Tom Hughes worked the second game for the Bees and managed to hold the Beavers safe, although they near upset the Salt Lake boat a number of times. Griggs knocked the ball into the left field bleachers in the fourth inning for a home run.

Both teams will play a double-header this afternoon, it being the last game of the 1917 season on the Vaughn-boys. Just who McCredie will select to tame the Bees this afternoon is a question, although he might start Brenton and Houck. If he does we might "collect."

Griggs caught one of Hughes' shoots on the end of his bat in the fourth inning of the second game and it went salling into the left field bleachers for a home run.

Charlie Hollocher went on a rampage in the seventh hining of the first game, when he walked, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and stole home while the Bees "buzzed" themselves to sieep.

"Mawrice" Rath tried to put one over in the sixth inning of the second game. Farmer, a fast man on the bags, walked. Griggs popped a fly to Rath who, "accidentally on purpose," caught the ball and dropped it quickly and tried to force Farmer at second, but Umpire Casey was "hep" and the sag didn't work. It showed Rath had his "thinker" working.

In the recent major league draft Portland lost its star hurler, Byron Houck, who will report at St. Louis next Spring for a trial with the St. Liouis American League club.

Charlie Hollocher, the greatest little shortstop the Coast League ever laid eyes on, was sold outright to the Chicago Cubs for a price that run well into five figures. Kenneth Penner, who has borne his share of Portland's pitching duels, was recalled by the Cleveland Americans and will report to Manager Lee Fohl next Spring. Kenneth Williams was given to the goes without saying. Hollocher's Chance Best.

Hollocher's Chance Best.

Charlie Hollocher, who will report to the Chicago Nationtle, is probably the most-talked-of young ball player in the Pacific Coast League today and his chances of sticking in the majors is much greater than any of the four Beavers who go up.

Hollocher was drafted by the Portland club from Keokuk, of the Central Association, in 1915, His fielding record for the season of 1915 was 932. He played in 124 games and handled 593 chances and erred 43 times. He hit 1229, After a brief trial with the Beavers in 1916 Manager McCredie farmed him to the Rock Island Club, of the 121. him to the Rock Island Club, of the Indiana-Illinois-Iowa League, where 23-19 Hollocher led the shortstops in fielding 7-11 and hit .289. He handled 507 chances 15-22 and hit .288. He handled 507 chances in 89 games for an average of .960.
Since his return to the Pacific Coast Lengue he has developed into a wonderful ball player. He can hit left-handers as well as right and is liable to hit to any part of the field. When it comes to fielding he is the equal of Dave Bancroft, Roger Peckinpaugh. Ivan Olson and for that matter any of twisters. Houck formerly was with the Philadelphia Americans and the Brooklyn Feds until the latter league hit the rocks in 1915, when he returned to the Coast and signed with Portland. Kenneth Penner was never the property of the Portland club, having been farmed by Cleveland for experience. His work with the Beavers this year has been commendable and he has just started to show his real form. Williams Pays Debt.

Williams will have his second trial the majors when he reports to the St. Louis Browns. Williams was with Cincinnati in 1916, being drafted from Spokane. He had a short stay with the Reds and was returned to Spokane, where he played in $4 games, hitting 255 and fielding 959. When the Northwest League finished its 1915 season he was sold to the Portland club, where e finished the season, hitting 285. When the Portland club found itself unable to meet its obligation of $1500 which it owed the St. Louis Americans for "Babe" Borton, the McCredies suggested they take Williams instead and the deal was closed.
