

WOUNDED GIVEN AID

Three Per Cent Service Committee Organized.

COMFORT PACKS COMPLETE

Organization Has Sponsorship of Prominent Financiers and Society Men and Women of New York.

"Not what we give, but what we share," is the effective slogan adopted by the three per cent service committee, an auxiliary of the National Surgical Dressings Committee of America and the Trench Comfort Packet Committee for the United States and the Allies.

Headquarters of this committee are in New York and the organization has the sponsorship of prominent financiers and society men and women of New York. They co-operate with the American Red Cross and send out little cardboard boxes to hold the "three pennies" out of every dollar that one spends. If anyone who desires to send help will send $1 or more to the three per cent service committee, 239 Fifth Avenue, New York, he will be doing an enormous amount of good, with little self-sacrifice. That dollar will buy a comfort packet for the "three pennies" in the field or a sailor on the sea or 20 bandages or 200 gauze dressings for some poor wounded lad at the front. To be more explicit, the dollar will buy a comfort packet containing: One pair socks, candle, envelopes, writing paper, pencil, twine, needles and thread, safety pins and buttons, pipe or safety razor, soap, wrapped in a bandanna handkerchief, or surgical dressings as follows: Body binder, cup cover, pair bed socks, fracture pillow, slings, cutting flannel binder, six tampons, six gauze compresses, 14 yards bandages, or other dressings to the same value.

Printed on the little boxes is this little rhyme:
For every little dollar
You spend on clothes and fun
Just three little pennies
For the boy behind the gun,
Three little pennies
Won't mean so much to you
But mean in comfort to
Our boys and allies too.
When you have saved 100 pennies,
Send them to the committee and you will receive a 3 per cent service bond, which also enrolls you as a member of the committee. Ten bonds entitle the owner to an honor decoration for loyal service in the home front line.
Everyone should make this voluntary tax on comforts for the benefit of the fighting men who are dearer to someone than any luxury in the world.

LYCEUM COURSE TO START

Hetty Jane Dunaway Company Opening Number Thursday.

The Portland Lyceum course will start its opening number Thursday night at the Auditorium. The Hetty Jane Dunaway Company has been selected as the initial attraction in the charming "Little Play," "Red Rambler." This is a "symbol play" drama in four acts especially written and arranged for the company. Miss Dunaway is probably the foremost interpreter of plays upon the Lyceum platform. She achieved distinction a few years ago in her notable presentation of "The Lady of the Decoration."

The second number of the course will be the concert appearance of Henri Scott, bass singer of the Metropolitan Opera Company, on November 10. Mr. Scott, who is well known in Portland musical circles, is making a short tour before the opening of the opera season in New York.

Other numbers to be presented are Francis Neilson, author and former member of Parliament, November 22; Zedeler Symphonic Quintet, December 7; Leonid Samoloff, the great Russian tenor, and assisting artists, December 14; Chief Campesano, Chief of the Aurocano Indians of Chile, February 15; Dr. Arthur Wainwright Evans, nephew of David Lloyd George, Welsh orator and humorist, February 23; Hubbard Gottlieb Company, in Operatic, February 27; James A. Burns, president Omnia Institute, March 2, and the Zoellner String Quartet, March 26. Most of the attractions will be given in the Auditorium, the remainder in the Armory.

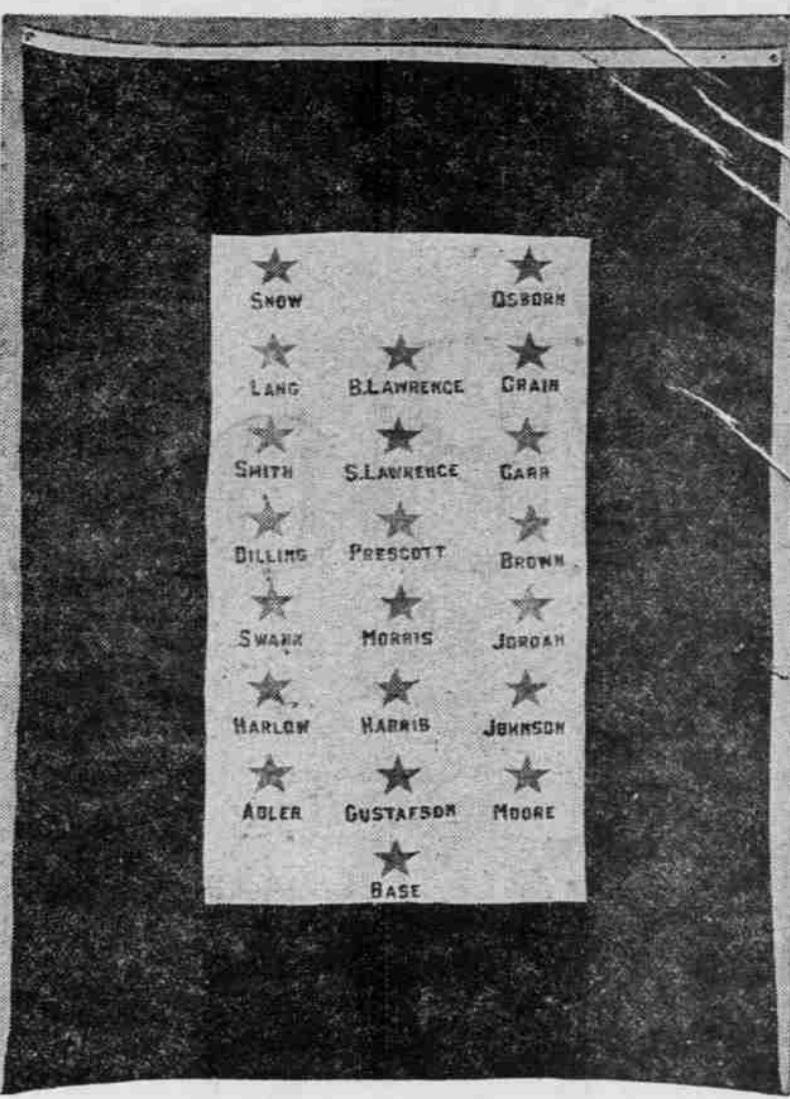

Public Library Notes.

"CAMOUFLAGED" under the title, "My Little Farm," by "Pat," pseudonym, is a book on the Irish problem, novel in treatment and full of interest. The unknown author confesses to "having passed" severe examinations, written successful books, edited two successful newspapers, lived the life of London, died the death of Ireland and come to life again on the first day, but he adds, "I have done no work, lived no life and filled no place demanding of me so much breadth of knowledge, elasticity of judgment and variety of action as the conduct of a once wretched little farm in the West of Ireland."

The writer says "the great failure of the official program for improving Ireland is that the Agricultural Department may teach agriculture, but no industrial influence in existence among us is permitted to penetrate the agrarian mind for such teaching. It is like a university condemned to accept its students from the primary school, and deprived even of the right to prepare them for matriculation." He says, on seeing the condition of the people in Ireland: "I attacked the agricultural problem in my own way, clear outside all factions, by working a farm scientifically for the profit, strictly conditioned by the necessities of economic production, for I must make a profit or stop."

The author tells in three main sections: (1) How the land can be developed; (2) how the value of the produce can be further increased in consumption; and (3) a collection of somewhat various matters throwing further light on the other two.

ROYLE IN WAR ZONE

Aviator, Once Detective, Ready to Battle Hun Planes.

A plane which bears in big purple letters, the legend above, "All of which means that Bill Royle, former city detective and partner of Detective Frank Snow, who is now in the American aviation corps, "where in France," will endeavor to have the mystic letters of the Portland Elk's lodge painted on his airplane.

In letters just received by Detective Snow from Mr. Royle, the latter tells of his eagerness to get up into the clouds.

Sea Trip Dull.
"I left New York on August 22 and we expect to arrive in England about September 15 or 16," writes Mr. Royle. "It is getting awfully monotonous on board here, although we are being treated fine and are having good weather. Things on board have been quiet and there is not very much excitement. We get in the danger zone tomorrow. There are 13 ships with us, including the convoy. Every day we have lifeboat drill. Needless to say, I am one of the crew. Boat No. 15, the last one off the ship. Whether I will wait for her to get away is a question."

Prisoners Work Farms.
In the second letter, Royle announces his safe arrival in France, where he is billeted in a small French village. "There is nothing here but women and children and a few wounded soldiers," he writes. "There is a lot of poverty here and many heartrending scenes. There is no complaint from the people, and nearly every woman works on the farms. There is a big German prison here and the prisoners work around the farms and depots and seem happy and well taken care of. Most of them like it better than the war."

A Lamp Without a Wick
A new safety gasoline lamp, which experts agree gives the most powerful home light in the world—better than gas or electricity—and a blessing to every home on farm or in small town, is the latest achievement of the Sunbrite Safety Lamp Co., 503 Factory Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. This remarkable lamp gives 300 candlepower at one cent a night. It has no wick and no chimney, and is absolutely safe. A child can carry it. It gives such universal satisfaction that they are sending it on Free Trial. They want one person in each locality to whom they can refer new customers. Take advantage of this offer. Agents wanted. SERBIAN MAKES APPEAL

J. B. MIHALJEVIC URGING PURCHASES OF LIBERTY BONDS.

Countrymen informed it is their duty to give selves or cash to help win war against Kaiser.

"America is fighting our battle for us. In making the world safe for democracy it is making Serbia's aged dream come true; and that is why I am pleading with those of us who have democratic privilege but their Kaiser, while those who cannot fight should give aid to their adopted country by giving bountiful subscriptions to the Liberty loan."

This is the message which is being brought to Portland's colony of Southern Slavic people by J. B. Mihaljevic, a veteran of the Balkan war, who is now representing the Southern Slavic National Council, with headquarters at Washington, D. C.

During his brief stay in Portland Mr. Mihaljevic is already interesting himself in the Liberty loan, and he said yesterday that when Portland's quota is completed it will be shown that a large number of his people have made a patriotic response.

"I am telling our people just how our fellow countrymen across the waters are suffering because of this brutal war forced upon us by the Kaiser," he said, "and I am making them understand that it is not only their duty to give either themselves or their money in this great world war."

Mihaljevic will speak at Alfisky Hall at 7 o'clock tonight, and all Southern Slavs are urged to attend. He will give a graphic description of conditions as they now exist in Serbia and her sister states, and the meeting will close with an appeal for the Portland Slavs to offer whatever aid which lies within their power.
