THE task of adhering to the rules and regulations of the food conservation committee is taxing the ingenuity of the hostesses of the day. Food conservation is the chief topic of conversation at all social functions and to serve refreshments at teas and card parties and still carry out the suggestions of Mr. Hoover and his committee to eliminate the "fourth meal" is giving the busy housewife or hostess a great deal of additional work. War bread and butter, simple cookies or cakes, tea and coffee is about all the average hostess prepares for her afternoon functions. Sometimes the brown bread sandwich has a simple filling of cheese, sugar, prunes and nut combinations, but never a bit of meat starchy edible or anything that will deprive the Army men of necessary nourishment and food.

Portland folk are planning to go to Del Monte to join many of their Southern relatives and friends in attending the races and games from Saturday, October 27, to November 3. The beneficiary of the races will be the fund for "Christmas comforts for our boys in France." There will be a gala programme sufficient to appeal to the most fastidious. It will include games in the mornings by the week golf handicap tournament, the Autumn trapshooting handicap and racing for the special matches of the Del Monte Polo Club. The affair is being conducted under the auspices of the Monterey Jockey Club, which is also in charge of the sale of boxes and tick-daughter, Miss Kathryn, were hosts Thursday afternoon honoring their house guests, Mrs. H. M. A. Miller and daughter, Miss Flora, of San Francisco. Mrs. Miller's son, C. A. Miller, is head of the liberty bond campaign in Portland and the visitors stopped off in this city to see him. They are the house guests of Mrs. Hoyt and Miss Hoyt and are being charmingly entertained.

At Thursday's tea a number of well-known matrons of the younger set and popular maids called to greet the visitors. The Hoyt residence was effectively decked with Autumnal flowers and foliage and the hostesses were assisted in the drawing-room by Mrs. Walter P. Eversley, Miss Ella Hirsch, Mrs. Spencer Biddle and Miss V. Ona Guthrie, all of whom presided at the daintily appointed tea table. Several of the debutants sat at the table in serving and about the drawing-room.

Mrs. Miller and Miss Miller will leave shortly for their home in the South.

Mr. and Mrs. John K. Kollock and little daughter Mary while preparing to occupy their own residence again on Council Crest Drive, are visiting at the residence of Mr. Kollock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Kollock, at 625 Broadway East. They will be at home in their own residence after November 1.

Mrs. Russell B. Caswell just returned from New York whither she accompanied her daughter, Miss Nadine Caswell, who entered Briardell School.

New York is the mecca for a number of Portland folk at the present time, some of whom plan to remain for the Winter, others for brief visits, and still others spending a few weeks in the metropolis before entering college and school. Mrs. Otto Breyman and sister, Mrs. Frederick Moore, accompanied the former's daughter, Miss Charlotte, who is now in Rosemary School. Mrs. Breyman and Mrs. Moore are at the Hillmore.

The Misses Virginia Menefee and Elizabeth Huber spent a few weeks in New York chaperoned by Mrs. Guy Menefee Standifer, Miss Menefee to return to Oakmead, and Miss Huber to enter Miss Huber's school.

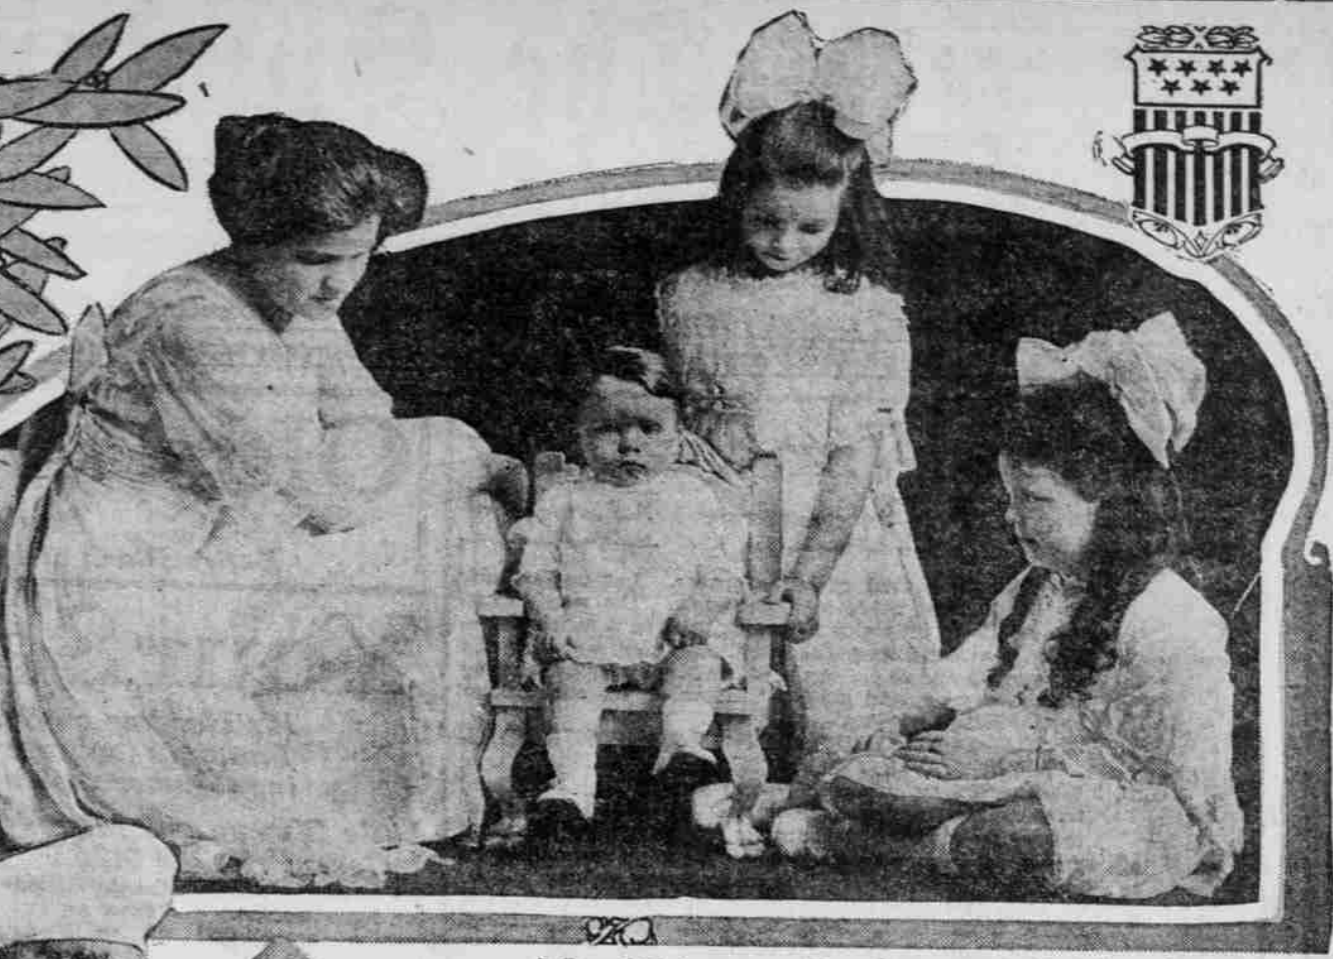

Mrs. Henry Haussman and daughter, Miss Marjorie, have leased an apartment at the Radford Chambers, West Fourth street, for the Winter. Miss Haussman will continue her vocal studies and is considering several flattering offers to go upon the stage.

Mrs. William S. Knox was called East on account of the illness of her mother, who makes her home in Detroit.

Dr. S. W. Schaefer, a prominent physician of Colorado Springs, has been a much feted visitor in Portland the past week. Among the prominent folk who entertained in honor of the distinguished visitor were Mrs. J. J. Fenton, Miss Florence Wolfe and Mrs. Thomas Burns.

The charming and fascinating little Madame S. Akamatsu, wife of the Japanese Consul at Portland, was the motif for the informal tea presided over on Wednesday by Mrs. Wheelwright. Befitting the war times, and carrying out her policy established early in the season, the function was most informal and simple. A few of the prominent matrons of the city were asked to meet this attractive little matron. Garden flowers, effectively combined with autumnal foliage, were arranged about the rooms, and the dainty tea table was presided over by Mrs. Theodore B. Wilcox and Mrs. J. B. Montgomery.

One of the most delightful events of the week was the informal tea for which Mrs. Ralph W. Hoyt and her presided over by Miss Elizabeth Creadick Friday. Covers were placed for 14 of the younger folk, and the evening was passed dancing.

Mrs. Thomas Scott Brooks left Monday for her home in San Francisco. She was the guest of the Thomas Kerrs and the Peter Kerrs during her visit in Portland, and she was entertained extensively.

One of the interesting diversions of the latter part of the week was the initial ride of the Thursday Night Riding Class, which was held at the Portland Riding Academy. This class was formed last year and proved
