Chic Little Toque of Tan French Felt and Black Hatter's Plush, With Two-Winged Crown, Has Distinctive Air.

HUSSAR BONNET TOPS THEM ALL FOR FALL.

WEARING them higher does not necessarily mean the shoes or the skirts of milady. They are also building from the top. The chic little toque has grown in proportion for the Fall. This Hussar bonnet of tan French felt and black hatter's plush, most effectively combined here, "tops" them all not only in altitude, but in style.

WAR NURSES IN ENGLAND GAY, BUT WORK IS NO SINECURE

I should it refuse admission to a soldier or a sailor.
I hope I shall always be haunted by pleasant memories of my patients. I shall never forget the extraordinary rush of getting breakfast every morning there at the infirmary. As I said to my right-hand man, the big soldier, it was just like running a busy cafe, all but the tips. Trying to cater for four wards at once is something like performing in every ring in a four-ring circus. The three women's wards, of course, being taboo to the big soldier.
The civilian patients had eggs of their own, each egg had its owner's name on it and it surely needed a librarian to catalogue those eggs. Between us we matched the eggs to the lists of names and boiled each ward's separately, for fear of mixing them again.
The plates of thin bread and butter were cut and prepared earlier, and the thinner you cut it the better they liked it, and the more they ate. I cut it so thin that a slice of it would flutter down your throat like the petal of a rose. This because my knife was so beautifully sharpened ready for me every night by one, peradventure, more accustomed to sharpening bayonets ready to plunge into Germans.
Eggs Meet Mishaps.
Anyway he was a dab hand at sharpening my bread and butter knife. Sometimes we dropped an egg on its way to the pan of boiling water and then all the King's nurses and all the King's men couldn't pick Humpty-Dumpty up again. I always recovered from the shock in time to blame the Big Soldier and he was too polite to blame me for the accident. (One gets snappy and bad-tempered, I find, on night duty.) It was quite a load off our minds when the last scalding-hot teapot of tea was carried into its rightful ward. Then the Big Soldier boiled the eggs, fried the bacon or cooked the fish for the soldiers' ward. All this time he might have been comfortably tucked in his

Tired Nervous Mothers

A mother who is overworked, tired, nervous, irritable—on the verge of hysteria makes an unhappy home. The very thing she does not want to do.

Such a condition often develops a serious derangement of the feminine organs, causing irritability, despondency, sleepless nights and nervous prostration. At such times remember there is a tried and true remedy,

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

For forty years this famous Vegetable Medicine has been conquering the ills of women and the very best proof of this is such letters as these:

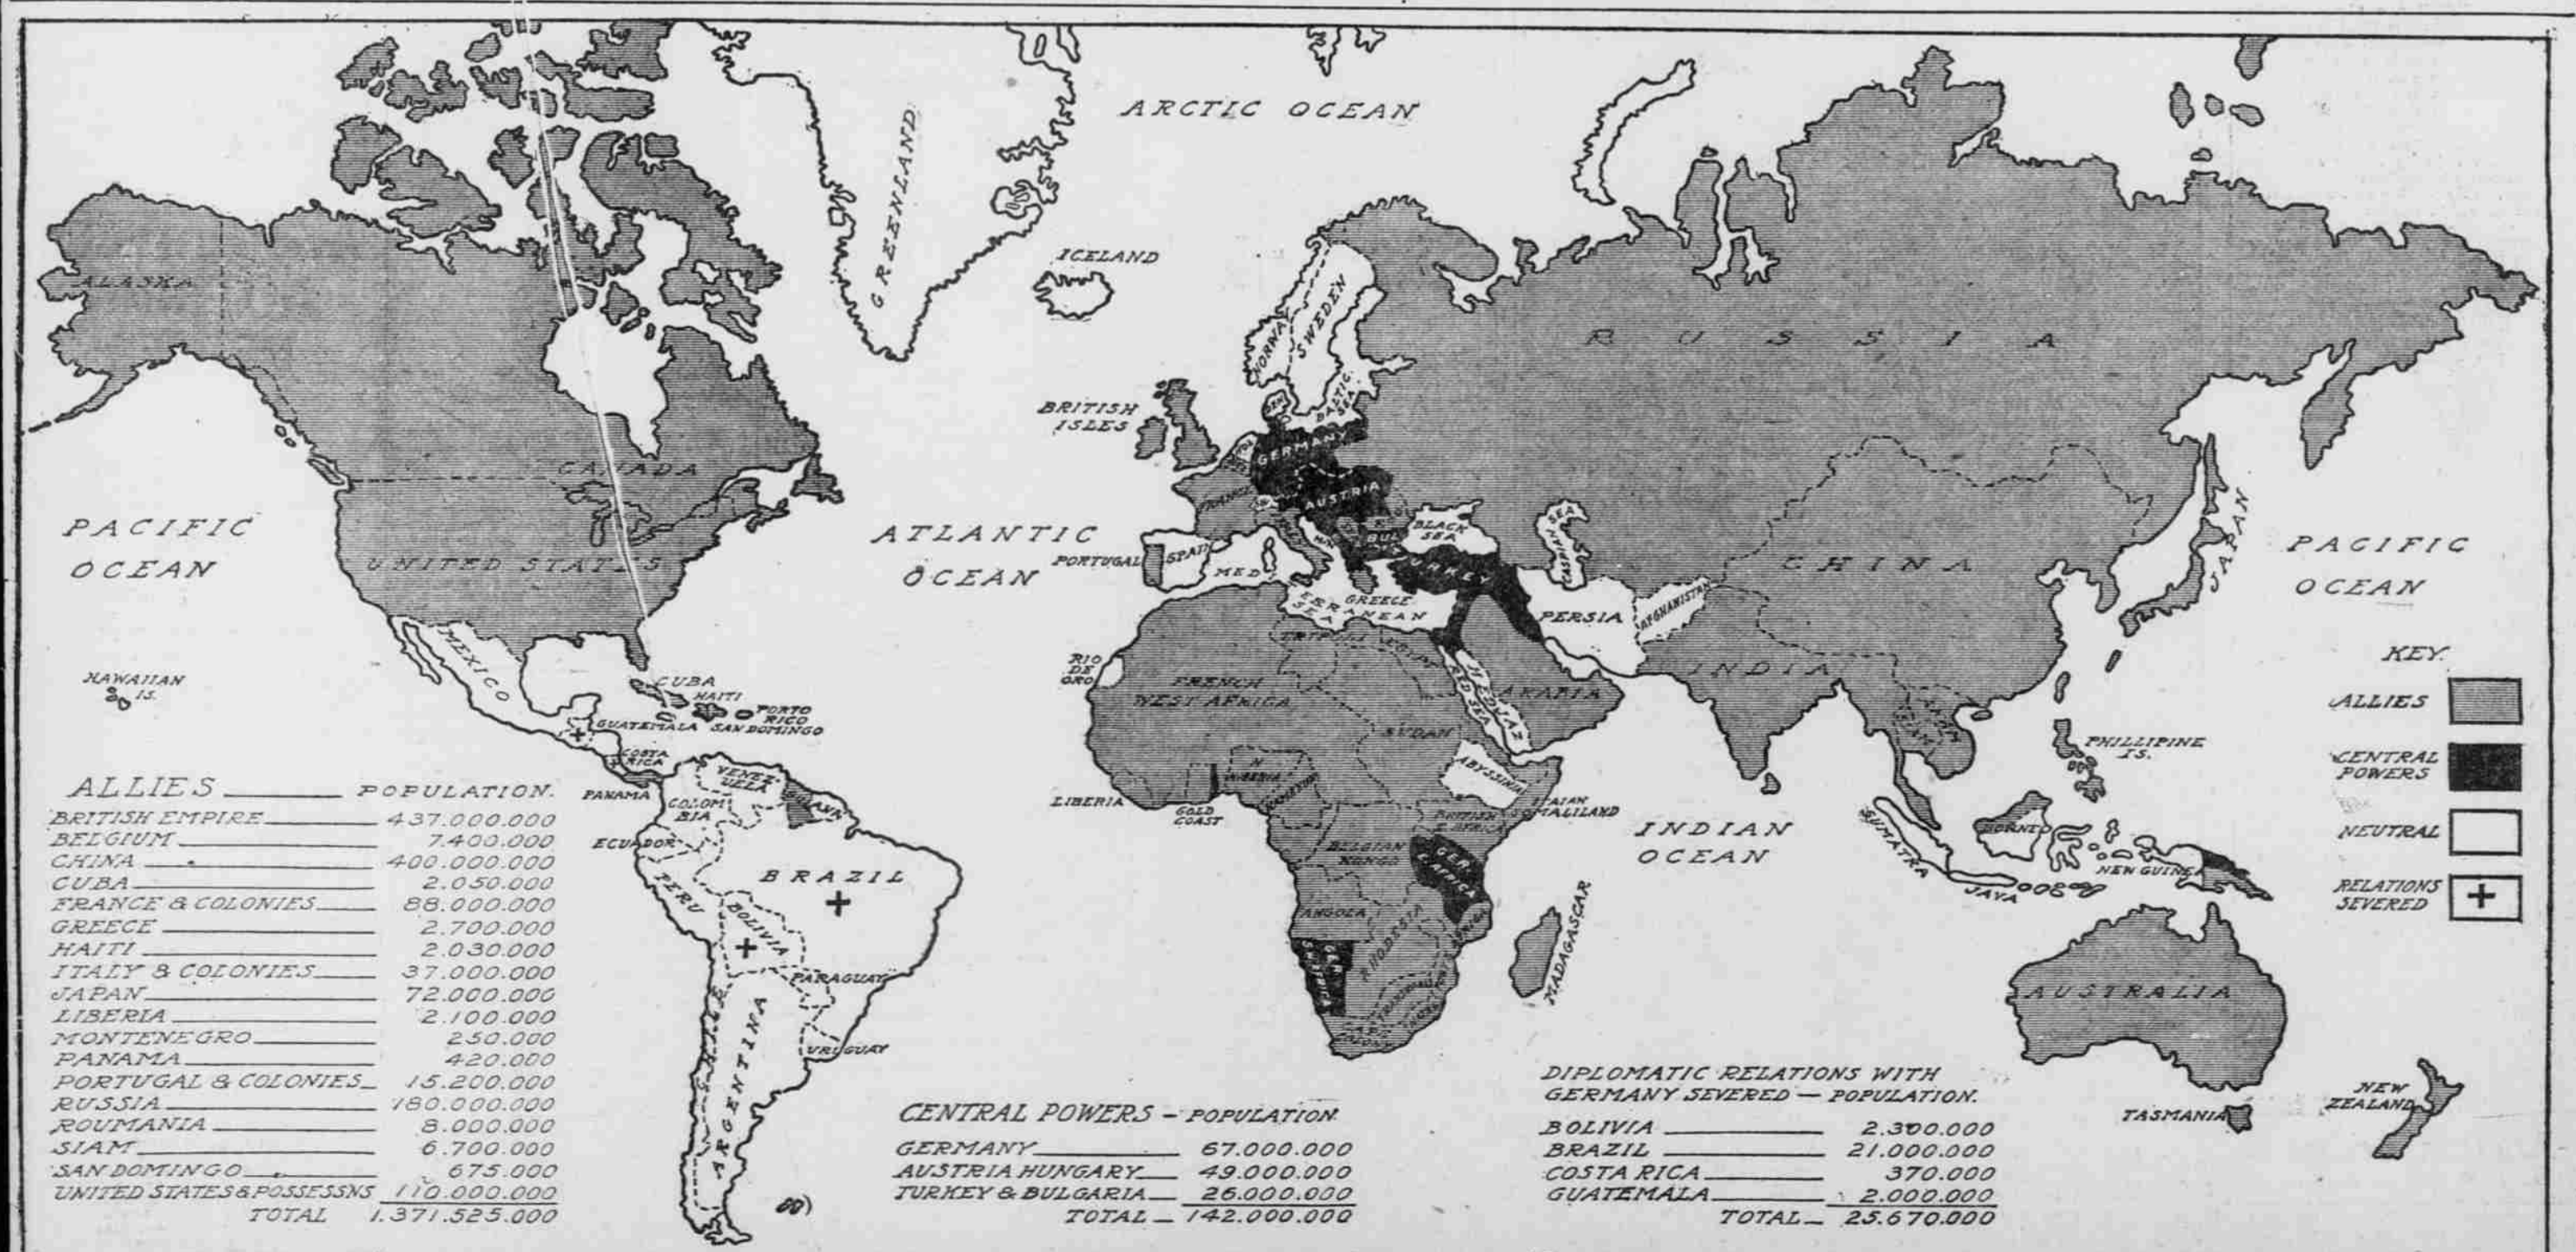

Northport, N.Y.—"I suffered from a female trouble and doctored for a time, using all kinds of treatments. The doctor said I would have nervous prostration. I was so nervous and had such bearing down feelings and headaches, and my housework kept me on my feet so much that I had to do something, and I was persuaded against my will to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I found the first bottle helped me and I continued its use so I am able to do all my work. A year ago I was miserable. I again bought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, taking it regularly, and I now consider myself a well woman. I have told lots of women about it. Some would rather pay a doctor, but some have tried it and found it helped them as I said it would."—Mrs. JOHN ALEXANDER, Northport, N.Y.

Denison, Texas.—"After my little girl was born two years ago I began suffering with female trouble and could hardly do my work. I was very nervous but just kept dragging on until last summer when I got where I could not do my work. I would have a chill every day and hot flashes and dizzy spells and my head would almost burst. I got where I was almost a walking skeleton and life was a burden to me until one day my husband's step-sister told my husband if he did not do something for me I would not last long and told him to get your medicine. So he got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and after taking the first three doses I began to improve. I continued its use, and have never had any female trouble since."—Mrs. G. O. LOWERY, 419 W. Monterey Street, Denison, Texas.

Bridgeton, N.J.—"I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for inflammation and other weaknesses. I was very irregular and would have terrible pains so that I could hardly take a step. Sometimes I would be so miserable that I could not sweep a room. I doctored part of the time but felt no change. I later took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and felt a change for the better after the second day. I took it until I was in a good healthy condition. I recommend the Pinkham remedies to all women as I have used them with good results."—Mrs. MILFORD T. CUMMINGS, 24 New St., Bridgeton, N.J.

For many years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health. Lydia E. MAP SHOWING AT A GLANCE HOW THE WORLD WAR INVOLVES NATIONS

The above map has been drawn by The Oregonian to show how the conflict which started July 28, 1914, has overcast the entire world and to what extent the nations involved have strength of population. It will be seen that the population strength of the countries arrayed against Germany and her allies is almost a billion and a half as compared to less than 150,000,000 for the central powers. By this map it will be seen at a glance that there is hardly a point of the compass not involved in one way or another with the great balance against Germany and her allies. The map is prepared from accurate information up to the date of its drafting.
